BRITAIN'S LABOR CABINET OUT

MOVIES REOPEN; WRIT PROTECTS NONUNION MEN

Theaters Guarded by Police.

A temporary injunction issued yesterday by Superior Judge Ross C. Hall ordering the reopening of all moving picture theaters closed Saturday night by police, and the theater owners announced that all negotiations for a settlement of the controversy with the operators' union were ended.

JUDGE ROSS C. HALL.

The injunction was directed against the city and specifically restrained the police from arresting the nonunion operators who were brought here last week from New York and who on Saturday were arrested because they had not obtained city licenses to act as moving picture machine operators.

The theaters resumed business in the afternoon and instead of having union operators they had police protection. A uniformed policeman was stationed at each of the theaters where labor trouble may be expected, with particular instructions to protect the operator and see that he is neither molested, hindered, nor arrested for not being licensed.

Hearings Set for Today.

The injunction, however, does not affect the arrests made Saturday night when movie patrons were turned out of the show houses as the operators, and in some instances the manager as well, were taken to police stations and held until they put up bonds. These operators will be given a hearing today before Municipal judges.

The temporary writ issued by Judge Hall is based on a petition which declared the ordinance compelling operators to secure licenses to be invalid and unconstitutional. This question will be brought up in a further hearing on the subject which will be held before Judge Hall, according to the attorneys. The issuance of the restraining order was at least a temporary victory for the theater owners in their clash with the union which brought about the locking out of the operators in more than 100 theaters which closed their doors for two weeks. The chief issue between the owners and the union is whether the owners are to be compelled to have two operators when it is claimed only one is needed.

Maloy Called Dictator.

The petition filed with Judge Hall asking the injunction declared that the theater owners had been bowing to the will of Thomas E. Maloy, business agent of the union, for many years due to threats of force and violence and were forced to accede to conditions of work and pay dictated by Maloy. It charged that C. K. Cregier, acting chief examiner of moving picture machine operators for the city, was under the complete control and domination of Maloy and that his appointment had been carrying out Maloy's orders.

The lockouts of Saturday night were on Cregier's orders, the bill set forth, and the theaters were prevented from giving their usual performances because the operators were put in cells instead of merely being given summonses to appear in court and answer the charge of violating the city ordinance.

Petition Recites Grievances.

The grievances of the theater owners in being compelled by Maloy to employ two operators where, they say, only one was needed, were recited in the complaint. Also the determination of the owners to break off relations with the union and change from "closed shop" to "open shop" conditions was stated. The men brought here to take the place of the locked out union operators are competent and qualified to be licensed, the petitioners aver, and they made application for licenses, but on one pretext or another Cregier failed to issue the licenses.

The injunction was granted without notice to the city or to the operators, and there was no opposition to its being issued. A copy of it was served immediately on Acting Commissioner Alcock, who [illegible] the order to the entire [illegible]. A copy was served on Cregier. Japan Turns 'Suspicious' Eye on Lindys

TOKIO, Aug. 24.—[Monday.]—(AP)—Rengo, semi-official Japanese news agency, said today "suspicions" had been aroused because of the course followed by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh along a certain portion of the Kurile island route in their much interrupted flight from Petropavlovsk, Kamchatka, to Nemuro, Japan.

Rengo said it understood that authorities who had been watching Lindbergh's progress down the Kurile islands contended the flyers had landed not only on prohibited lakes, but also on other waters not specified by the aviation bureau in the emergency descent permit which it issued at the request of the American embassy prior to Lindbergh's departure from Petropavlovsk.

KIDNAPERS HOLD BIG GAMBLER IN $250,000 PLOT

Jack Lynch Captive; Life Threatened.

John J. [Jack] Lynch, 50 years old, handbook syndicate operator on the west side and part owner of the General News bureau, which specializes in furnishing race information to bookmakers on a national scale, has been missing since Thursday afternoon and it was reported last night that kidnapers had demanded a ransom of $250,000 for him.

MARTY GUILFOYLE

In the event the money is not paid today, the kidnapers announced they would kill Lynch.

From the office of the Daily Racing Form, a turf newspaper, came an offer last night to pay a reward of $25,000 for information that would lead to Lynch's release unharmed. It was said that a blanket offer for the capture of kidnapers of any men connected with the turf has been considered by this and associated racing publications and that it had been decided to make a representative case of the Lynch abduction.

Admit Lynch Is Missing.

The report of the kidnaping had been current since Thursday evening, but earlier calls at the Lynch home on Lake Shore drive at Lake Geneva, Wis., were answered by a man who stated that he was Lynch and was safe. Last night, however, the admission was made that he was gone.

An anonymous informant in Chicago to whom callers were referred asserted that the family and friends of Lynch found it impossible to meet the exorbitant demands of the kidnapers and that it had been decided to fight them. Also it was asserted the abductors had scorned an offer of $50,000 for their captive.

The demands were presented by telephone to Marty Guilfoyle, northwest side gambling syndicate man, and to Mrs. Lynch. Guilfoyle, it was reported, told the kidnapers there was no chance to raise so much money and was in turn informed it was "a quarter of a million or a dead Lynch."

In Chicago Thursday.

Lynch was in the city as usual on Thursday, driving from the $125,000 home he purchased in Lake Geneva several years ago. He parked his automobile at Cicero avenue and Madison street and went to his office at Van Buren and Halsted streets. It had been his custom for years, his friends said, to walk at least one way for the entire distance.

Late in the afternoon he left the office. It has not been definitely established whether he was taken by the kidnapers in Chicago or on the country roads, but it is believed he was seized somewhere near the Wisconsin line.

Lynch had no connection with the Daily Racing Form. He was, however, one of the old stockholders of the Arlington Park race track. He was supposed to have control of one of the largest strings of handbooks in the country.

Result of Depression.

Kidnapings of men belonging to the gambling fraternity have been frequent in recent months, and close observers in the underworld attribute this to the depression in other lines of criminal and near criminal activity. The men who formerly made a living in hijacking are said to have turned to kidnaping as more lucrative and easier than their former occupations.

The latest case of a similar kind was the taking of William [Cully] Flanigan, head of the Gary bookmaking syndicate.

ATTORNEY TAKES SON ON BACK IN LAKE; BOTH DIE

Homer C. Myers, village attorney of Brookfield, and his son, Melville, 8 years old, were drowned yesterday in a small lake at Chippewa Falls, Wis., when Myers attempted to swim to a nearby sand bar with his son on his shoulders.

Myers was 37 years old and a son-in-law of former Judge Willis Melville, with whom he was associated in the law practice at 77 West Washington street. His home was at 309 Grand boulevard, Brookfield. He was a veteran of the world war.

4 Story Fall Kills Bride of Naval Officer

San Francisco, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Daisy Price, 26, bride of Lieut. Commander George S. Price, attached to the United States aircraft carrier Saratoga, was fatally injured early this morning when she fell hrough the window of her fourth floor apartment.

The tragedy, which abruptly terminated the honeymoon of the young navy couple, married last month, occurred less than an hour after a gay gathering of young navy people, at which Mrs. Price was hostess, had dispersed.

She "Alone Responsible."

Sobbing for her husband, who was on duty on the Saratoga, and moaning that she alone was responsible for what had occurred, Mrs. Price died at St. Joseph's hospital.

Police said the, were satisfied Mrs. Price's fall was accidental, but asked navy officials to summon for questioning a young junior lieutenant on the Saratoga, last of the party to leave. Navy officials agreed to do so tomorrow morning. They will make an investigation of their own.

Mrs. Price arrived in San Francisco on Thursday from Coronado to join her husband, who is commander of the Vs-3 scouting squadron attached to the Saratoga.

Husband Suggested Party.

It was at his suggestion, Price said today, that Mrs. Price planned the Saturday night party. He was prevented from attending by a change of orders that kept him on his vessel.

Carl Loysen, bellboy, told the police he was summoned to Mrs. Price's apartment to aid the guests with their wraps. He was dismissed, he said, when all except the young lieutenant had left. Lieutenant Commander Price identified the latter as a brother officer whom he had asked to escort Mrs. Price as she was a stranger in San Francisco.

Police said Mrs. Price had apparently retired, but arose at 1:30 a. m., groped about in the dark, entered the kitchen and stumbling, fell through the window, carrying with her a chair,

Actress Dies in Plunge.

New York, Aug. 24. — [Special.] — Mrs. Brown Mehard Griffith, actress, said to be prominent socially in Pittsburgh, plunged to her death from a fourth story window of the Hotel Somerset here today. Her body was found in the courtyard after Miss Alice Meehan, occupying the same room with her, had awakened and found her bed unoccupied.

Miss Meehan told the police that she had no doubt that Mrs. Griffith's death was accidental.

Mrs. Griffith, who appeared in a play called "Illegal Practices" in Chicago in 1928, had come here to meet her mother, Mrs. Mary Mehard of Pittsburgh, due back from Europe tomorrow.

IT LOOKED LIKE ROBBER, BUT WAS ONLY EARNSHAW

Hereafter George Earnshaw, Connie Mack's star pitcher, will probably avoid even the appearance of evil. Last Wednesday Earnshaw witnessed the midweekly showup of suspects at the detective bureau.

After it was over he, Mickey Cochrane, his battery mate, Earl Mack, son of Connie Mack, and Roger Cramer, another of the team, got on the showup platform to pose for photographs.

At the showup yesterday Mrs. Ann Wilson, 1112 South St. Louis avenue, appeared with a copy of the photograph clipped from THE TRIBUNE.

"That's the man who took a room at my house on July 29 and left the next morning along with two watches, a camera and a fountain pen belonging to Howard Cable, another of my roomers," she told Sergt. Edward Schimmel, pointing to the picture of Earnshaw.

It took police 15 minutes to satisfy her that Earnshaw was with his club in Philadelphia on the day of the robbery, and could not have been the robber for that reason and several others.

Farmer Flags Train from a Washout; 81 Are Aboard

Berlin, Md., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Waving two red sweaters fastened to a pole, James Clark, a Worcester county farmer, today stopped a Pennsylvania railroad passenger train at the edge of a 300 foot washout. There were 81 passengers bound for Ocean City aboard the train. Clark discovered the washout a few minutes before the train was due. The train was being operated on the tracks of the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic railroad. The passengers were sent to Ocean City by bus.

Havana Bombs Cause Panic in Business Area

BY DEAN SANBORN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1931: By The Chicago Tribune.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 24 [Monday].—Within an interval of five minutes two dynamite bomb explosions early today suddenly turned Havana's business district into a panic.

The first bomb exploded at Monserrate and Progresso, within two blocks of the central police station and the headquarters of the city's military governor. Serious damage was inflicted on both of these properties and also surrounding residences. Glass, wooden doors, and frames were demolished from several of the surrounding buildings.

A second bomb at Pena Pobre corner caused a panic to the residents, who rushed to the street as police and army forces sped to the site of the explosion. No casualties were reported. Five suspects were arrested after half an hour's pursuit by the police, who fired at the fleeing occupants of an automobile. The police finally captured the alleged bombers. No traces of bombs or implements were found in the car or on any of the suspects.

The police were instructed to shoot to kill any man found with bombs or explosives. An investigation now is being conducted, while the citizens refuse to turn in for the night, fearing more bombings. The police are searching all houses and homes for bombs.

Six Heat Prostrations as Los Angeles Sizzles

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Half a dozen heat prostrations were reported and scores of women fainted under a temperature of 100 degrees today while a crowd of 35,000 persons stormed the Los Angeles harbor piers to inspect the Dollar liner, President Hoover, new Pacific flagship of the American merchant marine. Three passengers missed the liner when she sailed for San Francisco, due to the throngs.

Report Chinese Bandits Hold 30 U. S. Missionaries

PEIPING, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Dispatches from Tsinanfu today said 30 American missionaries were being held prisoners by bandits at Tamingfu, 250 miles south of Peiping. The dispatches said Chinese government troops were besieging the gang, headed by the bandit leader Liukwei Tang, in an effort to free the prisoners. The missionaries were said to belong to the Nazarene, Mennonite and National Holiness churches.

The neighborhood of Cottage Grove avenue and 63d street, one of the busiest intersections in Chicago, was thrown into confusion last night when an electrical transformer exploded in front of the Strand Millinery shop, 6315 Cottage Grove avenue, and darkened the neighborhod.

FIGHT AGAINST DOLE CUT BRINGS MINISTRY'S DOOM

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Aug. 23.—News that the Bank of England had practically exhausted the $250,000,000 credit which the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and the Bank of France agreed just three weeks ago to place at its disposal came as a shock to financial quarters here tonight, where it was generally believed that this money had not been touched.

It is said the credit will last probably until Wednesday. As in 1925, it was hoped that recourse to these credits would be unnecessary, and just what the effect on the markets will be tomorrow nobody cares to speculate.

In those financial markets which were open Saturday—namely, discount, short loan and foreign exchange markets, the absence of eagerly awaited relief from a state of acute suspense, in which they have existed for fully a week, served to accentuate the prevailing tension.

Foreign Exchange Drops.

Though the foreign exchange market for the moment provides but a partial guide to the value of sterling in the leading foreign exchange currencies, there were signs Saturday of an unfavorable tendency in continental rates. Belgian exchange, for example, fell sharply to 34.83 belga, compared to a parity figure of 35, and the Dutch rate was also lower at 12.04 florins, par being 12.107. The importance of these movement lies in the fact that in each instance the rate is once again appreciably below the gold export point from this country.

About $485,000 of South African bar gold will be available in the bullion market Tuesday, and in view of the level of these exchanges there is little doubt that it will be bought for export.

In the last three weeks 30 million pounds, or about one-sixth of the entire gold stock of the Bank of England, has been withdrawn, and apparently the Anglo-French credit has not been sufficient to check the drain. The bank's position is further complicated by the fact that when sterling temporarily improved about a fortnight ago the institution was allowed by the treasury to increase its uncovered note issue by 15 million pounds sterling.

Reasons for Flight.

Two reasons are suggested for the flight from the pound. First, that many large British houses have been heavily buying dollar and franc securities in fear of a possible financial crisis, and, secondly, a departure of British bankers from old established conservative principles in borrowing short and lending long has destroyed the confidence of some foreign investors.

It is reported from Paris tonight that the Bank of France is supporting sterling by buying every sovereign offered on the market at 123.95.

Norman May Ask for Loan.

New York, Aug. 23.—Although it is generally understood here that the Bank of England has drawn heavily upon the credit of $250,000,000 granted to that institution by the Federal Reserve bank and the Bank of France, no formal application for additional accommodations has been made and, so far as could be learned tonight, no negotiations to that end have been initiated.

However, Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, arrived in Quebec Saturday and it is considered likely that he will communicate with the Federal Reserve bank here.

MacDonald Asked by King to Form New Government.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Aug. 24.—(Monday.)—(AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald's Labor government resigned shortly after noon today to make way for a National nonparty ministry, which he will lead.

"It's all over. We have resigned," said the members to their friends outside No. 10 Downing street, as the cabinet session ended after only a half hour's meeting. It was understood that Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, would serve under MacDonald if he succeeds in forming a new ministry. It was also expected that David Lloyd George, head of the Liberals, would hold a place if his health permits.

The resignation of the Labor ministry followed a conference in which King George, MacDonald, Baldwin and Sir Herbert Samuel, Liberal spokesman, representing David Lloyd George, took part.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Copyright: 1931: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Aug. 24.—[Monday.]—Great Britain will have a new government today. The Labor cabinet, headed by Prime Minister MacDonald, has fallen apart over the financial crisis and King George will ask Stanley Baldwin, former Conservative prime minister, to form a new government to carry out the stringent economy measures which the Labor cabinet dared not to inflict upon its own ranks.

This information was authoritatively given to THE TRIBUNE early today by a source as close to the MacDonald government as it is possible to get.

Mr. MacDonald had been forced to create an almost hysterical budgetary reform in order to reëstablish London as the banking center of the world. Financial confidence in England has been shaken. France was withdrawing vast sums of gold from London.

MacDonald Loses Struggle.

Faced with this problem Mr. MacDonald mustered all the strength his government was able to command. His first task was to effect economies capable of removing a budget deficit of $600,000,000.

This Mr. MacDonald attempted to do by a stradding effort designed to retain the dole for British workers and still maintain Conservative and Liberal support. The cabinet failed.

THE TRIBUNE also learns from the highest authority that at the conclusion of the hectic sessions in 10 Downing street last night, at least eight prominent members of the cabinet put flat declarations of resignations on the table if the dole was reduced. These cabinet members were Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, William Graham, president of the board of trade; Arthur Greenwood, minister of health; A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty; George Lansbury, chief commissioner of works; Tom Johnston, lord privy seal; William Adamson, secretary for Scotland, and Christopher Addison, minister of agriculture.

King Cautions Against Haste.

As soon as these declarations were presented to Mr. MacDonald he threw up the sponge and rushed to Buckingham palace to offer the king the cabinet's resignation. King George asked him to delay the government's action until he had an opportunity to interview Mr. Baldwin. This the prime minister agreed to do, but it was merely an action to suit the convenience of the situation.

It has been learned that Mr. Baldwin will agree to form a new government and carry out all the measures for economy already drafted by the outgoing Labor government.

This means that the Conservatives are called in to enforce "equal sacrifices for all," which Mr. MacDonald urged upon the country, and which burdens he maintained all classes of society should shoulder.

Henderson Puts Foot Down.

The trades union congress and the eight cabinet members previously mentioned, who are closely associated with the union labor movement and who have risen to power with its aid resisted and demanded, instead, new increases in taxes. Mr. MacDonald and other members of the cabinet not so closely associated with the labor unions were freer to enforce these hardships upon that branch of society.

But Mr. Henderson, who is a power in labor unions, put his foot down and nothing was left for the government but to resign.

The measures the new Conservative administration will bring into the house of commons to effect economies have been revealed privately. The budgetary reductions follow:

Education, $57,500,000; health, $8,750,000; military services, $49,000,000; road building and repair, $29,000,000. There will also be a saving of $75,000,000 by an amendment to a bill, reducing certain taxes, passed when Winston Churchill was chancellor of the exchequer.

Will Face Opposition.

Thus, the total saving in expenditures in these departments amounts to $225,250,000, or nearly half the anticipated deficit of $500,000,000. The remainder is evidently expected to come out of unemployment benefits.

Whatever government touches the unemployment benefit is certain to face snarling opposition in the house of commons by the trades union representation, which numbers 150 members, in addition to the governmental branches included in the drastic cuts. Among these are teachers. They have already organized to resist cuts in their pay checks.

The real fight is on the dole. According to present payments a married man is entitled to draw $6.25 per week. He draws $3.75 for his wife, $1.25 for his first child and 75 cents for each additional child. Figured on a basis of three children in a working man's family a jobless laborer is entitled to draw $9.50 per week.

How Dole Works Out.

A worker is ordinarily entitled to draw the dole for 26 weeks after being forced out of employment. Additional periods have been covered by government loans. The loans were necessary since the assessments which are supposed to make up the unemployment insurance fund are rationed as follows: worker, 14 cents per week; the government, 15 cents, and the employer, 26 cents.

At this rate the government has been losing $5,000,000 daily since the unemployment total passed the 2,000,000 mark. Plans were suggested to reduce transitional benefits to 26 weeks and increase contributions of both the workers and employers.

That is the problem before the new Conservative government which will take office within the next few hours. It will have the support of the Liberals. It was discovered this morning that one of the chief reasons why Mr. MacDonald asked King George to accept his resignation was that the Liberals supported the Conservatives on the latters' contention that the government had not gone far enough with economies and opposed new and increased taxes.

Liberals and Labor Split.

If this information is correct, it means the end of an understanding by which Mr. MacDonald kept in power with a minority representation by the grace of the support of David Lloyd George. This was given because the Conservatives were openly advocating tariffs while the simon-pure Laborites in high cabinet positions were stanchly free traders.

The first indication that the Labor regime was at the end of its rope came when Mr. MacDonald returned to his residence after calling upon the king last night. He was asked if he had anything to say.

"Yes, I am—" and he broke off. He was unable to complete the sentence.

King Calls in Leaders.

The curtain on the drama in the cabinet crisis rose yesterday with the arrival of King George in London after an all-night ride from his Scottish vacation retreat, and the thousands who gave up the usual serenity of a London Sunday to watch the swiftly moving characters found the scene had shifted to Buckingham palace.

As soon as the king had finished breakfast, the play began and the crowds outside the iron fence surrounding the palace saw Prime Minister MacDonald, accompanied by a detective, drive in. Mr. MacDonald was closeted with the king for more than an hour.

Then an hour later an almost unprecedented thing happened—the opposition leaders, Sir Herbert Samuel, the Liberal, and Mr. Baldwin, former Conservative premier, had an audience with the king.

TEX GUINAN'S CLUB RAIDED, 6 ARRESTED AND LIQUOR SEIZED

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—[Special.]—A squad of federal agents raided Woodmansten inn early today while Texas Guinan and her gang were in the midst of their show "Too Hot for Paris." The agents seized two quarts of gin which they found under a table and arrested George Hammond, the proprietor, and five waiters.

About 500 patrons were in the place when the raiders entered. They had a search warrant. They stopped the show, then began a search of the premises. Scenes of wild disorder followed.

BANDITS TAKE TAXI AND DRIVER THEN GO ROBBING

Three armed men did a little holdup business on the southwest side early today with the rig of a stolen Yellow cab. They first held up the driver, William Tate, 803 Lakeside place, near 69th street and Western avenue. He was compelled to remain on the floor of the car for two hours under constant threat of death while the gunmen committed two robberies. He was then ejected.

Later the same men robbed William Riemer, 4843 Rice street, and Miss Virginia Bryant of $104 in front of her home at 6040 South Keeler avenue, and three men, from whom they got two watches and $6 in front of 5937 South Lincoln street.

BRITAIN IGNORES FARMS IN HUNT FOR NEW RICHES

Scorned Agriculture as Exports Grew.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Oil and electricity thrust forth a challenge to coal in the first years of the 20th century England has no petroleum deposits at home, and extremely little water power to be harnessed. Thus, when the importance of these two new factors in fuel was recognized, together with the advent of internal combustion engines and automobiles, British statesmen looked abroad for supplies.

They invested capital in the Russian oil fields near Baku and Grosny. They also exercised pressure to obtain rights and contracts in the oil region of Persia and Turkey, in what is now Iraq, containing the rich Mosul wells.

Berlin Gets the Jump.

Germany had already realized what benzine meant for the future and had signed commercial accords with Constantinople. Construction of the Anatolian railway, the "Berlin-Bagdad" line was started, the railroad striking squarely through Mosul, continuing down to Basra on the Persian gulf on the direct route to India, China and the far east, with western outlets on the Mediterranean at Aleppo, Syria, Haifa, Palestine, and on the banks of the Suez canal, Britain's key to her most important overseas possessions.

Victory in the world war chased Germany out of Asia Minor, purged the Mosul oil fields of German interests, and established all that territory as Iraq, a British mandate, insuring the bulk of the oil supply for England. Already pipeline contracts have been awarded, running from Mosul down to the Persian gulf, and across Transjordania to Palestine ports.

But the Russian fields were lost to British enterprise when Lenin and Trotzky nationalized all the wealth and property in the Soviet union. All British capital, invested in Baku and Grosny, was lost.

British Position Shaken.

Later came oil burning ships and the modernization of most of the navies of the world to consume petroleum instead of coal, and with this loss, Britain's enviable position in world commerce was seriously shaken.

Britain's exports, meanwhile, had grown, accounting for more than 30 per cent of her total production, as compared to about 10 per cent which the United States was selling abroad in the years just preceding the economic crash of 1929. The United Kingdom's exports were $56 per capita in 1913 and $76 in 1927, as compared to $30 and $40 respectively for America.

From the time of the Napoleonic wars until the eve of the world war, Britain's economic condition improved steadily, although her wage scale and standard of living did not rise with anything like the curve that attended the growth of America in the period dating from the end of the civil war.

Wages were higher, civilization and social improvements were more developed in the United Kingdom than in continental Europe, it is true, but the class system in England merely tended toward a sharper line of cleavage between the rich and the poor as the era of prosperity continued. The rich became more opulent and powerful, and although the poor did not become poorer—that would have been almost impossible. But they did not obtain the share of excess profits, or even a reasonable yield that American labor speedily claimed as its right when good times appeared in the United States.

Ominous Signs Appear.

Ominous signs began to intrude themselves and to forecast a letup in England's prosperity soon after the close of the last century. Coal mining was expanding despite the threat from the incipient oil and electrical interests, and machinery manufacturing was continuing to boom in the rush of other nations to equip themselves with the means of operating their own industry.

Iron and steel production was scaling off against competition from the United States, Belgium, Germany and France, whose newer industries by then were beginning to make themselves felt. Britain's hegemony over the textile industry, too, was challenged, with America building up its own industry in New England to utilize the south's cotton, with Germany boldly invading the field, and with a rapid concentration of spindles and looms in Russia, the Lodz-Lemberg districts, now Polish territory.

The birth rate in the United Kingdom was dropping steadily, if almost imperceptibly, and there was a steady annual drain of emigration, both factors constituting a counterweight to the unemployment menace.

In the first decade of the 20th century it became evident to economic experts that unless some new industries could be seized upon, or unless some large proportion of the population could be transferred abroad, either through voluntary emigration or colonization in new unsettled territories of the empire Canada and Australia, for instance, the unemployment problem would eventually become acute.

Ignore Danger Signal.

Despite this danger signal, no effort was made to reorganize agriculture, or to send jobless men back to the farm. Actually farmhands were not available. The tremendous prosperity, which had accompanied the 100-year boom, had so enriched the upper classes that they had accumulated further enormous estates. They benefited by extremely low taxation for uncultivated land and had left them wild, or for hunting.

It was further realized that England's long abstention from agriculture had enabled certain of her neighbors, Denmark, particularly, to establish itself so firmly in producing dairy goods, bacon and lard, that only a tremendous, sustained effort, subsidized by the government itself, could enable the English farmer to compete successfully.

England was still holding fast to the distant markets. It was before Japan had entered the arena as a competitor in the Far East and British foreign goods were sold almost alone in China, although Germany was already making her bid for this important customer. English trade was unchallenged in South and Central America, and India was a closed door to any but British products.

Russia Buying from England.

Russia was buying extensively from England, taking machinery, coal and textiles, in exchange for grain, wood and the oil that was gradually coming in larger quantities from the Caucasus. Africa, as far as trade was concerned was a British colony, the entire dark continent being served by British shipping almost exclusively, and carrying only English wares.

That was the situation up to 1914 when the world war broke out.

FOREIGN BORN COMMIT FEWER CRIMES

[illegible], D. C., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Sustained by the report of its research workers, who found that the foreign born in the United States, in proportion to their numbers, commit considerably fewer crimes than do the native born, the Wickersham commission on law enforcement, in a report published today declared that America's future immigration policy "can safely be determined on general economic and social basis," without fear that the foreign born will disproportionately endanger obedience to law.

The report was the last of the series from the now disbanded commission, which was appointed by President Hoover in 1929, and given a $500,000 appropriation by congress.

Dr. Abbott Directs Survey.

The survey undertaken under the direction of Dr. Edith Abbott, dean of the University of Chicago's graduate school of social service administration, it was found by Miss Alida C. Bowler that not only do the foreign born commit fewer crimes than the native born in proportion to their respective numbers, but that in crimes of violence, including robbery, the native white greatly exceed the foreign born.

Point to Handicaps.

In the statements of the 11 commissioners, of Dr. Abbott, Miss Bowler and other research workers join in pointing out the difficulty of adjustment experienced by the newcomer to this shores and the traditional hostility of the native—himself often only a few removed from Ellis island—which has resulted in discriminatory treatment of the alien.

In speaking of inquiries made as to criminality among native born sons of foreign parents, Miss Bowler states:

"It is worthy of note that in all the interviews with officers and others who have handled hundreds of cases of these young offenders of the so-called second generation, not one found the foreign stock from which they sprang for their criminal tendencies."

Foreign Born Rate Drops Here.

In comparative studies of conviction rates in Chicago, it is shown that from 1915 the native white and the negro have maintained an increased rate, while the foreign born rate has dropped 15 per cent.

In a chapter devoted to prohibition law, the figures demonstrate that the native and foreign born population are being prosecuted in almost equal proportion to their percentage of the total population.

The lesson quickly learned by the immigrant to the United States, Miss Bowler declares, is that justice can be bought, that immunity is for the rich, and that power is wielded by the foreign language group in politics. She found that in many cases the foreigner received unfair treatment because of the lack of a competent interpreter and his inability to hire competent counsel.

Nativity of 23 "Public Enemies."

In explaining the difficulty of ascertaining a gangster's birthplace she referred to a Chicago gang leader, perhaps Dion O'Banion, who bore an Irish name, but according to official records, was born in Minnesota, of French-Canadian parents.

The nativity of the first 23 "public enemies" listed by the Chicago crime commission, Miss Bowler believed to be as follows:

Born in Italy—6.
Born in Argentina [of Italian parentage]—1.
Born in Russia [of Hebrew parentage]—1.

BOYS STEAL TAXI; CAR'S OPEN DOOR INJURES WOMAN

Mrs. Anna Carr, 58 years old, of 6322 Kenwood avenue was critically injured late last night when she was hurled to the pavement by the swinging open door of a stolen taxicab at Broadway and Irving Park boulevard. She was taken to the American hospital suffering from a skull fracture and a broken pelvis bone.

The accident occurred when George Clifford, 14 years old, 1039 North La Salle street, and Fred Morgan, 18, 4040 Broadway, drove off in a Yellow cab parked outside a restaurant at Broadway and the boulevard. The driver, Guild Longstrith, was in the restaurant. As the boys drove across the intersection a side door flew open, hitting Mrs. Carr. Longstrith, who saw his cab being driven away, ran out and collared the young thieves and held them for police.

ALCOCK DRAFTS ACCOUNTING OF HIS STEWARDSHIP

Police Jury Will End Work This Week.

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock was preparing a report yesterday which he will make tonight to the special grand jury on his accomplishments and the accomplishments of the police department during the fourteen months he has been at the head of it. It was understood he will compliment the force on its efficiency and its records of crimes solved and the increased number of criminals arrested and successfully prosecuted.

The special grand jury is expected to end its work this week, probably after a session on Wednesday night. It was impaneled in January by Chief Justice John P. McGoorty and instructed to investigate charges that there existed an alliance between police and criminals.

Expect Police to Be Cleared.

From remarks by several of the jurors who have been investigating the police department for eight months it is believed the final report will state that there is no foundation for charges that there is any organized alliance between police and criminals. In the early stages of the inquiry many jurors were reported to be critical of the police for not attempting to enforce prohibition, but the latest information is that they have come to the conclusion it would be unwise for the police to waste time needed in criminal matters and try to do the work of federal enforcers.

On the subject of crime the jurors were reported to be satisfied the police department as a whole is on the alert and the members willing to risk their lives to capture criminals. It was said, too, that many of the jurors feel that, with Mayor Cermak in control, a continuation of good service is expected.

Started Under Former Regime.

The investigation was launched under the former administration and after three regular grand juries had recommended a close scrutiny of the facts back of the charges which helped to give Chicago a bad name. It had no purpose other than to purge the department of crooks if they were found, according to Chief Justice McGoorty.

The jury heard hundreds of witnesses, policemen, civilians, investigators, reformers and newspapermen. An appropriation of $50,000 was voted for the investigation by the county board and numerous investigators were employed. A number of raids were made by the state's attorney's police staff as a result of the investigation but, so far as is known publicly, no evidence was obtained of anything other than sporadic police tolerance.

Bank Accounts Examined.

The jury obtained records of the bank accounts, real estate and stock transactions of all the police captains and members of the commissioner's staff. The men were questioned about their deposits and with a few exceptions, it is reported, gave satisfactory explanations of their fiscal affairs. Mayor Cermak will be informed about the exceptions, it was decided.

The jury is to be in session for the next three nights and, aside from hearing two or three additional police officials, will consider the draft of its final report. This, according to reports of the present frame of mind of many of the jurrors, will pay tribute to the good men of the department and declare that the department as a whole is worthy of the trust of the city.

Crash Kills Two in California.

Centerville, Cal., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Two men were killed today in the crash of an airplane which had been declared unairworthy by the department of commerce. They were Stewart Wallburg and Richard Neiman. Wallburg, the pilot, was instructing Neiman in operation of the plane when the stick jammed.

Horse Runs Into Plane, Boy Dies.

BOY, 5, RESCUES HIS TWO BROTHERS AND SISTER FROM FLAMES

Bloomheim, N. J., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Awakened by flames early this morning while his parents were away from home, Frank Watson Jr., 5 years old, rescued his two younger brothers and a sister from their burning cottage on Almonessen road here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watson put the four children to bed last night and then went to call on neighbors. The 5 year old son awoke shortly after 1 o'clock and saw flames. He seized his sister, Laura, 3 months old, and after carrying her to the front porch he returned and aroused his twin bothers, Elmer and Leslie, 4 years old, whom he led through the smoke toward the front door. Elmer got out quickly, but Leslie nearly suffocated before his brother could drag him to the porch.

NATION WATCHES ADVANCE OF CITY TROLLEY BUSES

Find Greater Comfort at Lower Costs.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The popularity of trolley buses in Chicago is attracting the attention and interest of the urban transportation systems of the country.

This city has a larger installation of trolley buses than any other city in the nation—a total of 114 which have been operating on the northwest side for a year and a half. E. J. McIlraith, staff engineer of the surface lines, believes that Chicago will eventually have four to five times as many as it has today. He estimates that between 15 and 18 per cent of the entire system will be by trolley bus operation.

So keen is the desire for accurate information by manufacturers, operators, and financiers that an exhaustive report on Chicago's experience will be a feature of the convention of the American Electric Railway association at Atlantic City, Sept. 26 to Oct. 2.

First Ones Not Successful.

Trolley buses first appeared in this country in 1903, but they had solid tires, stiff springs, and other unattractive features. They did not "take" until Salt Lake City in 1928 began an installation which now numbers 58 buses. Since then Chicago has inaugurated its system. They have appeared since in other cities and foreign countries.

Walter J. Cummings, who recently purchased the Insull-Hammond and East Chicago street railway, announced that he would install trolley buses in place of the street cars. No street car tracks have been torn up in Chicago to install trolley buses.

However, in Salt Lake City one trolley bus line has supplanted a street car line, and it is claimed that there was a resultant 25 per cent increase in passengers.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, which has equipped 86 of the Chicago buses electrically, says that among the advantages and attractive features of the trolley bus are:

"A practically noiseless vehicle. Free of gas exhaust and gear shift noises.

Lower Power Costs.

"It can accelerate faster. Its light weight reduces power costs.

"Heated with clean electric heat.

"Possesses ample flexibility to pull to the curb to accommodate passengers and detour around standing and slowly moving vehicles."

These same advantages, in another form are listed by F. A. Forty, superintendent of schedule and traffic department of the Surface lines; and also Mr. McIlraith.

Mr. McIlraith emphasized the comfort of a trolley bus. He believes that the "riding comfort of the trolley bus is equal to the better private automobiles."

Cites Greater Comfort.

Some improvements are being made in street car designs, but Mr. McIlraith predicts that they must be extensive in order to compare favorably with the trolley bus.

The advantages of the trolley bus operation as compared with the street car," explained by Mr. McIlraith, "are important for certain classes of use. Since the bus is a smaller unit operated by one man, it is economical to operate it on a closer headway of lines in the outlying districts where the traffic is limited.

"This greater convenience of service because of more frequent operation is also improved by the better quality of the bus seats, the improved spring suspension of the bus, and the elimination of all noise. Since the cost of installation is very much lower, due to the absence of tracks, more extensions of this kind of service can be made for the same investment and at lower operating costs.

Compares Two Costs.

"Trolley buses also have many advantages over gasoline buses, including a lower cost of energy, absence of exhaust fumes, better acceleration, elimination of noise of gears and of exhaust, better lighting, and better heating facilities."

The cost of the type of trolley bus used in Chicago is about $13,000 per vehicle as compared with $17,500 for the latest type of street car. The cost of installing the overhead trolley wires is about the same for trolley buses and street cars, approximately $20,000 a mile. But the cost of laying rails—from $130,000 a mile upward—is saved.

The engineers of the surface lines, while they favor trolley buses for certain outlying territory, still recommend street cars for heavy traffic streets.

Accuse Officials of Closed Bank in Bond Group War

Warfare broke out yesterday between two bondholders' protective committees, rival bidders for the patronage of the owners of more than $2,500,000 in bonds issued by the defunct Garfield State bank, 4010 West Madison street.

JOSEPH P. SAVAGE.

Hostilities were opened by Joseph P. Savage of the law firm of Crowe, Gorman & Savage. Mr. Savage is counsel for one of the committees and also represents the Garfield bank receiver, John E. Sullivan. Mr. Sullivan is a former vice president of the Foreman National bank and is now president of the Cook County Trust company.

Charges Removal of Records.

Mr. Savage issued a public statement charging, in effect, that the opposition committee had been organized by former officers of the bank for the purpose of collecting large legal fees. To achieve the organization plans, Mr. Savage charged, the committee secretary, A. A. Marquart, caused the removal from the bank of the list of bondholders.

The bank closed on June 11. Shortly thereafter, Mr. Savage avers, Arthur A. Marquart, vice president of the bank, ordered two subordinates to remove the bondholders' list from the bank to his private office on the fourth floor of the same building.

With the aid of the lists, according to Mr. Savage, a bondholders' committee was organized. The committee instituted forty-four foreclosure suits against properties on which the bank had issued bonds. A number of the suits, he declared, were filed by attorneys directly connected with the law firm of Campbell, Clithero and Fischer, of which Delbert A. Clithero, former president of the bank, is a member.

Injured Assets, Is Charge.

"The purpose of filing these suits," Mr. Savage averred, "was to secure large fees for the bondholders' committee and the lawyers filing the suits. Their effect was to seriously impair the value of the bank assets, thus helping to make impossible the reopening of the bank."

Learning of Mr. Savage's charges, members of the Marquart committee issued a rejoinder, asserting that his attack was made only because of his failure to obtain control of their committee, which he had originally endorsed. Members of the Marquart committee are William M. Druley, president of the Garfield Park Business Men's club; George B. Schrand, superintendent of terminals, Chicago and North Western railway; William D. Cousin, real estate manager, Hartford building; Thomas R. Ferguson, financial advertising executive, and Mr. Marquart.

"Control" Plea Denied.

"Mr. Savage and Mr. Sullivan assured this original committee immediately after the receiver was appointed, that this committee might continue to handle the liquidation of defaulted bond issues if Mr. Savage and Mr. Sullivan were permitted to control it," the statement declared. "This committee could not conscientiously surrender to the receiver and his attorneys the control of the thousands of bonds which had been entrusted to them."

The statement cited a letter to the bondholders in which James J. Walsh, now secretary of the Sullivan-Savage committee, declared that "Mr. Marquart is making an honest effort to compel all owners of property to pay interest and will remit to you and every bondholder as quickly as he can effect collection."

The statement denied that the Marquart committee had ever used the bank records in organizing but posed a question for Mr. Savage.

Sought to Protect All.

"However, if the use of the bank records by bondholders is improper," the Marquart group asked, "how is it that Mr. Sullivan's committee is now enjoying unrestricted use of the records, stationery and quarters of the Garfield bank?"

"The foreclosure suits instituted by this committee were in behalf of bonds long in default. The suits were filed to forestall independent activities by individual bondholders, which would have resulted in receivership of the properties and defeated the committee's efforts to protect bondholders as a whole."

Henry E. Ayers, assistant state's attorney prosecuting bank cases, said Mr. Savage had outlined his charges to him. Mr. Ayers said he had not concluded his investigation, adding that if the charges were substantiated, the matter would be presented to the grand jury.

ADMITS KILLING; ASSERTS VICTIM BROKE UP HOME

"He broke up my home."

With these words, John Pheiffer, 35 years old, 8133 Stewart avenue, confessed last night to Woodlawn police and Assistant State's Attorney Walker Butler, that he shot and killed Ralph Andrews, 37 years old, 7841 Cottage Grove avenue. Andrews was shot to death late Saturday night as he sat in his car in front of 7021 South Michigan avenue. Pheiffer was seized later, and for nearly twenty-four hours denied the slaying.

In his confession, the slayer declared that his wife, Mrs. Charlotte Pheiffer, 7019 Michigan avenue, had recently divorced him. Andrews, he asserted, was the cause of the divorce. Pheiffer said he warned Andrews to stay away from Mrs. Pheiffer, even after the divorce. Saturday night, he confessed, he saw Andrews in his car in front of Mrs. Pheiffer's apartment building. "Then I let him have it," said Pheiffer.

SUNDAY PLEADS FOR NEW WAVE OF OLD RELIGION

Monroe, Wis., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—The United States needs to be taken into God's bathhouse and the hose turned on it, the Rev. William A. Sunday told Green county fair crowds this afternoon in the first address he ever gave in Wisconsin.

He recommended a tidal wave of old-time religion to combat materialism.

$1 BARREL GOAL FOR OIL IS WON, GOVERNOR SAYS

Kansas Executive Tells of Offer Made.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 24.—(AP)—The Phillips Petroleum company, a major crude oil purchaser in the Midcontinent area, last night announced the posting of a top price of $1 a barrel for oil in Oklahoma and Kansas, thereby meeting the rate fixed by Gov. W. H. Murray as the goal of a shutdown order for the Oklahoma fields.

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Success in a midcontinent area effort to obtain a dollar a barrel for petroleum, through an arbitrary shutdown of production, was indicated today when Gov. Harry H. Woodring said a major purchasing company had offered to raise its price to that amount.

Gov. Woodring declined to reveal the name of the company, but said there was a possibility that an order of the Kansas public service commission, declaring a shutdown tomorrow of the Ritz-Canton oil pool production, might be withdrawn, at least temporarily.

Favors Shutdowns.

Yesterday, in connection with announcement of the Ritz-Canton order, Gov. Woodring said he was in "complete accord" with the governors of Texas and Oklahoma, who have declared martial law to enforce a complete shutdown of certain oil areas.

Gov. W. H. [Alfalfa Bill] Murray, who first called out the military in Oklahoma, announced he would enforce his order until oil reached a dollar a barrel. Petroleum then was selling for as little as 10 cents a barrel in the midcontinent territory.

Gov. Woodring said today that the unnamed company offering to pay the dollar quotation was negotiating with other major purchasers to determine whether they should meet the price.

Ordered Closed for Year.

In addition to the Ritz-Canton order, the Kansas commission has directed wells in the Raymond pool, closed for more than a year, to be kept out of production. One-fifth of the state's present 102,000 average daily production was estimated to come from the Ritz-Canton field.

A tide of rising prices, posted by various companies last week, has carried quotations to a top of 70 cents. Approximately 1,000,000 barrels of oil daily is being kept from market in the area.

SEE GREATER DEMAND

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—(AP)—An increase in the demand for petroleum during the remainder of the year was predicted today by a volunteer advisory economic committee in a report to Chairman Wilbur of the oil conservation board.

The report reviewed trends since the committee estimated needs on April 6, showing a reduction of 45,000,000 barrels between Jan. 1 and July 1, as compared with the same period last year, and extending its survey to Dec. 31 instead of Sept. 30.

Gain of Several Millions.

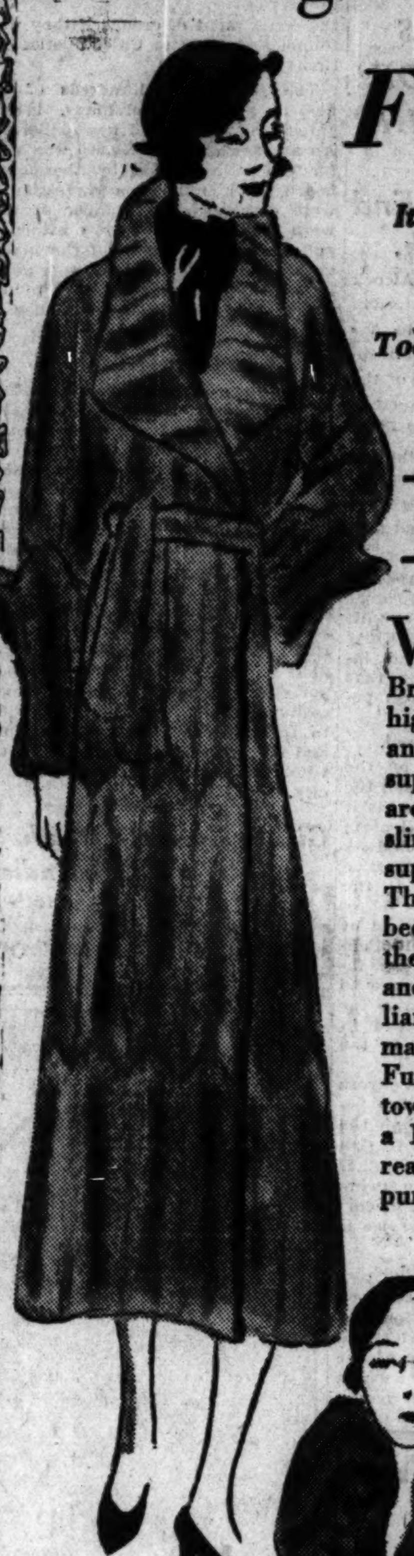

Crude oil demand for the last half of this year was estimated at 491,315,000, against 477,829,000 for the same period in 1930, with 451,915,000 barrels to come from domestic fields and 25,239,000 from foreign wells. Domestic crude totaled 430,239,000 and foreign crude 30,999,000 barrels in the last half of 1930.

German Flyers Missing.

BERLIN, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The whereabouts of the plane in which Willy Rody and Christian Johannsen, German airmen, started early yesterday on the first leg of a proposed trans-Atlantic flight remained a mystery late tonight. Authorities at Tempelhof airdrome were without news of the flyers and their passenger, Fernando Costa Veiga, Portuguese sportsman, nor had the Hamburg maritime weather bureau received any word. The flyers left Tempelhof for Lisbon in a plane formerly owned by Charles A. Levine, American aviation enthusiast.

Gotham's Goofiest Place Spotted; It's—Guess What

BY TOM PETTEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—The goofiest place in town has been found on the tenth floor of a Broadway building just off Times square. Betty-Boop and Bimbo live there—and what a life those creatures live.

Betty-Boop is the sort of a girl who goes to parties and loses her head and sometimes both legs. She flies, swims, crawls and grows or reduces to fit the occasion. Bimbo is a tiny dog with a Santa Claus stomach, the eyes of Eddie Cantor and a voice like Al Jolson. Bimbo is Betty-Boop's boy friend and they go around a lot.

Most everyone has seen them doing impossible things upon the screen in movie theaters, but few have learned the secret of their technique. When Bimbo starts out for an air ride he makes Lindbergh look like a puddle jumper and even dims the incredible journey on a broomstick of Mother Goose's witch. Betty-Boop has been known to use the moon as a bouncing ball. Nothing is impossible in their lives.

Illusions Shattered.

A peep behind the scenes destroy a lot of illusions, but it reveals exactly what makes these two animated cartoons tick. Bimbo and Betty-Boop belong to the Fleischer studios—Max and Dave Fleischer are their parents and are most indulgent. The Fleischer studios, the largest of its kind in the world, is a topsy turvy place. It takes 8,000 drawings to put Bimbo and Betty into a cartoon reel that runs six minutes. About 200 artists, musicians, technicians and mechanics are engaged in the work and one picture a week is released.

A scenario writer turns in his "story." It is never more than 150 words in length. Sometimes he just says, "Let's let 'em get married," or "Let's send them to the moon." Then Max and Dave Fleischer and their staff of animators hold a conference. Animators are the small boys who draw pictures on billboards grown up. Gags are discussed and a "plan" outlined.

The animators rush to their desks and begin to sketch with pencils on white paper of tablet size pinned over a translucent drawing board. Their imagination is allowed free rein. Bimbo begins to take shape. The wink of an eye takes 24 drawings, there are nine mouth movements to a two syllable word. Eventually there rises a stack of penciled sketches and these move across the hall to the "fill-in" department.

Fill in the Lines.

There the artists are slightly less skilled and do not have to use as much imagination as the animators. They fill in the lines left out by the creators. Nothing must be drawn in a straight line for curves give the picture life, or "rubbery action" as it is called in the studio.

The sketches move on into the inking department where they are traced on celluloid strips of the same size and then they are taken to the coloring room. Before Bimbo and Betty face the camera they must be water-colored in fifteen shades of black, gray and white. The painting is done on the reverse side of the celluloid strip.

Meanwhile the background department has been busy painting room interiors, panoramic outdoor stripe, woods, skies and everything else under the sun. The background comes first, then the transparent celluloid showing the main action and any other strips of painted celluloid bearing afterthoughts of the artists. All are clamped down on a table and the camera turned on. This process is repeated approximately 8,000 times before the six minute reel is ready for the cutting room.

Next Come Orchestras.

The synchronization department is in the Paramount studio over by the Hudson river. There orchestra leaders swing their batons and "effect" men follow the cue-sheet and interpret in tunes and dialogue the imagination of the cartoonists. They sit in a glassed-in sound room and watch the silent picture on the screen.

At the exact moment—timed to the beat of the music and the tempo of the picture—they will introduce the desired sound or supply the proper words to the characters. Domestic utensils and hardware are sandpaper, washboards, tin foil, bricks, stones, bells, toy whistles are used to make the picture audible.

Finally Betty-Boop and Bimbo emerge alive and kicking on the screen.

LIST 30 MILLION IN PLANES AND BOATS FOR TAXES

Assessors in New Drive on Personalty.

Attention of the prominent property seeking assessors has turned to ships, other lake craft and aircraft, and a total of almost $30,000,000 worth of boats and airplanes has been placed on the county books for the first time. This was learned yesterday when Assessor John E. Conroy, secretary of the board, declared these properties had been listed and if the valuations were unchanged the county would receive $500,000 more personal taxes in the 1931 collections.

While a few of the ships have been included in the personal property schedules filed by taxpayers in the past years, the greatest majority had not been listed at all, the assessor said. Many of the airplanes and yachts are those of the wealthiest and most prominent citizens.

Work in Secret.

The assessors went about their task secretly, appealing to the government, which supplied names and addresses of airplane and ship owners.

Valuations of the lake boats were made with the aid of ship building experts. Government inspectors worked with Special Deputy J. E. Battle from the assessors' office in the compiling of the airplane assessments.

Taxes against the property uncovered by the assessors will be collected on the same basis as that used in computing the taxes against real estate. An equalization factor of 37 per cent is applied to the full market value of each item to obtain the assessed valuation.

753 Boats Listed.

A total of 753 boats are listed by the assessors, with a total value of $24,214,425.

In eleven freight and passenger ships registered here the Pittsburg Steam Ship company has $3,225,000 invested. The second largest commercial company is the Great Lakes Transit company with six ore boats valued at $2,100,000.

Other companies are: Goodrich Transit, six boats valued at $1,825,000; Nicholson Universal and Chicago, Duluth and Georgian Bay company, each with two boats valued at $1,600,000; Detroit-Cleveland Navigation company, two boats valued at $1,400,000; the Michigan Transit company with two boats valued at $750,000; and the Goodrich Westport company with four boats valued at $495,000.

The Theodore Roosevelt and the Christopher Columbus, excursion boats of the Chicago Roosevelt Steamship company, are valued together at $430,000.

Mispah Largest Yacht.

The yacht Mispah, owned by E. F. McDonald Jr., president of the Zenith Radio corporation, is the largest yacht registered in Cook county ports. The boat is valued at $500,000. The steam cruiser Minoco, owned by the Mills Novelty company, is valued at $160,000. The P. D. Q. Envelope, power cruiser of City Greeter George D. Gaw, is valued at $75,000.

The cruiser Romance of George Woodruff, banker, is valued at $180,000, and Whitecap II., owned by Stanley Joyce, former husband of Peggy Hopkins Joyce, is valued at $120,000.

Five hundred and forty-nine airplanes are on the assessors' books with a total value of $5,872,000. Of this number 64 are owned by the National Air Lines and are valued at $472,180. Century Air Lines is the second largest company with 14 ships appraised at $366,000. Curtis Flying Service ships are numbered at 33 with a total value of $52,850, and Universal Air Lines own 6 ships valued at $51,900. Boeing Air Lines, largely an airmail service, has four ships valued at $60,000 registered here.

TURN FOREST FIRES BACK FROM THREE IDAHO SETTLEMENTS

Boise, Idaho, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Struggling valiantly, fire fighters today turned leaping forest fires aside at Placerville, the Golden Age mine, and Grimes Pass, settlements which were threatened with destruction. Flames still were gaining in the vicinity of Grimes Pass, but little fear was felt that the village would meet the fate of Quartzburg and Granite Creek, already razed.

Two babies, one born during the first attack of the fire on Placerville and the other two days before, were reported being cared for by a Red Cross nurse.

Fires continued burning out of control in the Idaho forest far to the north of Placerville. Large crews were sent to the widely scattered blazes, both there and in the several fires in the Payette forest. No towns were in the vicinity of the flames and few if any habitations. Trucks and airplanes place firefighters as close as possible to the conflagration, and from there the men work into the fires.

GANDHI TO ASK VICEROY FOR NEW PLEDGE OF PEACE

AHMEDABAD, India, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Mahatma Gandhi set out today in a third class railway compartment, with his mattress, his spinning wheel and his can of goat's milk, on his way to Simla to confer with Viceroy Lord Willingdon on the situation concerning observance of the Delhi truce. He will ask the viceroy again to appoint an impartial tribunal to interpret the pact.

If Lord Willingdon will sanction such a tribunal to adjudicate the charges which Gandhi has made that the pact has been broken, the mahatma will leave for London Aug. 29 to attend the round table conference.

"I contend that the appointment of an impartial tribunal is implicit in the Delhi settlement," Gandhi said in a telegram sent to the viceroy asking an interview. "But I would waive such an inquiry now, if by quiet personal discussion, or some such informal means reasonable satisfaction is given in the congress."

Dog Amputates Own Leg; Does Good Surgical Job

DROWNS HIMSELF IN SWAMP.

A Queen Anne wing chair, moderate in size, conservative in shape—but extravagantly comfortable. It has a loose down-filled cushion, and comes in a variety of attractive coverings, many in rough weaves.

Saddle Seat Arm Chair

The frame is entirely of mahogany. You may choose from an ample assortment of fine coverings. This chair is noteworthy for its unusually good lines.

Queen Anne Writing Table

$49.50

Simple, yet sophisticated, in the Queen Anne manner, fashioned of selected walnut and maple. The top has a decorative inlaid border of curly maple veneer. The size of the top is 48¾ x 22 inches.

Magazine Table

Queen Anne Sofa

$98

The slender grace of this Queen Anne sofa makes it appropriate for the small apartment living rooms of today. Its custom made construction, hair filling, and fine coverings (there is a nice choice), make it an exceptional value at $98.

MACHINE GUNS MOW 3 DOWN IN NEW YORK

Victims Are Shot in Slaughter House.

police said machine guns were em- by the gangland executioners. The dead man is Anthony Ferrari, who police said was paroled from Sing Sing prison last April after serv- a term for robbery.

The others, dying in St. Catherine's hospital, are Angelo Curianni, 23, and Anthony Leonardi, 21. Each had three bullets in his body.

Victims Are Lined Up.

Otto Shumaker, a night watchman at the slaughter house, told police a band of gunmen drove up to the slaughter house, pushed the three vic- tims out of the car, and lined them up against the wall.

Terrified, Shumaker said, he watched as gunmen held the victims in posi- tion for a few moments, dart back to the machine and open fire.

"The three men slumped down," Shumaker told police, "it all happened so quickly, it was over before I knew what it was all about."

Escaped from Dance.

Leonardi, who was partially con- scious, told police at the hospital that he and his companions were at a dance when five men, whom he said he did not know, entered the ball- room, pressed automatics against their backs and told them to "come outside." They were shoved into a sedan.

"I asked them what it was all about, but none of the five spoke to them," Curianni said. "They didn't even answer us. They just looked at each other."

"Finally we reached the spot. They told us to get out and be quick. That's all I remember."

Gang Guns Slay Many.

Some startling figures on the cost—in lives, limb and money—of New York City's current crime wave were made public from two official sources today. One of the reports underwritten by the head of the city's police depart- ment, Commissioner Edward P. Mul- rooney, showed that no fewer than two-score innocent bystanders have been shot down in the streets by gangster bullets within the last eight or nine months or so. Four of the vic- tims died, one of them being a 10 year old girl, another a boy of 5, a third a boy of 10 and the fourth a man. Of those surviving their gang- inflicted wounds, eight were children—two boys and three girls—six were women and twenty-five men. Nineteen of the forty-three got their wounds in gang shootings during the first seven months of this year.

Latest Battle Not Included.

The commissioner's figures, given out as a result of an article in the coun- ty's official grand jury organ on "the importance of publishing crime news," do not include the victims of last Fri- day's five mile running battle between police and a band of fleeing bandits in the Bronx in which five more lives were sacrificed.

The other crime report sponsored by the Merchants' association, which re- cently undertook a survey of the situ- ation here at the request of the na- tional (Wickersham) commission on prohibition observance and enforcement, ap- palled interested New Yorkers—and others concerned—that the city's crime fighting bill for the year 1930 reached the staggering total of ap- proximately $56,000,000.

HEAVY TRAFFIC MOVES FAST AT NEW GRADE SPLIT

Separation Is Used by Thousands.

BY HAL FOUST.

Heavy traffic flowed without delay or hazard yesterday over the grade separation at Milwaukee road and Dempster street, where for years a pretty summer Sunday meant a dan- gerous blockade at the intersection. East and west traffic, about 650 cars an hour, swung through the well light- ed subway of Dempster street at from thirty-five to forty-five miles an hour. North and south traffic, traveling at similar speeds, crossed on Milwaukee road at grade, about 1,050 cars an hour. There was no congestion.

A little over a mile to the east, the intersection of Dempster street and Waukegan road presented a con- trast. The crossing is at grade, with stop and go lights and occasionally one or two policemen. There was a jam. Late in the afternoon, south bound motorists on Waukegan were in a slow moving parade almost a mile long approaching the corner.

Volume About the Same.

From appearance, it would be con- cluded that Dempster and Waukegan was handling two or three times as much traffic as Milwaukee and Demp- ster. But a count of the automobiles showed that the volume was about the same.

County Highway Superintendent Quinlan viewed the two intersections and was well pleased with the coun- ty's investment in the grade separa- tion. The construction, under a con- tract awarded during boom prices, cost $83,000 and the right of way $75,000, making a total of $158,000.

"This grade separation," said the highway engineer, "enables the motor- ing public to receive a full return on its investment of hundreds of thou- sands in forty foot roads. Where there are stop and go lights at the intersec- tion, traffic can flow in only one direc- tion at a time and the pavements are only 50 per cent efficient.

Means of Saving Life.

"In considering the value of the grade separation we must also con- sider its worth as a life saving agency."

In five hours one afternoon last week, 8,222 cars were counted using the Milwaukee and Dempster grade separation. This indicated about 20,- 000 cars a day benefiting from the im- provement, or approximately 600,000 cars a year with 1,500,000 occupants. The saving in time alone, at 60 cents an hour-person, would amount to $15,- 000 a year, almost a 10 per cent return on the $158,000 invested.

A big additional saving is in the wear and tear, on nerves and dis- positions even more than on the mechanics of the automobile, in stop- ping and starting, jerking along in the Sunday evening parade approach- ing the grade intersection of any two important metropolitan highways. This discomfort discourages many Chicago automobile owners from taking their families into the country on Sundays and holidays.

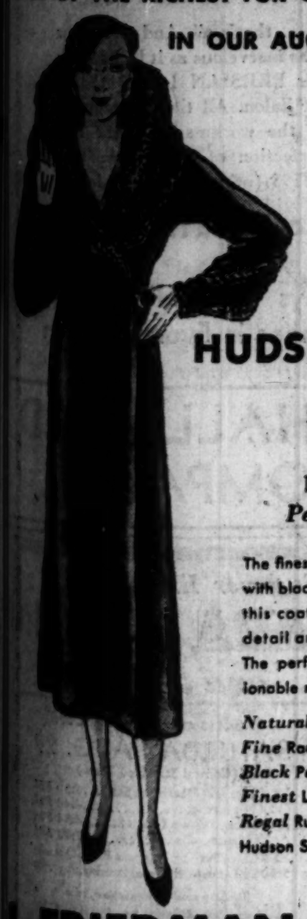

Needed on Many Corners.

There are a score of such bottle necks in the metropolitan area, inter- sections that have long been recom- mended as sites for grade separations. This type of construction can be car- ried on through the winter when it is too cold to lay pavement. Funds are available, millions of dollars in gasoline tax and license fees that have accumulated in the state treas- ury. Labor is plentiful.

Engineer Robbed by Two Young Bandits in Evanston

Two gunmen held up John Brunner, an engineer for the Illinois Steel com- pany, at the garage in the rear of his home at 627 Dartmouth place, Evans- ton, last night. Brunner noticed that both were under 20 and he remarked that they were too young to be en- gaged in crime. "Don't you know that one of these guns is liable to go off?" said one of the robbers. Mr. Brunner took the hint, and the bandits took his money, $65.

SOVIET TO IMPORT FROM U. S. 6,000 EXPERT WORKERS

Skilled Artisans Needed in 5 Year Plan.

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—More than 6,000 skilled American workers will be sent to soviet Russia by the end of this year through arrangements being completed now by the Amtorg Trading corporation, it was announced by that organization today. The "organized immigration," it was explained, has become necessary as a result of the rapid development of the five year plan, which has created many new jobs and caused a shortage of skilled labor.

While the workers will go under one and two year contracts, it was explained that the majority will take their families along with the intention of settling permanently in the soviet union. In practically all cases the Americans are paying their own passage and in many cases are taking their own tools, which are admitted free of duty. In all cases the American immigrant will be given the same rights and privileges enjoyed by the native worker, such as social insurance, recreation, and the education of his children.

2,000 Already Hired.

The workers going over are skilled miners, railroad workers, bricklayers, carpenters, and so on. About 2,000 have already been hired. These came from the coal mines of Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Illinois; the metal mines of Montana and Utah, and the steel mills of Pittsburgh and Gary. Carpenters, bricklayers, and other construction workers came from all parts of the United States.

While there are a number of native-born Americans among these workers, most of them are Europeans who emigrated to the United States five, ten or twenty years ago.

100,000 Apply for Jobs.

Requests to fill the other 4,000 posts have been so numerous, it was stated, that Amtorg has had to turn down further applications. More than 100,000 applications from workers in American industry have been received during the last year, but most of them had to be rejected, largely because of the difficulty of housing so many additional workers at present.

Already 125 miners and skilled mechanics have been sent to the coal mines in the Jurnets basin and arrangements are being made to send 1,000 more by January. Three hundred tractor and automobile workers have been sent to the tractor works in Stalingrad and about 100 to the Kharkov tractor plant, the Nishni Novgorod automobile plant, and the Amo automobile plant in Moscow.

By January 600 to 800 additional men will be sent to the lumber industry in Karelia and to the Nishni-Novgorod automobile plant.

The 6,000 workers will supplement the more than 1,000 American engineers who for the last several years have been engaged in various soviet industries, and 2,500 skilled workers.

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Expressing willingness to comply with a demand of $100,000 for his release the family of Charles Marvin Rosenthal, missing broker, tonight maintained a vigil at their Long Island home for some word from his kidnapers as to how the ransom was to be paid.

Inspector Harold R. King, chief of Nassau county detectives, from the home of the 34 year old broker who has been missing since Aug. 11, disclosed every demand of the kidnapers has been acceded to so far.

Mrs. Nellie K. Rosenthal, the broker's mother, was reported on the verge of a collapse. Inspector King said the family feared that unless Rosenthal was returned soon he might be harmed.

STUDY TRAFFIC AT FESTIVAL TO AID FAIR PLANS

Methods employed in handling the 115,000 persons who attended the second annual Chicagoland Music festival under the auspices of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in Soldiers' field last Saturday night, may be incorporated in the handling of crowds at the 1933 World's Fair.

In preparation for the handling of the centennial throngs, the south park board made a comprehensive survey of the festival crowd. Under the direction of Otto Jelinek, member of the board's engineering department, tabulators and photographers were posted at all important avenues of approach. A record was made of automobiles and people, and centers of congestion were noted, photographically as well as in writing.

The festival night gathering was perfectly handled, police officials said yesterday. There were no delays either entering or leaving the field. Nor were there any motor traffic delays. Police gave much credit for this smoothness to the urging of THE TRIBUNE that patrons expecting to attend the event arrive early. They did, and this, plus skillful police arrangements by south park and city police, made the festival notable not only for its music, but its handling of crowds.

Matteson Boy Killed in Fall from Horse

Inish Ereeksen, 16 years old, of Matteson, Ill., was killed yesterday when he fell from a horse he was riding at Lincoln highway and Keeder avenue, in Matteson. One of the animal's hoofs struck the boy in the head.

FLEMINGS IGNORE BELGIAN FLAG AS THEY URGE PEACE

100,000 Meet at Shrine in Dixmude.

BY ANN SOMERS HOUSE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DIXMUDE, Belgium, Aug. 23.—That Flanders is a power to be reckoned with by King Albert's Belgian government was proved here today by 100,000 Flemings who forgot all about being Belgian citizens and in one voice swore allegiance to "Mother Flanders."

No Belgian flag, except one on the city hall, could be seen in Dixmude today. There was none but Flemish flags showing, a black lion on a yellow field. Today was the twelfth Flemish pilgrimage to the giant stone cross in Dixmude dedicated to "Christ and Flanders." The pilgrimage has become an annual Flemish pageant, demonstrating the increasing force of the Flemish racial movement against the French speaking Belgians.

Withdraw Belgian Police.

Blood was shed in skirmishes between the excited Flemings and the Belgian constabulary last year and the Belgian government this year promised to withdraw police forces, and kept the promise.

The historic plains around Dixmude, which were famous during the war, therefore, were filled only with Flemings, who arrived in 30 special trains and close to 50,000 motor vehicles, crossing the Yser on temporary pontoon bridges. The entire crowd knelt and prayed in silence for Renaat de Rudder, Flemish martyr shot by the Belgians during the world war. After mass was celebrated and speeches read exalting Flanders, the Flemish "no war movement" was launched.

Einstein Sends Message.

Albert Einstein sent an enthusiastic telegram of sympathy with the Flemish movement and in praise of pacifism, saying:

"Pacifism which does not fight is actively impotent." The reading of the telegram was hailed with wild cheers.

SAYS RICH JAPANESE MERCHANT MAY HAVE QUIT LINER FOR YACHT

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The possibility that Hisashi Fujimura transferred from the liner Belgenland to his private yacht in Long Island sound was advanced tonight by Mrs. Mary Reisner, as a part explanation of the mysterious disappearance of the wealthy Japanese. He disappeared on Aug. 14.

"I could see lights along the shore," she said, "I'm not sure whether it was Long Island or Connecticut, but I do know we were near Norwalk."

The Fujimura home is in Norwalk. Authorities have been unable to locate the Fujimura yacht or members of her crew since he vanished.

Federal authorities learned today that the shrinkage in Fujimura's bank accounts from $335,412 to $103 was not entirely due to his association with the former show girl and were running down reports of blackmail.

OLD N. Y. CHURCH FIRE IS TARTAR FOR FIREMEN

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Flames which kept eighteen companies of firemen busy for nearly two hours today wrecked All Souls Unitarian church on Fourth avenue, oldest church of that denomination in the city.

One fireman was slightly injured, and a man who had been sleeping in the adjoining rectory was helped to the street by firemen, who in turn narrowly escaped being overcome by heated air and smoke, but there were no other casualties.

CONGRESS VOTES OWN MEMBERS SPECIAL 'DRAG'

Can Park Cars Anywhere in Washington.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—[Special.] — Congressional members of Washington's famous "I Got a Drag" club will find new privileges awaiting them on return to the national capital.

From now on no congressman operating a car in the District of Columbia need worry about parking regulations. As a result of flew legislation congressmen will be given special tags and special privilege cards authorizing them virtually to park where they please, when they please, and as long as they please.

In addition, special parking zones are being established around all government establishments, making it a finable offense for any one except a congressman or a high government official to park his car in the segregated spaces.

Privileges Equal to Diplomats'.

As a result congressmen now have almost as many privileges as the diplomats and more than many of the government officials who comprise the other members of the capital's "I Got a Drag" club.

The fact that congressmen, through their own magnanimity and foresight in passing the necessary legislation, now enjoy special parking privileges in a city where parking space is at a premium even blocks away from the business and theater districts became known a few days ago when a row of bright yellow signs were erected in front of the choicest parking space in front of the navy building.

Each sign is shaped like a shield, and emblasoned thereon is the legend, "Reserved for members of congress and government officials." Also in somewhat smaller letters is printed, "By Authority of Act of Congress."

Provide Needed Space.

Inquiry led to the discovery that members of congress themselves sitting in the legislative halls of the capital last winter decided they needed parking space for their official visits to the public buildings, and having decided, acted accordingly and provided the needed space. They simply inserted into the traffic regulations for the District of Columbia the following:

"Provided, that the commissioners shall establish and locate parking areas in the vicinity of governmental establishments for use only by members of congress and governmental officials when on official business."

But congressional self indulgence did not stop with merely providing parking space in the proximity of public buildings. It further inserted into the district traffic regulations this clause:

"Provided, that hereafter congressional tags shall be issued by the commissioners under consecutive numbers, one to each senator and representative in congress for their official use, which, when used by them individually while on official business, shall authorize them to park their automobiles in any available curb space in the District of Columbia except within fire plug, fire house, loading station and loading platform limitations, and such congressional tags shall not be assigned to nor used by others.

Just how enforcers of the local traffic laws are to know when a legislator is on official business and when he is not, the lawmakers neglected to provide. The question of the latitude granted by this provision was taken to the director of traffic of the district.

"Can members of congress, under this clause, park in the two hours zone for longer than two hours?" a reported asked.

"Yes."

"Can they park in a space reserved for taxicabs?"

"Yes."

"Can they park regardless of 'no parking, entrance' signs in front of stores and theaters?"

"Yes."

Call It Class Legislation.

At the navy department two spaces, each nearly 150 yards long, one at each end of the building, have been reserved. With congress not in session and most of its members out of town this area presents a deserted aspect in comparison with the tightly packed streets around it.

In the various offices where inquiry was made concerning these latest concessions to the "I Gotta Drag club," frequent references to "class legislation" are heard. The public in Washington, accustomed as it is to condescensions to the political elite, vocally resents the drafting of its coveted parking space. But it is powerless.

6 MILLION FEET OF RARE HELIUM TO FILL AIRSHIP

Strengthening Changes to Delay Test.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—More than six millions cubic feet of rare helium gas will be used in the navy's new giant airship recently christened "Akron" by Mrs. Hoover, the department of commerce disclosed today.

The gas was produced at the department's Amarillo, Tex., helium plant established less than two years ago. Since its beginning, according to the department, the plant has produced more than 22,000,000 cubic feet of helium at an average cost of $11.47 per thousand cubic feet. Less than sixteen years ago, the department said, helium was an extremely rare gas, of which small amounts were sold at the rate of $2,500 a cubic foot. At that price, the department pointed out, it would have cost more than 16 billion dollars to fill the Akron.

Permits Change in Design.

The Akron, due to the fact that helium is noninflammable, will have many innovations in its construction, which were impossible when inflammable hydrogen gas was used as a supporting medium.

In all former airships of this type the motors have been suspended below the main body of the ship in gondolas. This was necessary to remove the chance of the motor exhaust igniting hydrogen leaking from the ship. On the Akron, however, due to the use of noninflammable helium, the motors have been placed in the body of the ship, thereby decreasing wind resistance and increasing speed of the craft. This also obviated the necessity for the crews to climb up and down open ladders from ship to gondolas when the watch is changed.

To mention one other change made possible due to the use of helium, the Akron has a gas fired cooking range. So far as is known, the department said, this is the first time an open flame has been used for cooking on board a dirigible.

Make Ship Stronger.

Akron, O., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Found in tests to have "satisfactory general airworthiness," the new navy dirigible Akron tonight nestled within its dock with its fledgling flight postponed beyond the expected date late this week to undergo "localized strengthening" of its structure.

Decision to defer the launching of the 735 foot Zeppelin, largest in the world, was arrived at by navy department and Goodyear-Zeppelin officials as thousands of persons were preparing to make an early week visit to watch ground crews practice by walking it a third of the way out, both backward and forward.

The Goodyear-Zeppelin corporation said the proposed changes are not serious and do not relate to vital construction of the ship. The changes were not detailed, the announcement merely stating that "tests have disclosed opportunities for building greater localized strength in to the ship at certain points."

GREEK EXPLORER FINDS "HOME" OF HOMER'S 'ULYSSES'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Aug. 23.—Nicholaus Kyparissis, director of the Acropolis, who returned the other day from an extensive archeological tour of Ithaca island, is certain that the mythical Ulysses, as described by Homer, was born there.

He declared that during excavations which have been made in recent months, a street was discovered which plays an important part in Homer's epic poem. Many details correspond exactly with the original.

He will shortly write an extensive review of his discoveries, and hopes thus to finally establish the birthplace of Ulysses on the island of Ithaca. Many other archeologists believe Ulysses was born and lived on the island of Cephalonia.

More Mileage Per Dollar Than Any Tire Made—Save Up to 25%

Claims and promises vanish when confronted with ALLSTATE FACTS and ALLSTATE PERFORMANCE. We've said it before—and we say it again—the success of ALLSTATE TIRES has never been matched by anything in the tire industry. 15 million ALLSTATE TIRES have been sold in the short space of 6 years. It is interesting to note that one out of every 9 tires sold for replacement is an ALLSTATE, and in Chicago ALLSTATE outsells all other tires by a big margin. Now—decide to change to ALLSTATE TIRES, and know the meaning of complete satisfaction—and at substantial savings.

ALLSTATE GUARANTEED TIRES

We Guarantee ALLSTATE tires to be first quality tires in every respect; we guarantee them to give satisfactory service WITHOUT LIMITATION AS TO TIME OR MILEAGE. If any ALLSTATE we sell fails to give you the service you have a right to expect, we will repair or replace it, charging only for the proportionate wear it has delivered. All the resources of Sears, Roebuck and Co.—the World's Largest Store—are behind ALLSTATE Tires.

In Sears ALLSTATE—Plies Are Plies and Breaker Strips Are Breaker Strips

This is a Double Woven Breaker Strip

These are PLIES

UNDER THE TREAD, ALLSTATE TIRES have as many plies as any other first quality tire. But Sears do not designate "breaker strips" as plies—it's a fact that no tire selling at ALLSTATE price of 4.98 for the 29x4.40 size contains more than 4 plies. In addition to 4 plies, ALLSTATE TIRES have a double woven Breaker Strip, superior by actual tests to any two single woven breaker strips.

NOTE: Every ALLSTATE size 6.00 or over has 6 plies and double woven breaker strip.

The National Better Business Bureau Says:

Ply

A ply is one of a number of layers of rubberized cotton fabric, either cord or square woven, extending from bead to bead, and forming the body of the tire.

Breaker

A breaker is a layer or layers of rubberized fabric or cords, extending around the tire directly over the body plies and under the tread. It is approximately the width of the tread, and serves to promote adhesion between the tread and the carcass; and to help absorb and distribute road shocks.

Breakers Are Not Plies

Breaker strips should not be enumerated as plies, because they are different in character, and perform different functions.

Breakers usually have a lower cord count to the inch, and consequently are not as strong as plies. Breakers do not extend to the bead of the tire, as the plies do.

Breaker strips do not, therefore, contribute materially to the bursting resistance of a tire, which is the main function of the plies.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

PINCHOT WANTS A SPECIAL SESSION.

Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania asks President Hoover to call a special session of congress to make provision for the relief of the destitute. At the White House it is said that the President has no such intention. The Pennsylvania governor says conditions in his state are such that thousands will go hungry next winter unless federal aid is provided; that nearly a quarter of the whole working population is unemployed and that wages are decreasing.

Pennsylvania is one of the richest states in the Union. If it takes its troubles to Washington nothing can prevent the weaker sisters from moving there with all their domestic establishment. More than half the country now is apparently willing to surrender self-dependence and throw itself on the federal taxes. Pennsylvania's peculiar economic troubles are within the control of its own citizens. Their own controversies have flattened out some of their industries.

As for the federal government, the new theories which are being worked into its scheme will dismay any one who observes them thoughtfully. They not only distort the functions of that government, but they are changing the character of the American people. Not only are the doctrines false, but operations under them fail. Washington has not had any success in its assumption of state obligations or private responsibilities. From the Volstead act to the farm board it has made worse the situation it endeavored to handle and the people have been deeply injured. American independence and self-dependence have been impaired by the interference of federal government in the affairs of American citizens. Many states already have lost all idea of trying to meet their own responsibilities. They look to the federal policeman and the federal paymaster.

When congress meets in December there inevitably will be a veritable explosion of preposterous proposals and demands. The precedents already established will be used as warrants for schemes which will be wild beyond belief. Americans who love their country must perceive the injuries which threaten it and set themselves against the false doctrines which are perverting their government.

THE CHINESE DISASTER.

When Nature decides to remind her proud youngest child of his weakness and her own power she writes her lesson in a large way across the page of China. Floods and famines befall other peoples, but the sweep of their destruction in that continent is wide and terrible. Famines and floods in China destroy millions where elsewhere the death of thousands or even hundreds spells disaster.

The present catastrophe in China is on the usual scale, and it is well that our government has lost no time in directing the Asiatic fleet to mobilize for relief. We have ships in Chinese waters for the protection of our nationals and they can now be promptly used for the help of the flood stricken Chinese. The need is urgent and enormous, but the navy is experienced and efficient in this service and can do a good deal to mitigate suffering and save lives. Back of the navy we have resources which can be drawn upon for food and other necessaries, and perhaps the proposal for using some of our wheat surplus can now be put into effect. No time should be lost in organizing our efforts.

Meanwhile the disaster must be recognized as of especial moment because of the state of China, torn by internecine warfare, which has been exhausting its limited resources for years, and seriously threatened by the extension of communist activities in the interior. The Chinese are not inclined to communist doctrine, but the destitution of millions of its people has provided a soil more fertile for Red propaganda and revolt than was foreseen by the Chinese leaders and educated class. A recent Chinese investigator reports that in the province of Kiangsi alone, a territory containing a population of about 27 millions, there is now an army under communist leadership of 300,000 soldiers. The commander of the army of the present government, also president, Chiang Kai-shek, is an able and experienced soldier, who has the aid of a former German general as chief of staff, but they have been carrying on a campaign against the communist forces without decisive results. Marshal Chiang has not been free to use all the government forces and has been restricted in other resources because of the establishment of a separate and unfriendly government at Canton. There is danger also in the north from military leaders such as the "Christian general" and others, who while not communists are incorrigible enemies of the Nanking government. Thus China is distracted and divided, and its strength, which ought to be consolidated and concentrated for the defeat of the spreading menace of communism and for the relief of acute misery caused by flood, famine, and disorder, has been dangerously depleted.

The whole situation, affecting the peace and welfare of a fourth of the human race, is one of the major tragedies of human history. Our own welfare is involved, for, apart from the serious possibilities promised by the spread of communism and of bolshevik influence to this great nation, it is clear that the restoration of peace and productive activity in China would have a widespread influence for the stabilization and recovery of world economy. American interest in saving China from Russian domination and in her restoration to the prosperity her resources and the qualities of her people insure when conditions permit, calls for the exercise of our best statesmanship. Assistance to the flood sufferers is the least difficult problem.

How to give support to the forces combating Red invasion and domestic rebellion is, we confess, a conundrum for the most astute diplomacy. Perhaps it is impossible, but a solution should be sought and too much weight, it seems to us, should not be given to the chances of failure. The state of Chinese affairs could hardly be made worse by any mistake. The essential of China's salvation is peace, and peace cannot come while the warring factions are so balanced as to prevent decision. To give substantial aid to one is to invite resentment among the others, but Moscow has not hesitated to intervene as a partisan and if Chinese factional warfare and division continue Russia in the end will control the decision. The flood catastrophe is her ally and, besides giving relief, a tactful but vigorous effort to bring about a compromise of factional rivalries or to consolidate and support the existing government should not be postponed. The United States, we think, can afford to take the initiative in this crisis.

PUBLICITY VERSUS HUSH IN CRIME NEWS.

New York burdened its crime record Friday with six dead in a holdup—three bandits, two policemen, and a child. There were thirteen wounded, including three policemen and two firemen. Before this street gun fight, forty-three innocent bystanders, according to records made public in the Panel, issued by the Association of Grand Jurors of New York County, had been wounded by bullets fired from the guns of criminals, four of them fatally, in the period from Jan. 1, 1930, to July 31, 1931. Friday's score, eliminating the policemen, added eleven to this total.

Aside from the fatalities and injuries in last week's gun fight the most sensational killing was that of July 28, when Michael Veneghallo, aged five, and four of his playmates were shot down in the street by gang assassins gunning for a man who escaped them. The little boy died of his wounds the next day. The other wounded children survived. New York is a battle front.

Among other reasons for it there is one which particularly deserves comment just now. It has been New York policy to serve decorum by sending crime news to the back page. Chicago crime could make page one in New York, but New York crime went inside. On the contrary, it was Chicago policy to recognize the enormity of the offense against the community here, it being realized that to minimize the gravity of a crime was to invite another one.

At the cost of a bad name Chicago adhered to the conviction that the best chance a city could have against its gangs would be found in uncompromising publicity. The city was not to be soothed but shocked. It was to face the realities of disorders, offenses, and crimes, knowing that self-criticism, regardless of notoriety attending exposures and publicity, was the true surgeon.

New York took the other course. It endeavored to maintain the fiction of a well ordered city free from the crimes which were making Chicago a fighting center. A comparison of the consequences may be invited. Chicago is cleaning up. New York is paying the price of trying to overlook, ignore, or minimize its criminal record. Its gangsters and thugs have taken crime at the valuation seemingly put upon it by the persons who were saving the city's face at the expense of its security. Crime news is on page one in New York now. It has shot its way there.

Editorial of the Day

LICENSE TO MURDER.
[Brooklyn Eagle.]

Most murders are committed by guns—licensed guns. The crime problem is greatly aggravated by the ease with which guns may be secured. A large percentage of the gangsters and bandits are armed legally, since they have permits.

This problem must be dealt with by more drastic state and federal laws. One of the difficulties is the obsolete constitutional provision that gives citizens the right to bear arms.

Written into the organic law at a time when firearms were necessary for protection from Indians, this provision is today serving to arm gangsters and desperadoes while local restrictions disarm peaceful citizens.

New York has recently enacted more drastic laws against possessing unlicensed weapons, but that is not enough. Permits to possess and carry weapons are granted with less safeguards than automobile licenses.

An automobile license has to fit the car for which it is issued. A gun permit does not specify the kind of gun that may be possessed, to say nothing of its number.

There are a dozen loopholes in the present law which make it easy for the thugs to acquire deadly weapons or escape punishment by hastily dispossessing themselves of guns used.

More drastic laws governing the possession of licensed weapons, and extreme penalties for illegal possession will do much to end the carnival of killing that is now going on.

The time has come to stop licensing murder. A country that undertakes to prohibit alcoholic beverages should not balk at regulating deadly weapons.

COLITIS DIETS.

DR. J. A. BARGEN and Sister M. Victor give the following as the diets on which persons with colitis are started off:

BREAKFAST—1 serving of a bland cereal, ½ cup cream, 2 strips bacon, 1 egg, 1 slice toast, 2 squares of butter, coffee, with sugar if desired, and brewer's yeast.

DINNER—1 serving meat soup without vegetables, 1 serving meat [three times a week this meat is liver], 1 medium sized potato, gravy, 1 slice bread, 2 squares of butter, 1 serving of a bland dessert such as a custard or pudding [no fruit], 2 tablespoons of cream, tea, with sugar if desired, yeast.

SUPPER—1 serving steamed rice, 1 serving meat or fish or 2 eggs, 1 slice bread, 2 squares of butter, 1 serving bland dessert [no fruit], 2 tablespoons cream, tea, with sugar if desired, yeast.

This is not a well balanced diet and is not to be long continued—that is, as the only food eaten. They call it the foundation diet because it is the starting point of the dietetic treatment. To it additions are made as rapidly as judgment dictates. The first addition is one very ripe banana. The other additions follow in the order in which they are added. After the first, no addition is made until the preceding addition has proved harmless and helpful.

One-quarter glass orange juice.

Two tablespoons vegetable purée.

Milk in the form of cream soup or milk toast.

Two glasses whole milk.

Two glasses cream. [This is added to the milk and results in a daily allowance of 4 glasses of half and half.]

Bland fruit, such as canned or cooked peaches, apricots, pears, strained apple sauce, baked apple without the skin. [In each case 1 serving.]

One-half glass tomato juice;

And, finally, 2 servings whole cooked vegetables such as young, tender carrots, beets, spinach, squash, string beans, asparagus, green lettuce, cut very fine, with mayonnaise or cooked dressing.

In these diets milk is given because it is rich in lime and phosphorus, it has a goodly number of calories, and its protein is valuable for purposes of repair. However, it is not given until late in the course of dieting, because of Alvarez's opinion that it gives a bulky residue. Vegetables and fruits are rich in iron and chlorophyll but they are not given at first because of their fiber. They are begun in the form of purées. When the whole vegetable or fruit is given it should be well ripened. The peel, seed, and coarse fiber should not be eaten. The leafy vegetables are especially rich in iron and chlorophyll; peaches and apricots are valuable in making hemoglobin; meat, liver, and eggs supply iron; yeast is rich in vitamin B complex; banana, orange juice, and tomato juice are rich in vitamin C; milk, butter, and green vegetables contain vitamins A and D.

SPREADING OF DISEASE.

Mrs. D. W. writes: Kindly advise me how the following diseases may be contracted when one is not in contact with a diseased patient; when do they become contagious; and how may they be avoided?
1. Typhoid fever.
2. Diphtheria.
3. Also, is infantile paralysis exclusively a disease of children?

REPLY.

1. This disease is spread by carriers, by food [including milk and water], and by flies. To avoid it be particular as to water, milk, and food.
2. Diphtheria is spread by carriers and by cases. To avoid it keep away from people with sore throats. Avoid carriers.
3. While infantile paralysis prevails especially among children, it attacks adults rather frequently.

BIRTH CERTIFICATES.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—[Friend of the People.]—I have two children, one about 15 and the other about 18. They were born in Montreal, Canada. I have lived in Chicago the last ten years. There is a dispute about the date of birth of my children and I have no birth certificates for them. Please advise how I could find out the exact date of the birth of my children. A. M.

The writer can verify the birth of each child by writing to the registrar general at Montreal, Canada, giving full information relative to the name and date of birth of each child, also the full names of the parents, and requesting a copy of each birth record.

HERMAN N. BUNDESEN,
Commissioner of Health.

WHICH CREDITORS!

Chicago, Aug. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Husband and wife owned a toy shop and under the name of the shop they had a business checking account, on which either party could sign checks. They also have individual Christmas club memberships as well as a joint savings account on which either party could draw checks without the signature of the other. The shop is in the hands of receivers. Can the creditors get a judgment against all or any of the three banking accounts? Could the creditors collect on any of these accounts when the bank, which is now closed, is ready to pay? J. B.

We assume that by creditors you mean creditors of the bank. In general, all assets of the bank are equally subject to the claims of all unsecured creditors. Hence, you would have to take the same dividend as other creditors. We see no reason why one of the accounts which you mention should be treated differently from another.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

VIOLATOR FINED.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—[Friend of the People.]—An automobile has been parked in front of our house night and day for the past six months. The owner does not live in the building, and the car has no 1931 license plates. Please have this car removed. G. S. E.

The owner of the car in question was arrested charged with violating section 4064 C. C. and section 14 M. V. L. He was fined $5 and no costs for violation of the first section and fined $1 and $1 costs for violation of the second section. He was also notified to take his car off the street until such time as he could procure proper licenses and he has promised to do so.

JOHN H. ALCOCK,
Acting Commissioner of Police.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

FEAR.

No, not afraid of death, nor vague hereafter,
For me, or you—
'Tis but the end of a worn and well-trod road
We travel to.

But after we have wandered down that pathway
Hand in hand,
And come to know the crossroads, all the turns
To understand,
I fear lest death, awaiting us as we come
Toward the end,
Should beckon to you first, and you would go,
As to a friend
Who draws you to his heart and holds you fast
And leaves me tied
To life, to go those last few steps, without you
By my side. ANITA McLEAN WILLISON.

SOME GOOD MAY COME from the city's financial plight. Citizens are becoming tax conscious rather than just "unconscious" from taxes. When times were good and money was plenty raises in the tax rate for any and all purposes were tolerated with only a mild minority protest. It was customary to vote "Yes" on any bond proposition without study of its merits.

Now times are different and the fiddler to be paid is having trouble with his collections. Owners of real estate, groaning under overtaxation, are in belligerent mood. Even the pay rollers, for many of whom drawing the pay envelope was their only labor, realize that being on the pay roll is not such a sinecure if there are no public funds to meet the pay roll. If this national depression not only makes citizens tax conscious but also leaves them tax conscious it will have performed one service at least.

DOING AS MUCH HARM AS GOOD

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 24, 1915.

WASHINGTON.—On the highest authority THE TRIBUNE is able to state that if, after a full investigation of the facts, the Washington administration is convinced that Germany committed a "deliberately unfriendly" act in the sinking of the steamship Arabic, diplomatic relations between the two governments will be severed immediately. Germany will not be given a chance to explain the act from its point of view if it appears to this country that its warning in the note of July 21 was disregarded. President Wilson has made up his mind not to discuss principles any further. He is dealing now with facts. Only the establishment of new facts in connection with the attack on the Arabic and a disavowal by Germany of the act of its submarine commander can therefore avert a break in the relations between the United States and that country. The administration is possessed of facts which lead it to believe that the Arabic was sunk without justification. In order that this country cannot be accused of acting hastily or ill advisedly no formal action will be taken until every possible fact in connection with the Arabic's loss is known.

BERLIN.—German troops have occupied the fortress of Ossowetz, which was evacuated by the Russians, German army headquarters announced. The fall of Ossowetz deprives the Russians of the last of their westernmost fortresses. Special reports from Petrograd indicate that the Russian position at Brest Litovsk gradually is becoming untenable and that the public is being prepared for its abandonment.

AUGUST 24, 1901.

HURON MOUNTAIN, Mich.—Mayor Harrison declared that no "grafter" in the police or any department of the city would be protected in the slightest degree. As to the case of Luke Colleran, chief of detectives, the mayor asserts that he desires the most searching investigation. Furthermore, he states that it is his desire that the system of dual heads in the police department shall cease and that Supt. Frank O'Neill is to be the head of the whole department, detective bureau and all. Even while he was making these statements a paving scandal became public and two paving inspectors, Michael Heaney, general inspector, and John Rogers, a subordinate, were suspended because costly work on the west side proved to be worthless.

CHICAGO.—James Whitford Bashford has been chosen to be president of Northwestern university. He will arrive in Chicago today, and the position will be offered to him formally. It is not known whether he will give up his work at Ohio Wesleyan to come to Evanston, but it is generally expected that he will accept the offer.

CHICAGO.—Herman Elson died after a long illness at his home, 4113 Grand boulevard, at the age of 56. He was a member of the firm of Hirsch, Elson & Co.,

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 24, 1881.

WASHINGTON.—Very critical is the condition of President Garfield. The secretary of war spoke of the situation as one of waiting. There is little to be learned from the doctors' official bulletins, for they contain no satisfactory information as to the present situation. They are but brief professional enumerations of cold facts and figures and none ventures any opinion as to the final result in the case. Dr. D. W. Bliss says that his greatest fear is from the exhaustion of the President. Another of the attending surgeons says he has apprehensions as to the action of the heart. Mr. Blaine echoed the almost universal sentiment when he said, "I can give you no ground whatever for encouragement."

THE DEBTS AND U. S. TAXATION.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—Will you permit me to correct a statement of fact appearing in the leading editorial of your paper this morning? The fourth paragraph contains a statement that by cancellation of war debts "the public debt of the American government will not only remain but be increased by the amount of such payments as are and may be paid us upon the loans of the United States to these countries." This, I believe, is a mistake. By cancellation it would be necessary to raise annually by taxation an amount equal to the payments to be received under the existing arrangements, if the United States government is to carry on its proposed program in handling the public debt of the United States. This would be increased taxation, but it would not increase the public debt of the United States government.

While the evils of cancellation are only too obvious, I am glad that THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is now taking up a serious discussion of this matter. The time is certainly appropriate for a prompt and careful study of what must be the fundamental question in regard to war debts—namely: "Are we making a larger sacrifice on account of the interference with world trade occasioned by reparations and war debts than we would be by permitting these to be written down or written off?" That we should allow cancellation without using that as a trading point to secure from the European powers such guaranties as may be possible for political and economic good behavior would certainly not be wise. It is not impossible, however, that certain advances along these lines might be achieved in connection with a revision of the payments contemplated under the existing arrangements.

ALFRED E. HAMILL.

JAPAN AND OUR PEACE EFFORTS.

Oconomowoc, Wis., Aug. 18.—The reading of this morning's editorial in THE TRIBUNE on "Japan and Our Peace Efforts" literally thrilled me with pride that there is one newspaper in America which speaks the minds of many Americans when others are inclined to be apologetic or silent when they should make the American position understood. I am a man of peace; I don't believe our country is any better than other countries; I am not a nationalist. But I don't have to be anything but a good, self-respecting, peace-loving American to say that the thoughts expressed in your editorial are my thoughts, and there are millions like me.

TO RESTORE PROSPERITY.

Chicago, July 27.—In order to restore prosperity two simple means should be authorized by the administration.

1. Permit the manufacture and sale of beer.

2. Restore normal credit for building construction. E. E. M.

THE VOICE OF THE TUG.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Is there any particularly good reason why some little three foot tug with a ten foot whistle should go tooting up and down the river, particularly when there is no occasion for a bridge to be lifted? 3 B's.

JUSTICE IN MICHIGAN.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—Your editorial today entitled, "The Michigan Atrocity," was the most absurd statement I have ever read. Of course, I am only a poor, struggling college student and incapable of thinking for myself, but I believe that for once, at least, the "World's Greatest Newspaper" is entirely wrong. But let us consider the facts:

You said that had Michigan provided a death penalty for such crimes these fiends would have hesitated in carrying out such a ghastly deed. I understand that Illinois has the right to ask the death penalty in such cases, yet I can remember no such sentences in the past few years. I suppose that here in Illinois, in Chicago especially, we have dealt with crime so capably that potential murderers have been afraid to do any actual killing. Any one must admit that such is not the case. As one outstanding example, we have Loeb and Leopold, who so coldbloodedly murdered the Franks boy. Punishment was meted out in a life sentence for each. They still rate the newspapers every time they have a birthday or a sore throat. It's a wonder that some ambitious advertiser does not capitalize on the idea, "Loeb and Leopold have never taken part in a sports contest, yet they have athlete's foot." But that is beside the point. There are hundreds of other cases here on record in which the murderers were sentenced to anywhere from a few years to life.

Furthermore, Michigan is to be congratulated for trying and convicting these three madmen in so short a time. How many criminal cases in Illinois have been finished in a six hour trial? Every one knows how long and drawn-out the Loeb-Leopold trial was. The same is true in all the other notorious criminal trials in this state. Even after the defendant is sentenced his lawyer almost invariably starts a motion for a new trial. The sad thing about this is that after the second trial the sentence is always lighter or else the prisoner is acquitted.

Of course, the whole crux of the matter is that THE TRIBUNE wants to use this case as another argument against prohibition. JOHN R. WILLIAMS.

LESS FEDERAL PATERNALISM.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—What we need during these trying times is less federal paternalism and more loyal responsibility. Divided authority is just as fatal in the larger things as it is in the smaller affairs of life.

Our federal government is a wonderful institution in normal times, but what a wonderful thing it would now be if every one of the states were thrown upon their own resources and left to work out their own problems. As it is, there is a strong tendency to assume the attitude "let uncle do it."

THE LANGUAGE OF STAMPS.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—Stamps twisted so as to make the two left corners lower than the two right corners indicate love, friendship, etc. But when the right corners are lowest the stamp says, "Good-by, hopeless love," etc. The degree the stamp is twisted also indicates the degree of love or "good-by."

PLAN 'FREEDOM OF PRESS ROOM' AT MONTICELLO

Editors Would Reawaken Loyalty to Liberty.

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Editors and publishers from all parts of the country will meet at Monticello, the Virginia home of Thomas Jefferson, on Oct. 30 as the first step in a complete program to reawaken the nation, at a time when such a reawakening is most needed, according to an announcement made today by Frank W. Gibbney, president of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial foundation.

Included in the ceremonies at Monticello is scheduled the dedication of a "freedom of the press" room in the Jefferson home. It was said that this will be the first step in a move to bring into existence in America a "hall of famous ideals." This hall is to be devoted to a recognition of the world high minded principles upon which the republic rests, and is intended as an incentive to more loyal citizenship.

First of a Series.

The "freedom of the press" room, according to the announcement, will be the first of a series of rooms to be dedicated in the old Jefferson mansion. The celebration is occasioned by the fact that in a recent decision the United States Supreme court reversed a ruling of the Supreme Court of Minnesota in what is now known as the "gag law case."

In the proceeding a Minnesota publication had attacked a group of citizens and, instead of being sued for libel, was proceeded against under an old state law which provides that the offending publication, once found guilty, could be suppressed. After an appeal, the decision was reversed by the Supreme court of the United States.

Many Editors to Take Part.

Among the speakers at the celebration will be Col. Robert R. McCormick of Chicago, who led the fight for the appeal in the Minnesota case; Claude G. Bowers of New York, and Fremont Older of San Francisco.

Mr. Bowers is chairman of the committee acting under Col. McCormick, who is honorary chairman. Several hundred other editors from various parts of the country are signed up to serve on the committee.

Capt. Christian Channing Gross, attaché of the American embassy at Ottawa, is to appear before Superior Judge Joseph B. David to establish the paternity of Anna, 2 year old daughter of his divorced wife, Mrs. Virginia Harrison Gross, daughter of Francis Burton Harrison, former governor general of the Philippines. Gross, in claiming the child as his daughter, proposes to make her heir to a third of a $1,000,000 trust fund now shared by two other children.

The child was born to Mrs. Gross three months after she and her husband separated in Paris in January of 1928. Gross avers he knew nothing of her existence until recently. According to Robert E. Cantwell Jr., attorney for Gross, the child is variously known as Anna Gross and Anna De Zayas. Gross had placed a charge of misconduct against Mrs. Gross and Marius de Zayas, an artist, in France.

Mrs. Gross is seeking modification of a divorce decree won by Gross before Superior Judge Robert E. Gentzel to provide alternate custody of the children. She has an action pending in New York claiming $250,000 of the trust fund.

MYSTERY DEATHS OF 2 CHILDREN LAID TO APPLES

Chippawa Falls, Wis., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—The mystery of the deaths of two children of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paulson, Trout Creek, near here, was cleared up last night following the death of the second child.

Stanley, 20 months old, died Monday while the parents were taking him to a doctor. The same evening, Stella, 4, his sister, also became ill but her condition did not become serious till Friday, when she was brought here.

Neighbor children informed the parents that they had seen the children on Monday eating green apples and later green hazelnuts.

U. S. SHIP OWNERS WANT TO HAUL WHEAT TO BRAZIL

Insist Farm Board Left Them Out of Deal.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Agitation by the American Steamship Owners' association, representing 90 per cent of all commercial vessels operating under the United States flag, may force a reopening of the deal whereby the United States trades 25 million bushels of wheat for 1,050,000 bags of coffee owned by the government of Brazil.

EDWIN DUFF. [Harris & Ewing Photo.]

A movement with that end in view was initiated by Edwin H. Duff, the association's attorney, in the hope that under a new swapping arrangement the American merchant marine would be given an opportunity to move part of the big consignment of wheat and coffee. Under the present arrangement Brazil has contracted to pay all freight costs involved in moving the freight to Brazil and the coffee to the Bush terminal in New York.

Hard Hit by Depression.

Spokesmen for the American shipping organizations assert this will result in leaving American ships out in the cold while British ships obtain the lucrative contracts for moving the bartered commodities. Already hard hit by the business depression, American shipping interests now contend that somewhere along the line an official blunder was made by the American government. Their contention, as outlined by Mr. Duff in appeals to senators in seaboard states, is that the farm board, the shipping board, or some one should have made certain that at least a portion of the commodities would be shipped in American bottoms.

Mr. Duff said today that in order to make sure that American steamships would be used in carrying the wheat he had taken the matter up with United States shipping board officials and stressed the importance of the wheat-coffee deal to American ship owners. He was assured, he said today, that the shipping board would take the question up with the federal farm board and endeavor to have the coffee and wheat shipped in American bottoms.

Mr. Duff said that he went to see James C. Stone, chairman of the farm board, and asked him why American shipping interests had been left out of the deal.

"We never thought of that," Mr. Duff quoted Mr. Stone as saying.

Mr. Stone said that it did not occur to him that the American shippers would be interested. He said that no one from the shipping board had discussed the matter with him prior to the closing of the deal.

Move to Help Farmer.

"Our main object was to help the farmers by disposing of the wheat," Mr. Stone said, "Our prime duty is to the agricultural sections. From the beginning of the deal our object was to persuade the Brazilian government to pay all the freight both on the wheat and the coffee. That is being done. The question of shipping the wheat in American bottoms was not discussed."

Mr. Stone took the position that the shipping board or the shipping interests should have brought the matter of using American ships to their attention before the deal was concluded. He said today that it was doubtful if the agreement could be reopened. An appeal is to be made to President Hoover to intercede in behalf of American shipping, Mr. Duff said.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—After 68 hours of wrangling the deadlocked jury of seven women and five men in the murder trial of David H. Clark, former deputy district attorney and candidate for Municipal judge, was discharged today by Superior Judge Stanley Murray.

Eleven of the jurors believed Clark's story that he shot Charles H. Crawford, political boss, and his editor-ally, Herbert F. Spencer, in self-defense, and voted for acquittal.

A woman juror declared Clark was "one of God's noblemen." In contrast, the sole juror who held out for conviction declared he believed Clark demanded graft from the slain men and when it was refused shot both of them.

It is expected that Clark will be retried on the Spencer murder charge.

One juror said there were ten ballots; on the first three the vote was 10 to 2 for acquittal. After that it remained 11 to 1.

ACCUSE GERMANY OF AIDING CHIANG IN CHINESE WAR

CANTON, China, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The Canton Kuomintang called a massmeeting today to "take steps against Germany, on the ground that it has supplied Chiang Kai-Shek, president of the Nanking government, with war materials and over 100 German advisers." The Kuomintang said it was informed Chiang's advisers were instructing his army in the use of poison gas.

Acting upon the advice of Lin Sen, National Kuomintang supervisor and signatory of the document impeaching Chiang Kai-Shek, which started the rebellion against Nanking, officials of the southern government today said the National party congress for the election of officers will not convene in Canton next October as previously planned.

RUSH RELIEF TO CHINA; 1,000 DIE IN FLOODS DAILY

Agencies Unable to Cope with Disaster.

HANKOW, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Relief was rushed to the flooded Yangtse river valley today, but with the knowledge that many more thousands will die before measures can prove effective for the homeless, starving and pestilence ridden millions.

Careful surveys reveal that at least 1,000 persons are dying each day in the district which centers around Wuchang, Hanyang and Hankow. Sixty thousand square miles of Hupeh and Hunan provinces are covered by water five to twenty feet deep, and seven million people are homeless and destitute in those provinces.

Toll to Reach 2,000,000.

It was a physical impossibility to estimate the number of deaths, but there was little doubt they would reach 2,000,000 in Hupah and Hunan provinces before the floods abate and ravages of disease and famine end. ravages of disease and famine end, and it was certain that remote sections would add to the big death list.

The American Asiatic fleet, acting on orders from Washington, prepared to bring aid to the distressed areas, but was limited because gunboats were not fitted to convey large numbers of refugees nor to transport great quantities of supplies.

Relief societies worked feverishly to aid the destitute, but the tremendous need for relief surpassed their capacities.

Throw Bodies in River.

In Hankow hundreds of thousands, destitute, with their homes covered by the swirling waters, were starving. As they succumbed to hunger or disease their bodies were thrown into the Yangtze, together with dead dogs, donkeys, and horses.

Some measure of relief was afforded today with announcement that the flood level appeared stationary. A survey party reported the Han river, one of the contributing factors to the Yangtse flood, was falling.

Mexican Floods Kill 100.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Spread of disease and an invasion of serpents have added to the horrors faced by survivors of the recent floods in Vera Cruz, Tamaulipas, San Luis Potosi and Guanajuata, caused by cloudbursts and overflowing of the Tamesi, Panuco and tributary rivers.

Dispatches from the flood regions today said the waters had receded from most of the territory, but yellow fever, dysentery, and other diseases had broken out among thousands of survivors.

Hordes of snakes were traversing the mud covered sector looking for dry ground and attacking every one in their path, the dispatches said. It is estimated that more than 100 are dead.

OHIO BLIND TO STAGE ATHLETIC GAMES AT WEEK'S ENCAMPMENT

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Ohio's blind men will hold an unique all-week picnic at Camp Livingston, near here, the week beginning Sept. 8, as a result of the activities of the Cincinnati Association for the Welfare of the Blind, under the supervision of Calvin S. Glover, superintendent of the association, founded through the efforts of City Judge Samuel Bell of Cincinnati, known as America's blind police judge.

The United Jewish Social Agencies has donated the use of the camp for the picnic. The blind welfare association is believed to be the only permanent American organization maintaining extensive shops where the blind are employed making various useful articles.

Many amusements and games and water sports will be participated in by the Ohio sightless for the first time recorded.

4 DOCTORS PASS ON CONDITION OF WINKLER TODAY

Benton Harbor, Mich., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Sheriff F. J. Cutler said today there would be a consultation of four doctors today to examine August [Gus] Winkler, alleged gangster, critically injured three weeks ago in an automobile crash near here.

Winkler, at Mercy hospital since the crash, is improving, his physician, Dr. Rollan J. Brown, said. Brown will be one of the consulting physicians. A consultation was asked by the state after Gov. W. M. Brucker decided at a hearing at Lansing this week Winkler should be returned to Nebraska. Extradition was granted on petition of State's Attorney Max Towle, who claims Winkler was implicated in the $2,000,000 Lincoln [Neb.] National bank robbery in 1930. Winkler again was visited by Detective George Timmie, Toledo, O., who failed to connect him with the 1925 murder of a policeman and $200,000 mail robbery.

"Glad he told the truth," said Winkler.

Hospital Reports Girl Recovering from Burns

Bernice Michaelson, 17 years old, who was severely burned early yesterday in a fire in the second floor apartment at 1234 Millard avenue which caused the death of their grandfather, Isaac Michaelson, 95 years old, from shock, was reported to be recovering in the county hospital last night. Miss Belle Mann, 20 years old, was returning to her home across the street when she saw flames in the Michaelson home. She roused members of the sleeping family and helped them out. Bernice was badly burned, but her sister, Rachel, 19, was only slightly injured. Mr. Michaelson was taken to the home of a neighbor, where he fell into a faint and died before a physician could be found.

AUTO INJURIES FATAL TO WOMAN.

Charlotte, Mich., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Thomas Crane, Clinton, died at Eaton Rapids, near here, early today, the result of injuries received yesterday when a car driven by Lehman Bailey, Clinton, in which she and her husband were passengers, skidded in loose gravel and crashed into a tree.

Count Karolyi Forms New Government for Hungary

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 23.—Count Michael Karolyi, who was named as chancellor-designate following the resignation of Count Bethlen, succeeded in forming a cabinet today, of which he following are members: Count Karolyi, chancellor and minister of foreign affairs; Franz Keresjtes Fischer, minister of the interior; Tiber Zsitvaj, minister of justice; Julius Goemboes, minister of war; Adalbert Ivady, minister of agriculture; Adalbert Kenez, minister of commerce; Ludwig Walko, minister of finance, and Alexander Ernszt, minister of culture.

Mother of Girl Accused of Holdup at Point of Gun

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Millie Arone, 19 years old, mother of a two and a half year old girl also named Millie, was held by police today on a charge of having robbed George Scheffel, operator of a lunch counter, of $165 "at the point of a gun." In Second avenue, she was known as Mrs. Millie Camack, and was living with her mother and a sister and brother.

PALESTINE ARABS RIOT; 6 HURT IN POLICE CLASH

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

JERUSALEM, Aug. 23.—Six Arabs were injured, four of them seriously, in clashes with the police today at Nablus, 50 miles north of here, following the arrest last night of two Arab Nationalist extremists, Dr. Sidky Malhas and Jamal Kasem. The arrested men were sentenced to seven days in prison on charges of having made seditious speeches protesting against the government granting armories to outlying Jewish colonies.

When the news of the arrests spread hundreds congregated outside the police station shouting "Down with the British government! Down with Zionism! Long live Arab independence!" Police called on them to disperse peaceably, and failing to get any response used their rifle butts and clubs, arresting several demonstrators.

All stores are closed in Nablus and the streets are thronged with police attempting to disperse crowds.

BITTER CAMPAIGN ENDS IN QUEBEC; ELECTION TODAY

Victory for Taschereau Is Predicted.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

QUEBEC, Aug. 23.—The shadows in the city of Quebec are those of the revolution cast by the present political instability and by the issues of the provincial legislative campaign were lifted tonight with great meetings in Quebec and Montreal.

From the plains of Abraham, through the valley of Angels and from the farms that extend along the St. Lawrence, the "habitants" and villagers of the ancient province depended upon by the premier party to come to the polls today for the old order and save it from defeat.

In the crowded city districts, along the narrow winding streets of the ward, from the taverns and labor halls, the opposition, which sponsors the revolution in the name of the conservative party, hopes to roll up a vote of protest such as has not been seen in the province for 34 years.

Hold Last Meetings.

The premier, L. A. Taschereau, now 67 years old, ended his campaign tonight at a mass meeting in St. Peter's ward, Quebec, while his opponent, Hon. Camillien Houde of Montreal, made his last appeal in his own city.

Damase Maher, chief Conservative organizer for the province, said today that his party, which now has but 11 seats in parliament, expects to run the total up to 62 tomorrow night. His prediction embraces chiefly the industrial districts. C. G. Power, Liberal party organizer, is more moderate in his claims, declaring that the Liberal party will be returned to power by a majority of 50 seats.

Return of the Liberals by a greatly reduced majority is predicted by most neutral observers. While this may be the entering wedge for a new social order, it is hardly felt that Quebec, which is utterly conservative in temperament, is ready to turn to schemes of state insurance and public ownership as outlined in the campaign of Mr. Houde.

Country Districts Calm.

All up down the St. Lawrence valley today found the people in a calm mood, apparently unexcited by any impending political uprising. Premier Taschereau holds his seat from his district and at the last election was returned by acclamation. He has a contest this year, but anticipates a great difficulty in winning here.

It is a countryside of small farms which few changes have taken place for hundreds of years. The farms are narrow, extending from the river to the hills of evergreen. There is a catholic shrine every few miles, and every village is dominated by a gold dome church.

It is with great confidence that the premier appeals to his electorate, although the women cannot vote. He tells them of his long service, the part in the land movement which has benefited 2,000 families, the $18,000,000 spent on roads, and the plan that is now for work this winter, including the building of a bridge from the mainland to the Isle of Orleans. This is partly a federal project to connect Quebec with the island a few miles down the river, where Cartier first landed and established French rule over the Indians.

Houde Attacks Liberals.

The Conservative appeal has been very stimulating and exciting in the rural districts, and it has included a strain of strict nationalism and pointed benefits to the French Canadian. Mayor Houde of Montreal, the party leader, has accused the Taschereau government of hiding a deficit by juggling accounts, and has intimated that there are many scandals waiting to be uncovered in Quebec.

SLOW WORKER DIES OF INJURY.

Walter C. Isted, 63 years old, 8240 Crandon avenue, died yesterday in the Illinois Central hospital of a brain concussion sustained Saturday in the machine shop of its steel plant.

SMART FARMERS IN MICHIGAN ARE MAKING A PROFIT

Ability Proves Itself in Time of Stress.

BY PAUL POTTER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kalamazoo Mich., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Farm animals are being counted upon, as they always have in the past in American agriculture, to carry the better class of Michigan farmers through hard times, it has become evident from a survey of the rural conditions just completed in the state.

In fact, the difference between live stock and grain or fruit farming conditions is so pronounced this year that one can be safe in selecting the areas of the state most heavily populated with hogs, cattle, sheep and poultry, and measure the lowest percentage of farmers "in the red."

The most striking change that has been brought about in Michigan agriculture since the war has come in the last eighteen months, when farmers over the state have turned almost completely to wheat as a feed crop. Even so, only the best manager type who was in position to utilize this 35 cent crop which is a drug on the market is deriving the profit.

Credit to Thrifty Only.

One of the chief reasons for this, just as it is with general businesses in the city, is that credit conditions in the country have tightened up until only the farmer who has in the past demonstrated by results that he could be a conservative and dependable risk is able to launch into extensive feeding operations this year.

A small town banker in this county gave a typical view of the hundreds of banks which in former years lent vast sums into farm lands and farm operations. He said his bank didn't have a nickel to put out on live stock feeding this year, but he could name several men in the neighborhood who would be able to swing their own financing because they always seemed to come out ahead on their feeding or kept losses to a minimum.

This premium on ability by the financial interests can be traced by any one interested back to at least twenty-five farms in every county where men are making money this year, and have made their farms pay repeatedly in recent years.

Finds Feeding Profitable.

"I would rather feed hogs that will sell now at 8 cents a pound on the 35 cent wheat today than I would feed the hogs that were bringing 21 cents a pound in the flush period of the war," declared a farmer in Cass county who is raising over 500 pigs this year and is using up the cheap grain of his community for a sure profit.

"Then we had to pay $2 a bushel for corn, and the waste of feed or loss of an animal was expensive. Even now, with a wider margin, of course, farmers could flood the market with meat, but as it is we find no overproduction."

Along the western counties of Michigan, just out of the truck crops and fruit sections, poultrymen who didn't become panicky and sell out their breeding flocks are now using this cheap wheat to produce eggs at a profit. The improvement in poultry and dairy market prices in recent weeks has furnished for the shrewd farmers a quick recovery from the earlier glut in the butter and egg market. They match the 35 cent wheat with 25 and 28 cents a dozen eggs, and come out ahead while their neighbors who sold off their flocks are unable to finance a recoup quickly.

Effects of Government Aid.

Between the outstanding and successful farms of the state, such as those in Lenawee county where more feeding is being done than in any other section of the state, lie hundreds of mediocre to losing out farms. Delinquency in taxes and failure to meet bank obligations is for them as well as government officials a serious concern.

The contrast between the able and "do as father did" type of farmers, as brought out in this week's surveys, is as striking as it is indicative of the time when the capable owners will have been actual gainers from the recent period of stress in farming.

Even in the northwest and eastern fruit belt of Michigan, where federal farm board funds have been loaned in large amounts to help carry a surplus of cherries and other fruits, the farmers are in strained financial condition. They continue to produce at a loss, however, with storage holdings on hand sufficient for a full year's demand. Instead of directing them into other types of farming, or attempting to guide them into smaller yields of higher quality, the farm board simply continues to loan cheap money with which the oversupply is stored up. Cherry growers received 2 to 5 cents a pound this season, as against 12 to 25 cents in recent years, in spite of this government support.

Raise Garden or Be Fired, Ford's Edict to Employes

Iron Mountain, Mich., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Henry Ford, Detroit automobile manufacturer, yesterday, announced a "no garden, no job" plan which he said he believed would free his men at the local Ford plant from the effects of temporary business depressions.

HENRY FORD.
[Harris & Ewing Photo.]

"Next year," he said, "every man with a family who is employed at the plant will be required to have a garden of sufficient size to supply his family with at least a part of its winter's vegetables or he will find himself out of a job."

Will Supply Necessary Land.

Workers who have no available space for gardens will be supplied with land by the company, he said. Ford said that during his two weeks' stay with E. C. Kingsford, his Michigan peninsular representative, he had studied the problem considerably and had decided there was no use trying to help a man who did not attempt to help himself by raising foodstuffs.

Ford said the company would provide expert advice on gardening for those employes not familiar with the hoe and weed puller. An investigation will be started soon, he said, to determine which employes needed instruction.

Must Learn to Help Selves.

"When the people of our country learn to help themselves they will be benefited far greater than they would be by unemployment insurance as is being suggested in congress to avoid the dole system," he said. "If our agricultural plans are adopted throughout the country such a thing as the dole system need never be thought of."

He said he believed if the plan proved successful here other companies would follow his lead.

DO-X to Resume Flight to New York Tomorrow

Miami, Fla., Aug. 23.—(AP)—The world's largest airplane lay at anchor in Biscayne bay today, a great gray hulk which has just completed, after numerous delays, a flight touching at each of the four continents of the Atlantic. Officers of the DO-X said today they plan to resume the flight to New York Tuesday. During the nine visiting hours since its arrival yesterday, 3,500 persons have gone aboard.

Twenty Are Arrested as 2 Cops Smell Moonshine

An odor of liquor interrupted the conversation of Lieut. Sylvester Cotter and Sergt. Stephen Grace of the Des Plaines street station yesterday as they were passing 716 West Adams street. An investigation disclosed Thomas Fitzgerald, 40 years old, dispensing drinks to twenty men from behind an improvised bar. The twenty men were arrested as inmates of a disorderly house and 90 pints of moonshine confiscated. Fitzgerald was charged with being the keeper.

New Tooth Cleanser Expels Mouth Germs That Antiseptics Can't Reach

Walgreen's Offer Free Pamphlet Explaining New Principle in Mouth Care

Call at any Walgreen store and ask for the free pamphlet on "Care of the Teeth" which explains a wonderful new principle in mouth hygiene. For the first time, the well known law of osmosis, explained in this pamphlet, is used in the care of the mouth. Thus Ora-Noid performs six benefits in the mouth instead of one. A complete oral prophalaxis in itself.

More Than a Cleanser

First of all, Ora-Noid is a most efficient tooth cleanser. It keeps the teeth sparkling white. But it does much more!

It cleans the mouth; keeps the gums in condition; strengthens all the tissues of the mouth, including the tongue, the palate, the throat and the mucous membrane on the inside of the cheeks. It helps nature to make repairs.

No Mouth Wash Needed

Ora-Noid is not an antiseptic. It does not attack or destroy any tissue. It expels bacteria. Through osmotic force, it flushes them out from those microscopic crypts of the tongue and tissue that no antiseptic can possibly reach. Ora-Noid keeps the mouth clean. Use it tonight—you'll wake up tomorrow with a clean, fresh taste in your mouth!

Keeps Mouth Healthy

If your teeth are sound, keep them so by the use of Ora-Noid. If you already have the slightest touch of pyorrhea, loose teeth, receding or bleeding gums, you need Ora-Noid—at once! Use Ora-Noid and your mouth will be not only clean, but healthy, too.

Walgreen's offer Ora-Noid Mouth Powder on a binding money-back guarantee. Get a $1 can, and if you do not find that it does all that is claimed for it, your money is cheerfully refunded.

Call for special Ora-Noid Pamphlet on "Care of the Teeth"—distributed free to those who call at any Walgreen store.

GIFFORD STARTS TO MAP RELIEF PROGRAM TODAY

Headquarters to Be Set Up in Capital.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—The task of organizing the relief agencies of the country to meet any unemployment crisis that may develop this winter will be started tomorrow by Walter S. Gifford, the New York utility executive, who was appointed by President Hoover to set up a national relief organization in the capital.

WALTER S. GIFFORD.

Following two days of conferences at the Rapidan fishing camp between President Hoover, Mr. Gifford, and other advisers, it was decided that the first and important relief step to be taken at this time was that of organizing the relief agencies of the country. As a result Mr. Gifford will establish national headquarters in the commerce building in Washington the first thing tomorrow and begin his task at once.

Later, as the Gifford relief organization machinery grows, more commodious quarters will be secured. The incidental and clerical expenses of the relief organization will be provided out of funds voted the various government departments interested in relief work.

Plans worked out by the President and Mr. Gifford call for complete organization of the entire country for the relief task the nation must face this winter. All relief agencies are to be welded into one system so there will be no duplication of effort and no section of the country will be neglected. Under the direction of the Washington organizations communities which have not yet begun to prepare for the winter are expected to make new efforts to obtain funds with which to supply local needs.

Any Dole Move Opposed.

Both the President and Mr. Gifford were represented today as being in agreement that the relief load must be carried by combined state and community effort. While the federal government will aid in organizing relief activities and in the drive for funds, every attempt is to be made to frustrate all attempts to pass "dole" legislation.

The President was represented today as greatly pleased by the national reaction to his campaign to organize the country for a concerted drive to combat any crisis that may develop as a result of unemployment. One telegram received today came from Gov. Louis L. Emmerson of Illinois. In his message the Illinois governor asserted his confidence that the people of his state realized the responsibility they owed to the unemployed.

Other Governors Heard From.

Promises of coöperation were received also from Governors John G. Winant of New Hampshire and William Tudor of Maine. "We will be glad to coöperate with your committee in any way possible," Gov. Winant telegraphed. "The people of Maine," said Gov. Tudor, "appreciate the plans of the President for meeting unemployment problems and will do their share."

DIETERICH PLANNING TO SEEK DEMOCRATIC SENATE CANDIDACY

Beardstown, Ill., Aug. 23.—(AP)—W. H. Dieterich, congressman-at-large, said at his home here today that he was "seriously contemplating" running for the Democratic nomination for United States senator in the approaching 1932 elections.

Dieterich, whom political rumors have connected with the 1932 gubernatorial contest, said he would have a formal statement to make this week, defining his political stand. The statement probably will be made Wednesday, he said, at the "Democratic day" celebration at the Illinois state fair at Springfield.

Congressman Dieterich plans to be in Chicago tomorrow, but said he would have nothing to say at that time concerning his political plans.

5 YOUTHS HELD ON CHARGE THEY TRIED EXTORTION

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Five Brooklyn youths, accused of demanding $300 from the father of Rose Curry, 15 years old, for the return of his daughter who disappeared on Aug. 19, were arrested today charged with attempted extortion. The five denied knowledge of the whereabouts of the girl.

Caleb Curry, the father was in his dress shop when he received a telephone call from a man who offered to return the missing daughter on receipt of $300. The father told him to come to the store, that the money would be waiting. Then he called the police and five detectives were sent to the scene.

A half hour later an automobile containing the five youths drove up. The arrests followed.

There's Day of Laughter in These 2 Books

Spoofing Ranges from Africa to School.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Coconut Oil," by Corey Ford [Brewer, Warren & Putnam].
"Still More Boners" [Viking].

This Monday needn't be blue for anybody who can read. Two books will see to that. They will turn it into a red letter day. Today's litmus papers we might call them. "Coconut Oil" and "Still More Boners" appearing on the same day make that day the funniest of the fall.

COREY FORD.

Both of them are ... already well established purveyors of chuckles, chortles, and ... over overlaughter. Corey Ford has told us before of the adventures of June Triplett in "Salt Water Taffy," and "The Van Dine Murder Case" is one of the most esoteric of spoofs. The authors of "Still More Boners" are known—as a type if not as individuals—through their generous contributions to "Boners" and "More Boners." This volume is dedicated in grateful acknowledgment "To the Pupils without whose diligent efforts this book would never have been written." Like its predecessors, "Still More Boners" consists of the mistakes which pupils have recorded correctly in their examination papers. But more of this anon.

First let us anoint ourselves with coconut oil. A book to end books on Africa it might be called, because there isn't a spoof left worth spoofing about the literature of the dark continent when June Triplett has finished the record of her hair curling and big game smashing through. June meets every known animal, local and imported, that ever filled African story or song [or movie]. She does the voodoo that you do [Mr. Seabrook] so well. She meets Trader Horn's white goddess, Nina [and Tena, Teena, Twelva and Thirteena]. She watches her faithful servant, Old Britches, being made ready for soup, steaks and chops, and she obligingly [as Mr. Seabrook did] includes recipes for the cooking of an explorer to the cannibals' taste. She meets Ingagi in the form of Harry Ape, who carries her deep into the jungle to a bed of ferns where he points out to her the rarest form of them all and goes all ... over nature. A herd of elephants, headed by one who never forgot the face of Chester Drawers, June's camera man, rescue Old Britches just as he is being put into the boiling caldron.

June meets a group of gentlemen from Chicago who declare that they are racketeers and, since business isn't what it once was in their home town, they have taken over Africa and they are organizing the big game hunting racket on a sound Chicago basis. The witch doctor whom she consults is listed in the Africa Who's Hoodoo, or Witch's Which. She meets a Pygmy of the tribe of Itsi-Bitsi who offers her the native drink called "The Pigmy Up" after he had taken her for a ride in his Baby Austin and had explained that the village wasn't bad for a small town, because they had "a Little Theater, two pigmy newspapers—tabloids, of course—a jail [naturally some petty crime goes on in this tiny community, June footnotes. During my visit, for example, they caught a pigmy smuggler and put him on the speck] and an eighteen hole municipal Tom Thumb golf course, over by the miniature railway station."

Not only the words but the pictures in the book are worth the price of admission. They were taken on the spot [what spot isn't designated] and show June and the rest of her gang, and people in the know will recognize among the faces [not the black ones] such celebrities as Rudy Vallee [who is Chester Drawers], Frank Sullivan [who is Old Britches], Heywood Broun [who is King Em-Bon-Pwan—very fitly indeed], Amelia Earhart and Bernt Balchen, who pilots an 1887 bicycle to Africa, with an umbrella for a parachute; Peggy Hopkins Joyce, who is Nina, the white goddess; William Beebe, who is Dr. Tilley, B. B.; Jack Dempsey, who is Harry Ape, and assorted other characters portrayed by O. O. McIntyre, Dorothy Parker, Marc Connelley, Russell Crouse, Neysa McMein, Grantland Rice, Rube Goldberg, Will Durant, etc., etc.

"Still More Boners" has so many quotable things in it [and so many unquotable ones—that are surprising historical and educational pronouncements—we can merely assure you that they're on every page, and share only a few of them with you.

"Socrates was a heavy drinker of hemlock and in time it corrupted his morals."

"Dick Turpin suffered capital punishment twelve times, but managed to survive."

"Anatomy is the study of heavenly bodies."

"Heredity means if your grandfather didn't have any children, then your father probably wouldn't have any, and neither would you, probably."

"Strategy is when you don't let the enemy know that you are out of ammunition, but keep on firing."

"Virgin forest is a forest in which the hand of man has never set foot."

"'The Marseillaise' was the theme song of the French revolution."

"Henry VIII. by his own efforts increased the population of England by 40,000."

MOVIE GOSSIP

CONCHITA MONTENEGRO.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Hitting back at the Wampas, press agents' society, for failure to include any of the Fox talent in its recent baby star selections, the Fox Film corporation today anounced its own list of promising film beauties and designated them as debutante stars. They are: Linda Watkins of Boston, Mass., a blonde; Conchita Montenegro, of Spain, brunette; and Helen Mack of Rock Island, Ill., a redhead.

The announcement intimated "pernicious motives for the promotion of undeserving aspirants" on the past of Wampas. Miss Watkins came from the legitimate stage and was featured in "Trapped" in Chicago. Miss Mack appeared in several of George Cohan's stage shows. Miss Montenegro formerly was a dancer.

"Only a person who is able to create on the screen, especially to create a new type, can be said to be a star in its fullest and most complete sense," declared Earnest Lubitsch, director, today. Those to come under his classification he named as: Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Charles Chaplin, Gloria Swanson, Harold Lloyd, Rudolph Valentino, Clara Bow, Pola Negri, George Arliss, Buster Keaton, Marlene Dietrich, Norma Shearer, Emil Jannings, Greta Garbo, Adolphe Menjou, Maurice Chevalier, and "Yes, there are undoubtedly some others, but not many."

BY ROBERTA NANGLE.

If you're looking for an authentic picture of one of the seamy sides of life, you can't go wrong on "Traveling Husbands." With humor that's coarse, bitter, and real, it tells a tale of the salesman who's a respectable citizen at home and a giddy Lothario on the road. It's not a pretty story, but a moral one, for when it's ended you feel sorry, not for the trusting wife who keeps the home fires burning, but for the shady ladies who help the boys run expense accounts.

There are five jolly drummers in the story. One is a regular villain, another is middle aged, conservative, and road weary. The third is an ambitious youngster chuck full of optimism. The remaining two are cheap, silly, but harmless. All five of them arrive in Detroit and engage a hotel suite wherein the underwear salesman's samples are to be displayed.

They call up some girls, and pretty soon the ginger ale and white rock orders begin to come thick and fast. The villain leaves the party in search of romance and excitement, and finds it in a wealthy young lady who's bent on acquiring a bad reputation to get even with her negligent dad. In the small hours of the morning he brings her back to the hotel and to the party that's getting louder and lower in the meantime. What happens then I shan't reveal, but I'll say it's exciting and worth seeing.

The picture is well acted and direct throughout and keeps you amused and interested. Evelyn Brent is particularly good as a bitter, disillusioned lady of the evening. Other good ones are Spencer Charters, Hugh Herbert, Frank McHugh and Carl Miller as the playful drummers. Constance Cummings does well enough to deserve bigger and better rôles and Frank Albertson, as the youthful optimist, is all that he should be.

"MURDER BY THE CLOCK."
Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Edward Sloman.
Presented at the Roosevelt theater.
THE CAST.

Officer Cassidy	Regis Toomey
Jane	Sally O'Neil
Mrs. Julia Endicott	Blanche Frederici
Herbert Endicott	Walter McGrail
Miss Roberts	Martha Maddox

"Murder by the Clock" is a spooky thriller that's more ludicrous than thrilling. Despite three murders, an underground passage leading to a tomb, a weird noise issuing from a grave, and other scary touches, the picture becomes more of a farce than a mystery.

Perhaps the chief fault lies in the casting of Lilyan Tashman as a glamorous vampire who drives men to committing murders for her and covers up her tracks by vamping some more men. Lilyan can wear clothes as few women can, but there is a lot of things she ought to learn about acting. She wears marvelous gowns throughout the picture, but her behavior is mechanical and lifeless.

William Boyd of "What Price Glory" fame gives his usual fine performance as the detective who finally brings the wicked lady to justice, and Walter McGrail is appropriately pathetic as her weakminded husband. Among others present are Regis Toomey, who plays a likeable and dumb cop; Irving Pichel, who does a hideously convincing impersonation of an idiot, and Sally O'Neil, looking pretty and slim after her years of dieting down to the requirements of the camera.

THE STAGE

LEE SHUBERT, upon returning to New York after a European trip of several weeks, has issued a statement in which he declares himself confident that the legitimate theater faces a more prosperous season than it had last year. Basing his deductions on observations made abroad, Mr. Shubert says that the fact that twenty-two theaters in London were open and prospering during his visit convinced him that the English public is losing interest in the talking pictures. He foresees the same trend in the United States.

Mr. Shubert's latest acquisitions are John Van Druten's London success, "After All"; "The Dream Express," a Viennese musical play with a score by Robert Katscher, and a new play by H. M. Harwood and R. F. Gore-Browne entitled "King, Queen, Knave," which will first be presented in London. An earlier play by Mr. Harwood, "Cynara," which was announced by the Shuberts for last season, is again scheduled, this time with Philip Merivale in the rôle played by Sir Gerald du Maurier in London. Mr. Shubert has also arranged for the production of C. L. Anthony's "Autumn Crocus" in New York by the firm of MacGowan & Reed, in association with Basil Dean.

Among the players signed by Mr. Shubert are Robert Loraine and Haidee Wright, who will appear in Strindberg's play, "The Father," to be preceded by a one-act play, "Barbara's Wedding," by Sir James M. Barrie. Margaret Rawlings, Alaistair Sim and Wilfrid Walter of the London cast of "The Venetian" will appear in its American staging. Mady Christians, an American whose career has been confined to Europe, will be seen in a musical show, probably "Arms" and the Maid," with a score by Jean Gilbert. According to Mr. Shubert's statement, Richard Tauber, the German tenor, is likely to be heard here in Lehar's operetta, "Land of Smiles," in which he appeared in London last season.

The dramatization by J. B. Priestley and Edward Knoblock of Mr. Priestley's novel, "The Good Companions," will be presented with an English and American cast, Mr. Shubert said. Julian Wylie, who staged the play in London, will direct the production. The settings used abroad will be reproduced.

The Chicago Civic Shakespeare society's company will begin rehearsals Thursday, Sept. 3, under the direction of George Vivian. The repertory will consist of three plays—"The Merchant of Venice," "Julius Cæsar," and "Hamlet." This means, one may infer, that the Chicago engagement will be for only three weeks. Negotiations are in progress for the use of a theater within the loop instead of the Civic.

Helen Menken, new leading woman of the civic Shakespeareans, came to town last Saturday. She will appear as Portia in "The Merchant of Venice," Calpurnia in "Julius Cæsar," and Ophelia in "Hamlet."

Plans for the transplantation of "The Green Pastures" from the Mansfield theater, New York, to the Illinois theater, Chicago, are well under way. Charles C. Stewart, general manager of the firm that staged this famous play, arrived here last Friday. The long Broadway run [638 performances] will end next Saturday night. The company will have a vacation of eight days before the Chicago première on Labor day. C. C.

New York Woman, 62 Years Old, Ends Polar Region Hunt

MOSCOW, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Hunting polar bear and reindeer, picking wild flowers in the arctic circle, and seeing a fellow voyager saved after falling through the ice were some of the experiences of Mrs. Emma B. Dresser, 62 years old, of New York, who was one of the first tourists to venture into the polar regions.

They, with Mrs. Elizabeth Patecson, also of New York, and Gen. Umberto Nobile, Italian explorer, were the only tourists aboard.

Mrs. Dresser said she went on the trip "just for the fun of it and to see something I hadn't seen before."

"We found it extremely interesting and entirely comfortable," she said, "and we liked it immensely."

Asks Public Aid to Block Child Paralysis Here

Bundesen Wants Cafe Dishes Sterilized.

An appeal to the general public to help in enforcing the sterilization of dishes and utensils in public eating places was issued yesterday by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, commissioner of health, in an effort to prevent any possible epidemic of infantile paralysis, such as is raging in the east.

"Mouth secretions deposited upon utensils, which are almost immediately used by others, have been shown to be means of conveying infection," said Dr. Bundesen, "yet the common eating place as an avenue of disease spread has not as yet been given the attention by health authorities that it deserves.

"The season of high respiratory disease is now approaching. This group of infections, including colds, influenza, bronchitis and pneumonia, is well known to be spread by mouth secretions. Child paralysis, now prevalent in the east, is little understood, but according to recent studies gives some evidence of being transmitted by the intestinal route."

Strict enforcement of regulations aimed at mouth borne infections may result in a valuable experiment in preventing child paralysis, Dr. Bundesen said.

All citizens, he continued, are urged to inquire what methods for sterilizing utensils and dishes are used in restaurants and soda fountains they patronize. Boy Scout organizations will be enlisted in the campaign as well.

The regulations set by the department of health for sterilizing utensils allow a choice of the following three methods:

1. Machine washing at 170 degrees Fahrenheit, or dipping by means of a tray into a hot water rinse for one minute at that temperature.
2. Washing the utensils in a combined cleansing mixture and any approved chlorine disinfectant, followed by a clean water rinse.
3. Rinse the utensils after washing by immersing them in water containing any approved chlorine disinfectant.

Mayor Walker Hears New York's Song in Hungary

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Mayor James J. Walker of New York today heard the tune for which he had been listening ever since reaching Europe.

ILLINOIS PEACHES AT BARGAIN PRICES DURING THIS WEEK

With the harvesting of the third largest peach crop in the history of Illinois' orchards and with prices comparable to pre-war scales, Chicagoland today will begin participation in "Chicago Peach week," proclaimed recently by Mayor A. J. Cermak in an effort to help out the producers of the state.

City Greeter George Gaw officiated yesterday on behalf of Mayor Cermak at the municipal airport, when Miss Caroline Perrine arrived from Centralia, Ill., to present a basket of peaches to the mayor, in appreciation of his proclamation of this week as Peach week here. The gift came from the fruit growers of the state, and Miss Perrine was delegated because she is the third generation of a family of orchardists. Each peach in the mayoral basket was wrapped in a red, white and blue tissue and bore a photograph of Mayor Cermak.

Several means of conserving and preserving the crop of several thousand carloads of peaches have been suggested. Stores indicate they will make a feature of peach sales at low costs, food shops are planning to use peaches in their confections, drug stores and restaurants plan to serve peaches fresh and cooked and baked in devious manners, while housewives are being asked to can a bushel or more and see that as many as possible are eaten fresh.

Not only has the mayor proclaimed the week as a matter of household economy and loyalty to Illinois, but it has been pointed out that if the crop is harvested successfully, the growers will be able to wipe out the financial problem caused a year ago when frosts ruined the blossoms and tree fruit of southern counties.

Peaches will be cheap if purchased by the pound, but cheaper yet if bought by the bushel, points out W. H. Hall, fruit and vegetable reporter for the United States department of agriculture in its office at the South Water wholesale market.

Throughout this week, when the Illinois peach movement will be at its height, the price per bushel will likely range from $1 to $1.30, depending on quality and on the ability of storekeepers to buy in quantity. Almost all of the fruit has a 2 inch minimum and the entire crop is being graded for size and sold accordingly.

Wednesday and Thursday of last week, shippers loaded 362 and 356 cars, respectively, and these will be the peaches that retail stores will be handling today and tomorrow. Indications are that this week will be the peak of the movement to market, although there will be 300 carloads a day for several days.

Chicago's New Band to Make Debut Tonight

Concert in Grant Park Near Fountain.

Chicago's new concert band will make its debut tonight between the city's skyline and the lake. In the level stretch of park south of the waterfall of Buckingham fountain seventy musicians wil give Mozart and Wagner, Strauss and Tchaikowsky to all and any who may wish to hear.

The première appearance of the Chicago Concert band under the baton of Victor J. Grabel marks the addition of a symphony band to the musical events that already have lifted the city to its high place in the music world.

The band shell was built by the south park board after $25,000 of a desired $90,000 fund had been underwritten by civic leaders. Although of temporary construction, it gives the appearance of stone. A brilliant lighting effect has been arranged through a series of three arches of lights.

In addition to the concert numbers by the band there will be a soloist, Rosalinda Morini, coloratura soprano, who will sing arias from Mozart's two act opera, "Il Re Pastore," and "Je Suis Titania," from "Mignon." The Ollie Thomas Saxaphone sextet, which played in Roxy's theater, New York, will also be on the program.

The Chicago Concert Band association is a civic group, organized not for profit but for the pleasure of citizens of Chicago. All concerts are open to the public.

Indiana Legion Has Lively Time at Convention

Anderson, Ind., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Five thousand Indiana Legionnaires and three thousand Legion auxiliary women were here tonight, and more are expected tomorrow when the convention parade will take place. Twenty-five bands and drum corps participated in contests today. Legion chaplains preached in all churches. Golf tournament, rifle and pistol matches, a free barbecue, dinners, receptions and state music contests were also features. In street frolics the Legionnaires displaced city policemen as traffic officers.

Conferences today developed five candidates for commander of the Indiana department: Ralph Gates, Columbia City; J. E. White, South Bend; P. T. Haas, Fort Wayne; J. J. Patchell, Union City, and Joseph Zimmerman, Indianapolis.

In the auxiliary unit Mrs. Maude McConnell of Fowler, and Mrs. Blanche Mount of Tipton, were active today as candidates for state president.

Children Are Health Displays at Algonquin

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Had you walked unsuspecting into a certain screened porch at Camp Algonquin yesterday afternoon you would, on first thought, have been certain you had stumbled into a dress and gift shop. And even after Mrs. Astrid Save, the camp superintendent, had explained carefully it would have been hard to believe that the array of clothing and knicknacks was the handiwork of children from 8 to 14 years.

Yesterday was the annual exhibit day of the work of nearly a hundred small artists and craftsmen. Two months ago they came to camp—pale, undernourished sons and daughters of the tenements. Yesterday, their last Sunday in camp, a bevy of browned, healthy youngsters greeted the visitors who dropped in for a look at the exhibit.

In their spare time while not doing regular exercise, special dieting, resting, hiking, games and the rest of those things that make camp life worthwhile, they were busy with saw and hammer and paint brush, needle and thread and raffia.

They set to their task with a will, because in camp sewing and hammering and hunting tree leaves for collections are fun. And yesterday the results of this fun reposed on tables and on walls for all to see, and a group of shy youngsters watched with pride the visitors admiring their work.

There were embroidered guest towels and pot holders with gay stitching to take back to mother who has been toiling away all these weeks in a stuffy old tenement. There were little dresses for a baby brother or sister, and better yet paper dolls with every kind of outfit one could imagine. The girls had made dresses and underclothing for themselves—very carefully made with very careful stitches and seams turned just right.

The boys, not to be outdone had constructed sturdy stools, some with cane bottoms, towel racks, and had painted wall shelves for mother, too. And some of them had made toys for younger brothers and sisters. All the children had worked at raffia baskets and mats, and had made vases out of scraps of colored paper and shellac and old bottles.

"This is one of the best exhibits we have ever had," said Mrs. Save. "The children have taken a great deal of interest in their handiwork and their instructors as well. The cost of the materials was very little, and as you see, the children developed some really well made pieces."

On the wall of the same screened porch hung a chart, a document in which Mrs. Save took as much pride as the nutrition worker of the Elizabeth McCormick Memorial fund. The lines in different colors, representing the cottages occupied by different groups of the undernourished children, began at zero and went skyrocketing upward. And in case you don't know, those lines meant the average gains in weight in camp have all been on the upward curve, the highest average for a cottage being five and a half pounds a person.

A few days and camp days will be over for these children. Back to the city they will go, eyes bright, so full of life their parents will hardly know them. Into the schoolroom they will troupe in two weeks and what a surprise for their teachers!

Those brown children are just one of the evidences of the benefits of Camp Algonquin. The dollars Tribune readers have contributed have helped to provide the care that brought life to lack luster eyes and pounds to undernourished bodies.

The camp will keep open for mothers and children for two weeks vacations until the middle of September. The bill for supplying these vacation needs your aid. Can you help? Ten dollars sends a mother or child to camp for two weeks. Gifts should be directed to the cashier of The Tribune.

EATER OF TWINE, STRING, AND BEADS UNDERTAKES ORDEAL

No mere goat would do when scientists at the University of Chicago looked around for some one who would consent to dine each day on pellets of metal, glass beads, strands of knotted thread, and twine. So Frederick Hoelzel offered himself for the sake of the race, and experiments went forward by which physiologists hope some day to conquer the terrors and troubles of indigestion for the rest of the world. He's been at it now for more than a year.

About five grams of metal a day is mixed with the usual fare of a healthy person, since otherwise Hoelzel would be hard put to it to obtain any nourishment from his strange menu. By their very nature the solids he swallows preserve their identity in process of digestion, and no particle of the foreign substances have ever disappeared from the ken of the supervisors.

Queer statistics in profusion have thus been provided for the lore of the scientists. It has been proved that glass makes the fastest time through the digestive tract; that gold, which is heavy and more inert, sometimes requires as much as twenty-two days to complete the journey; that the normal length of time consumed in the "alimentary tour" is two days. And so forth.

All these enlightening facts are being massed in preparation for the solving of digestive problems and the treatment of such seizures. Hoelzel's contribution is considered invaluable in the study. He first offered himself for the experiments through having suffered with severe stomach aches while a high school student here, coming from Germany. Later he attended both the University of Illinois and the University of Chicago.

London Lights to Recall Birth of Electric Age

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Grimy old London, even slatternly in places, is to gaudy itself up in bright lights and color Sept. 1 for a month of brilliant municipal cosmetics.

The occasion is the opening of the tri-ennial international illumination congress, but several events following during next month, including the Michael Faraday centenary celebration, have resulted in a decision to keep the bright lights on. Experiments ... have been made with flood ... on the Big Ben tower of the ... buildings, on Westminster Abbey, and other famous old structures of the city.

The white stone of Buckingham palace will be flooded with light and before it Victoria's imposing monument, a great statue in marble flanked on four sides by bronze figures set on the rim of a fountain, will be lit with intense light. This view looking down the Mall from Trafalgar square will be framed by the stately Admiralty arch, which will be bathed in light by numerous batteries of lamps concealed in the masonry and on nearby buildings.

In Trafalgar square itself the thin spire which supports Nelson's statue will be converted into a shaft of light, and before the admiral's steadfast gaze Whitehall, the wide government street leading to Parliament square, will be changed into a white way lit by gas street lamps using an intensified supply of fuel. The government buildings, the foreign, home, dominion, and India offices will also be covered with light by batteries of flood lamps.

Big Ben will be ablaze, all of Parliament square will be lighted, and Westminster Abbey's old towers and buttresses will be brought into a new prominence, too.

The International Illumination congress on Sept. 1 and 2 will be followed by the Faraday centenary celebrations, Sept. 21 to 23. Faraday, famous chemist and "philosopher," as scientists of the time were called, discovered in 1831 that a magnet's current passed through a coil of wire could induce an electric current to flow through the coil.

Samuel Insull of Chicago will attend, as will Prof. W. A. Noyes of the University of Illinois and the American Chemical society, and Prof. W. G. Smeaton of the University of Michigan. Others to attend from the United States are C. G. Abbot of the Smithsonian institution; C. F. Burgess, American Electrotechnical committee; E. C. Crittenden, Illuminating Engineering society;

It's Much Easier to Prevent Than Cure Infections of Feet

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The advertising pages familiarise us with a complaint called "athletic foot." It isn't a complaint engendered through overactivity on the tennis or golf course, toe-wrestling, nor has it anything to do with tap-dance enthusiasm. Just to set you straight on what athletic foot is and how it may victimize you, let me quote from a current health periodical:

"Nearly all the foot infections which are now so prevalent throughout the country are caused by a fungus found on the floors of shower and dressing rooms at pools, bath houses and gymnasiums. This fungus is a species of mold, something like the mold that occasionally develops on bread or other food kept in hot, moist places. As the growth matures, it produces innumerable spores. These find ready lodgment on the feet, particularly where there is a break in the skin."

The Maryland state department of health advocates inspection of the feet of all bathers entering public pools in order to stop the spread of the foot infections commonly known as "athletic foot."

The disease appears in various forms. It may show around the base of the nail, or between the toes as a raw, open sore; as a red, itchy eczema on the tips of the toes and the neighboring portion of the feet; as warts on the soles or as a sodden scalded condition between the toes.

As a preventive measure, washing the feet after swimming with clean water and soap and careful drying is advocated. An antiseptic powder applied afterward is an additional safeguard. But if an infection develops, a hurry up call to the doctor or skin specialist is advised.

It's a crippling sort of disease, resulting in one case known to me of a woman having to discard her pretty shoes for homely ones several sizes larger than her usual wearing.

Active Employment May Ward Off Danger of Drinking Habits

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Dear Miss Blake: Among the problems of modern life—I recently came into contact with one in the family of a dear friend—people of good standing in moderate circumstances. They have a nice appearing daughter, who, some seven or eight years ago and while quite young, was swept off her feet and married a man some eleven or twelve years her senior—a man who is now known to be a brutal rounder and liquor addict.

"When evidences of his philandering came to her attention she had a problem she had not seen in her own home, and was at a loss to meet it. She was almost constantly surrounded by people of her husband's type, gin drinking women and men, some with daughters of marriageable age, women particularly who could and did 'drink her under the table'—so to speak.

"This environment at an age when habits grow on one rather perverted her views of life. Encouraged by the conduct of those about her, she became convinced that the only way to fight back when he wallowed in the mud was to wade into the mire moderately. However, she finally left the home, taking with her the one child of the union, a precocious, affectionate youngster 5 years old, whose future would certainly have been soon ruined in such a home.

"The young woman's parents in whose home she and the child are now domiciled are much exercised over the possible hold that liquor may have on her after the kind of life she and her husband have been living. She seems to have considerable desire for excitement, and there seems to be some possibility that she will only repeat her former experiences by a later union with another man of the same type, unless she adjusts her views and desires. Any comments, suggestions, or advice might not only help in her case, but in others of the same nature. W. D."

The only possible suggestion I could make under the circumstances would be that interested friends and relatives try to persuade the young wife and mother into some channel of activity that would absorb her time completely. Some business occupation undoubtedly would be the activity, where the girl might get a hold on herself through the discipline demanded therein; also, where she might gather a new set of values about life and people.

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Edward Small Moore has returned to the Gables, her place in Roslyn, L. I.

Miss Camilla Marvin is arriving Tuesday on the Olympic and will be with her mother, Mrs. Arba Bryant Marvin II., at 1185 Park avenue, before they go to their country home, Extown farm, New Canaan, Conn.

Mrs. James H. Snowden and her daughter, Miss Jeanne Meagher, have returned to the Seawane Golf club, Hewlett, L. I.

Mrs. J. R. Evans Roberts has returned from Saratoga Springs.

Mrs. Christopher Hope and Miss Cynthia Hope, who have been in London, are back for the polo matches in Long Island.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Use the Telephone.

"Dear Miss Blake: I have been trying to date a girl, but when I talk to her I am afraid to ask her out. "JOHN."

If you feel it would be easier to extend the invitation by telephone do so. The first time is the hardest.

Playing With Fire

By WILLIAM MAC LEOD RAINE

SYNOPSIS.

Lee Reynolds is the owner of a ranch which drought has almost ruined and starved out. School friends from the east come as paying guests. Lee quarrels with her foreman, Ranse Brennan, partly on account of a new hand named Smith she hired without his permission and partly because she rejects his love suit. Brennan is discharged. Dunc Daggett, an old ranch helper, recognizes Smith as Jack Hadley, whose father owned a nearby mine and was murdered by outlaws. Hadley tells Daggett he is searching for the murderer of his father.

INSTALLMENT VII.
SOUTHWARD BOUND.

Dunc tilted back his chair and stroked a lean gray jaw rough as a field of wheat stubbles. "Looks like it's neck meat or nothing, Miss Lee. Country dry as a cork leg. The desert ain't been as baked as this since the world was a hole in the ground. No use tellin' you that, though, after you've seen the bones of yore cows bleachin' in the sun. So you done got the Mexican ranch?"

"On a year's lease."

"Good. When do we drive?"

"Soon as we can round up. I'd like to start by Thursday." Lee turned to the other man in the room, a tall, thin young fellow with delicate shadows under his fine dark eyes. "I'm going to leave you in charge of the guest ranch, Hamilton. The season is nearly over. After next week nobody will be left but Mr. and Mrs. Ensworth. Kansas and Buck will take care of the stock. You won't have much to do. Just keep things going and answer the correspondence."

Hamilton was a "lunger," exiled from the east for his health. Already he knew that the fine dry air of the arid southwest was going to make a new man of him.

"I'll try to keep things up as you want them," he said.

"You'll go with me, Dunc. We'll have with us Smith, Rusty, Stumpy, Jim Yell, and Stan Ritter. That will make seven of us. Had I better pick up a couple more men in town?"

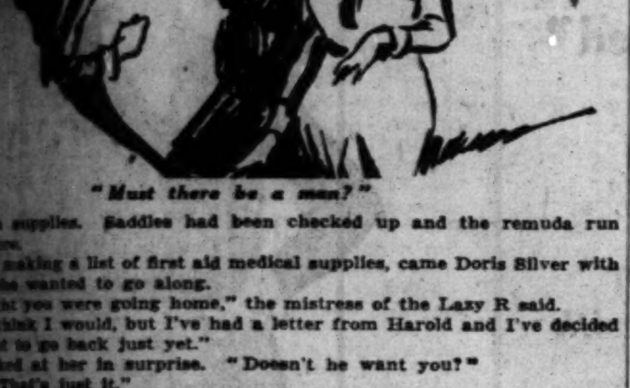

"I'd say we better have a couple more, or even three. We can use 'em on the roundup, too."

"All right. I'll get three. We start rounding up tomorrow. You'll be the boss, Dunc. I'll send Charley out to cook for you. Better ride circle round Cottonwood Buttes first."

Busy days at the Lazy R followed. Riders combed the shale ridges and the water-gutted arroyos, dust caked on their unshaven faces. They followed flying 2 year olds among the cholla and the bisnaga. The crew was up and fed before daybreak. In the gray light of predawn they swallowed hot coffee and sin biscuits and strips of steak that had been cooked in pots of lard.

Hard work, long hours, little rest, but always much laughter, and joking, and rough horseplay. And day by day the herd grew as each drive brought from gulch and arroyo more Lazy R cattle.

By Wednesday night the country had been combed and a chuck wagon loaded with supplies. Saddles had been checked up and the remuda run into a pasture.

"Must there be a man?"

To Lee, making a list of first aid medical supplies, came Doris Silver with the news that she wanted to go along.

"Thought you were going home," the mistress of the Lazy R said.

"I did think I would, but I've had a letter from Harold and I've decided I don't want to go back just yet."

Lee looked at her in surprise. "Doesn't he want you?"

"Yes. That's just it."

Which cryptic remark Lee understood without explanation. "Of course. If he didn't want you, a plane couldn't take you home too fast. You ought to be satisfied, Doris."

"I'm bored here, dear. I think it would be fun to go to this hacienda. You told me yourself it was a delightful place."

Lee covered her annoyance under a manner of explanatory patience. "Did I tell you that we are all going to be very busy, fifteen or sixteen hours a day in the saddle, swallowing dust and baking in the heat? Did I mention that we'll live on rough food and bed on the ground, with ants, and bugs, and scorpions to make the nights pleasant?"

"I wouldn't like that," Doris admitted. "But I could stay at the hacienda and drive out sometimes to see you in the car."

"We'd be too busy to spend time amusing you. Then you'd be bored stiff."

"No, I won't. I'll promise not to be any trouble."

Doris reflected that with seven or eight men in the party, no matter how busy they were, she would have plenty of attention. Also, the Costillos were bringing a cook and a maid at the ranch.

With the forthright directness of one used to this lady's vagaries and not fooled by them, Lee flung out a question. "Who is the man, Doris? Harold has gone and isn't within reach to be made a fool of. It can't be old Dunc or Stumpy. Or Jim Yell. Rusty doesn't seem to have a romantic manner. Is it this new man, Smith?"

Doris pouted. Even the pout was charming. The lovely lips had a little touch of humor that denied the petulance. "Must there be a man? Somehow I'd like to see them all transported. Men aren't the only thing in the world. I want to catch up with my reading."

"Yes, you do," derided Lee. "All right. I've warned you. Come if you like. I'm driving through the first day in the car. You may go with me if you like, though I can tell you I'll not be much of the time at the ranch for the first month."

Doris conjured visions of moonlight rides in the soft, languorous air of the south, knee to knee with a brownfaced man whose flashing smile suggested mastery rather than deference. Here was a foeman, she felt, worthy of her steel. His indifference, amounting almost to insolence, piqued her vanity and stimulated her interest. Doris longed for a chance to show him.

"You ought not to be down there with all those men, all alone except for a servant or two," Doris said smugly. "It will be better if I'm there."

"Flapjacks!" Lee scoffed. "Mme. Grundy has nothing to do with the business of the cattle business. But come down if you like and be the hostess, or if you prefer the Lovely Lady of the Hacienda. You'll do that to perfection, though I don't think there will be any Spanish dons to sing under your window and sing passionate love songs."

"Nor any bandits in sombreros and sashes to hold us for ransom?"

Doris denied this, nodding brightly. "We'll see. I've been to too many movies. I know."

And, as the sequel developed, her guess was a good deal closer to the truth than that of Lee.

For weeks the long line of gaunt cattle had moved south across the sand desert. Weakened though the herd was, Dunc had to make forced marches to distant water holes. More than one night he had been obliged to bed at a dry camp. Along the trail behind them were the skeletons, already picked bare by lobo and buzzard, of a score of Lazy R cows that had dropped.

The trail herd was in a bad way. Hip bones stood up like the revolver butts of a two-gun man. Ribs were furrowed like washboards. The black tongues of the plodding beasts hung out from dropping heads. Hunger gnawed at every stomach. The continuous bawling from swollen, thirst-tormented throats was piteous.

Lee rode along the straggling line, observing with anxious eyes. She put her horse to a lope and joined Dunc at the drag.

Daggett's high cackle was jubilant. "We're gonna make it, Miss Lee. Not a hundred miles now till we strike the Santa Cabrillo. Looky." His wrinkled hand pointed to the hillside rising from a distant valley. "The country's greening up."

"I was worried yesterday," Lee admitted. "I didn't think they had another day's travel in them. But you've prodded them along fine, Dunc. The leaders are smelling water already. They are stretching their necks and moving faster. Think I'll throw off and give the herd a day or two to rest and feed when we reach the river."

"Good. How far is the rancho from here?"

"Not more than forty miles. Plenty of water and good grass all the way down the river."

"I've got to wonderin' if there's any such things in the world." Daggett looked around in disgust. He saw a hard turquoise sky, a copper sun, a scorched plain where even the dust-covered greasewood looked shriveled and dead. "Seems like I been travelin' in a fry pan 'most all my life. Did you say honest-to-God grass, Miss Lee?"

"Filaree, Dunc, and grama." The young woman turned to Rusty. "What did those Mexicans want, the ones you were talking with this morning?"

"Nothing, I reckon, ma'am. Claimed they were hunting horses. I asked one of 'em about that rumor of a revolution brewing we saw in the Star. He grinned and shook his head."

"Probably he would know nothing about it even if it were true," Lee said.

"An' if he did, he wouldn't tell you," Daggett added. "A Greaser can be mighty dumb when he's a mind to. But, by jacks, I ain't worryin' about no revolution. They're always hatching one in this country, but it don't most generally break till mañana."

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Asks for High, Laced Shoes.

"I am a man, 58 years of age, and this is the first time I've ever had to ask for help. I have been out of work for some time on account of varicose veins in both legs, and as most of the trouble seems to be about the ankles the doctor advised me to wear high, laced shoes. I cannot buy them and wonder if you could get them for me through your column. I wear size 10½ C. J. L."

If you wear laced shoes, you can help to make this afflicted man more comfortable by giving him a pair of your discarded ones. He'd be grateful for them, and I'm sure he'd find the shoes an improvement over the ones he has been wearing.

More Weddings on the Calendar During Autumn

BY THALIA

THE list of fall weddings is much longer than usual this year. The altarward procession is beginning earlier in the season than it customarily does. Two of the most important and interesting weddings, Miss Emily Otis to Nathaniel Owings and Miss Bertha Palmer to Oakleigh Thorne Lewis, are to take place away from Chicago, but there are still almost a dozen to be solemnized here before Oct. 1. Miss Otis is to be married at the summer place of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Otis, at Harbor Springs, Mich., on Sept. 5, and Miss Palmer's wedding to Mr. Lewis is to take place at the Potter Palmer estate in Bar Harbor on Sept. 28.

Here's List of Weddings for Autumn Local Season.

The approaching weddings include those of Miss Frances Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Richardson to Walter Webb Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Warren Crawford of Galena, on the coming Saturday afternoon at the Trinity church in Wheaton, with a reception at the Richardsons' Wheaton estate following.

Miss Theodora Platt, daughter of Mrs. Henry Russell Platt of Evanston, to George V. Robrinsky, at St. Luke's Episcopal church in Evanston on Sept. 2, followed by a small reception at Mrs. Platt's residence.

Miss Barbara Jane Atwater, Mrs. Adeline Lobdell Atwater's daughter, to James Andrew Drain Jr., at the residence of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Preston in Lake Forest, on Sept. 5.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Johnston to Conway Howard Olmsted of New York City, on Saturday, Sept. 12, at the Episcopal church in Lake Forest, followed by a reception at the De Forest Hulburds' residence in Lake Forest.

Miss Helen Howell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howell, to John Barnes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Ludington Barnes, at the Howell residence, also on Sept. 12.

Miss Marianna Ruffner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Ruffner of Highland Park, to Harrison Tyler Todd, son of Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Henry D. Todd of Washington, D. C., at the Presbyterian church in Highland Park, on Sept. 24, with ensuing reception at the Ruffner residence.

Still More Wedding Plans; Arts Club; Auto Accident.

Miss Leslie Thorne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Thorne, plans to be married to Dewey L. Peirce of New York City at the Winnetka residence of her brother and sister-in-law, the Hallett Thornes, about the middle of September, and Miss Ghita Watson and Walter Field MacLallen will be wed about the same time at the Winnetka house Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wolf are occupying for the summer.

Mrs. John Alden Carpenter usually makes a trip here from her summer place at Charlotte, Vt., about this time of year to see about the furbishing up of the Arts club before its fall opening. She had planned to be here about now, but Mrs. Leitner, the club's guardian spirit, has had word that she won't be coming on until later. Meanwhile, cleaners and decorators are going to work this week to freshen up the clubrooms, although there's to be no redecorating this time.

One, two, three, four, five broken ribs has Betty Dixon, and if you ever had one even fractured, you know it isn't any fun. Betty's still in the hospital where she was taken immediately after the smashup she, her cousin, Roger White, and Walker Everett had a week ago, and will be for several days more. They were driving along Dearborn when the collision took place, and because Betty's little roadster is small and light, it tipped over in a hurry. The boys had cuts and bruises, but no bones broken. Mrs. Homer L. Dixon came down from Mackinac when she got word of the accident, and is still here.

Lake Geneva Guests, Others Here; Foreign Travels.

Week-end topics—The T. Philip Swifts were guests of the Henry Ishams at Lake Geneva. . . . Miss Anita Blair's guests at the Music Festival Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. John Elliott Jenkins, Dr. and Mrs. Edmund Wyllys Andrews, and their son, Wyllys. . . . Mrs. William J. Hutchins of Berea, Ky., mother of President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the University of Chicago, is visiting in Chicago, staying at the Hotel Windermere.

Overseas—Mrs. Emilius C. Dudley and her son-in-law and daughter, the Harry Blodgett Harveys, were in Paris recently. . . . Mrs. Jacob Baur and Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick left Château Garoupe at Cannes for a brief stay in Corsica. . . . The Charles C. Carpenters of Evanston arrived in Paris a while back from Vichy and were on their way to Berlin to join their son Bradford.

From the resort outposts—in the Berkshires. . . Mrs. Walter Franklyn Cobb, who arrived last week from Santa Barbara and is at the Lenox club, has sold The Gables in Lenox to Miss Anna Remsen Alexandre of New York City for about $30,000. The property, about 4 and a half acres, was owned by the late Thomas W. Strong of New York. . . Dr. and Mrs. Robert Metz have been entertaining Dr. and Mrs. Kurt Offendorff of Chicago at Fernbrook.

Bar Harbor—Miss Sarah Williams, daughter of the Nelson Williamses of New York, has been the house guest of her aunt, Miss Mildred McCormick.

Santa Barbara—The sociabilities and guests for the Barbara King-John Irving Shaw wedding seemed to dominate the week's social news. The Leroy W. Fullers were among the Chicagoans present . . . Miss Eleanor Dennehy was a member of a house party Miss Gertrude Chase had the first part of last week . . . The Garden club of Santa Barbara and Montecito met at Far Afield, the Hobart Chatfield-Taylor estate, and the members gave informal talks on citrus fruits and grapes . . . Mrs. Agnes Patten Wilder is to give a dinner dance next Wednesday in the garden of her residence in Sycamore Canyon road. The garden is a delightful enclosure that slopes down into a canyon.

MARRIED IN CALIFORNIA

MRS. JOHN IRVING SHAW.

Mrs. John Irving Shaw, who was Miss Barbara King before her marriage on Thursday afternoon in Montecito, Cal., is pictured in her wedding gown, with the rosepoint tunic and bridal cap of heirloom lace worn also by her sisters, Mrs. William H. Mitchell (Ginevra King) and Mrs. Clarence B. Mitchell (Marjorie King), at their weddings. She also carried the ivory bound prayer book that her mother, Mrs. Charles Garfield King, and her sisters carried when they were married. The service at the Church of All Saints by the Sea was followed by an al fresco reception on the terrace of the Kings' residence in Santa Barbara. Mr. Shaw is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Wilkinson Shaw of Winnetka.

Be a Friend, Not an Evening Ogre, to Your Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Long ago it was pointed out in this column what a great mistake mothers make who threaten their children with what will happen to them when daddy comes home. The subject will bear much repetition and was brought to my mind not long ago by this paragraph in a letter:

"Why do mothers in this day and age say to their little one, 'I'll tell your daddy when he gets home.' Why do they get a sense of satisfaction out of thinking their children are afraid of their fathers?"

Why? Well there are several reasons and I'm sorry to say none of them is very creditable.

It is first an acknowledgment of incompetence. Any one who uses the "father threat" is usually a failure in managing her child. She is usually too, a person who scolds and nags and is unpleasant with her children.

Another reason—and this will not sound nice to you but it's true—is that some women have a strange, annoyed, vindictive bully-like attitude toward their children. "I'll tell your father—he'll fix you," is said not with the intelligent hope that he will straighten out the offending youngster, but that he'll punish him severely so that the mother will feel avenged for the inconvenience caused her. I've seen this and I know whereof I speak.

The mother loses affection and respect. The father may gain an authority—but that's all.

If I were a father I'd refuse to be made the victim of my wife's stupidity or unkindness. Of very rare needs for a father's kindly coöperation, I'm not talking, of course, but of the complaints that are as much a part of homecoming as the evening meal. I would refuse to habitually take up the day's offenses like a judge—offenses which would probably not be fairly described by the mother. I would not be made into the evening ogre. What the children need is a friend.

For those parents who want to obtain their children's obedience without threats or punishment, the booklet, "How to Gain Obedience," may be helpful. It will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Horse Races Basis of Movie Offered to Sally's New Gang

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

If you are a movie fan and a lover of horses, I know you welcomed the news I had for you in yesterday's paper. Our next party, in the event that you missed the announcement, will be at the Oriental theater on Sept. 3, and the picture is one that should appeal to every boy and girl. It's "Sporting Blood," with Clark Gable, the young man in Hollywood who is accumulating fans at a terrific rate, and it's all about race horses and races and life in stables, and about one race horse in particular, whose name is Tommy Boy.

Exciting things happen to this equine star, not the least of which is winning a Kentucky Derby. We see actual shots of this famous race track, for much of the picture was filmed in the Blue Grass state, and it will be just as thrilling as if we were really present at a Derby. We'll see other famous horses, too, and breeding farms in Kentucky and the Lexington race track and many other scenes that the horse lover is bound to enjoy.

Doesn't it sound like a perfectly marvelous picture? From all reports it is, and I don't want you to miss it, if you think it's the type of show you'd particularly enjoy. As usual, I shall take 100 boys and girls to this party at the Oriental, and those who want to be invited should write and tell me about it. Guests will be selected from the letters they write, so you had better put into yours all the enthusiasm and punch that you actually feel for a Kentucky Derby. There are no limitations—every boy and girl in and around Chicago is an eligible guest, and the only rules are that your letter must reach me no later than next Thursday morning.

"Gin and Bitters" Author Arrives from Great Britain

New York, Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Mrs. Elinor Mordaunt, British author who wrote "Gin and Bitters" and several other books on travel and adventure, arrived today on the Rotterdam of the Holland America line with a report on matters literary in England.

"People are buying books in England," she said, "and the publishers are eager to get them. There is a great demand in England for popular books on science, also for the old classics like Dickens and Thackeray.

Autumn Brides Select New Veil Materials.

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — Tampering with the traditions of bridal attire keeps on in Paris. During this exciting summer there have been blue brides, pink brides, brides in muslin, and brides in silver gowns, all upsetting the classic lore as to what the marrying maid must wear.

Late this summer the brides have reversed the conventional theories about bridal veils. Think of all the years that brides have worn veils of tulle or lace! All right, then don't, if you're not interested in what the calendar of the past tells, but all present holders of bona fide engagement rings will be interested in the new veils that smart brides are wearing in Paris.

French dressmakers have decided that tulle or lace veils have been seen enough, and they have persuaded some of their most fashionable brides-to-be to be married under a film of chiffon or georgette instead. These materials lend themselves to different draperies than have been used heretofore.

Look at the veil at the top of the sketch. This georgette veil is arranged in a fashion more than a little monastic, and it's perfectly charming. There is a jeweled rose placed at the left side, which is the only ornament. This veil was worn by Mlle. de Subercaseaux, who was recently married at the Madeline church in Paris.

Divorce Policy to Stir Debate of Churchmen

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

When Episcopalians from the entire country meet for their 50th triennial general convention at Denver in September, the problem of divorce is expected to provide basis for much debate. At least that is the opinion of the Rev. Sumner Guerry of Charleston, S. C. He preached yesterday at St. Chrysostom's church, 1414 North Dearborn street.

The Rev. Mr. Guerry is the son of the late Bishop Guerry of South Carolina, long a leader in the Episcopal church who sought a more strict attitude toward divorce and who was responsible for the organization of the commission on divorce six years ago at the church convention meeting at New Orleans. The Very Rev. F. C. Grant, dean of Western Theological seminary, Evanston, is a member of that commission.

Bishop Herman Page of Michigan, formerly of St. Paul's church, Kenwood, is chairman of the commission that recently made public the report of six year's study. Its report urges creation of a church court, not entirely dissimilar from the Rota of the Roman Catholic church, to which divorced persons may appeal if they wish to remarry.

The Rev. Mr. Guerry, whose views of the problem coincides with his father's, declared yesterday the debate already has become the warmest the Episcopal church has had the past half century. The debate, he explained, had been carried on thus far by correspondence and in the columns of the various church papers. The Rev. Mr. Guerry pointed out South Carolina as the only state in the country in which all divorces are barred by constitutional provision.

The south, in general, he stated, is very conservative on the divorce question and he declared many southern churchmen, who will be represented at Denver, favor only one change in the present divorce canon of the church. That change, he said, would be to recognize no divorce and to prohibit a pastor from remarrying divorced persons for any cause whatever.

The present Episcopalian canon recognizes "scriptural grounds," or adultery. Clergymen are permitted to remarry the innocent party of a divorce suit who secured a civil separation on that ground, if the remarriage has been approved by the bishop. The Rev. Mr. Guerry pointed to the elimination of Episcopal recognition of all divorces as "being in line with Anglican tradition as it is expressed in England, Canada, South Africa, China and elsewhere." He stated the American Episcopal church is the only national branch of Anglicanism to recognize divorce on any grounds whatever.

When asked if the scriptural exception was not a good foundation for the position of the American Episcopal church, the Rev. Mr. Guerry replied that most biblical scholars now assert the scripture was tampered with long after the time of Christ, and the exceptive clause inserted at that time. The gospels of Mark and Luke, he explained, do not have the exceptive clause recorded in Matthew V., 32, when Christ spoke of his attitude on divorce.

It is now freely predicted that the proposals of the report of commission on divorce will be lost at the Denver convention. This prediction is based on the fact that many of the evangelical or "low" churchmen of the southern states will link up with the advanced or "high" churchmen of the central west and New England states to defeat the liberal or "broad" group who wrote the report.

Swanson Adds Tribute to Poland's Soldiers in Saving Republic

State's Attorney John A. Swanson yesterday joined with four war veterans of Polish descent in paying tribute to the valor of living and dead soldiers of that nationality, at a mass meeting at the Garrick theater.

The occasion was the eleventh anniversary of the saving of the Polish republic by Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, whose name mentioned by the speakers brought an ovation from the hundreds in the audience.

Under the auspices of the Polish National Alliance and the chairmanship of United States Collector of Customs Anthony Czarnecki, members of the various Polish organizations opened the program with the singing of the American and Polish national anthems.

Orations commemorating the services and the sacrifices of Polish soldiers of both the past and the present were given by Consul General Dr. Titus Zbyszewski, Prof. Thomas Siemieradski of Cleveland, and John Romaszkiewicz, president of the Polish National Alliance. Mr. Swanson spoke on behalf of the other nationalities of this country.

WEDDING

Food Talk.

Mrs. N. B. writes: "Have you a recipe, or can you refer me to an available book which gives a recipe for mango pie as it is made in southern Florida? I am talking about the fruit of mangifera indica, not sweet peppers."

Unfortunately, cook though I am, I am also a middle western product, and I am not familiar with this pie. In my distress, I am appealing to you for help, as I know there is some one—somewhere—who has a recipe for mango pie. If you have, please come to my rescue as well as to Mrs. N. B.'s.

I am, however, familiar with the mango which is grown in Florida. It was originally supposed to have its birth in tropical Asia, though now it is cultivated in nearly all the tropical and subtropical countries. It is eaten as a fresh fruit, and is the basis for the well known East Indian chutneys. Chutney, incidentally, was made first in India, a country which is still famous for some of the finest grades of pickles.

The commonest variety of mangoes, so I understand, is somewhat larger than a plum, and is noted for its juicy, aromatic, yellow flesh. If you attempt to eat one as you would a peach, I suggest a bath tub for the operation. Either that or dress yourself in a bathing suit and feast on this luscious mango near a nice big ocean.

Yes, it is a juicy bit of fruit. Many people consider it the king of "fruitdom."

But, perhaps, I am saying too much about our Florida product—and, again, perhaps not.

MEAT SOUFFLE.

2 tablespoons butter.
2 tablespoons flour.
½ teaspoon salt.
Dash of pepper.
1 pint of milk.
½ cup stale bread crumbs.
Little onion juice.
3 eggs.
1 pint cold chopped or minced meat.

Melt the butter in a saucepan; add the flour and gradually the milk. When it begins to boil stir in the bread crumbs and onion juice. Remove from fire; add the meat and well beaten egg yolks, then fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites and the salt. Bake in a buttered dish. Set in a pan of hot water in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for about twenty-five minutes. Serve immediately with tomato or mushroom sauce.

GINGER ALE PUNCH.

1 cup sugar. 2 lemons.
½ cup water. 2 pints ginger ale.
3 oranges. Ice.

Boil the sugar and water together for five minutes. Cool and add the fruit juices. Chill. Just before serving add the ginger ale and ice. Garnish with mint. Yield, 12 glasses.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—The chargé d'affaires of France, Pierre de la Blanchetai, gave a midday breakfast today in honor of M. Poirier, managing editor of the Paris newspaper Le Temps, and Mme. Poirier. Their guests included Jean Gachon, Washington and New York correspondent of the Havas News Agency, and Mme. Gachon; the Rev. Father Baisnee, director of the French institute in Washington; Maj. Thenault, air attaché of the French embassy, and Claude Achille Clarac, another attaché of the embassy.

The Attorney General and Mrs. Mitchell are in Newport for the week-end and have as their guest there the assistant secretary of the navy, Ernest Lee Jahncke. The Mitchells were week-end guests last week of the Solicitor General and Mrs. Thomas D. Thatcher in their summer home at Watch Hill, R. I.

The Assistant Secretary of the Treasury and Mrs. Arthur Ballantine and their four children went yesterday to Hot Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leiter do not expect to open their Washington home this coming winter, but will occupy a house in Lake Forest to be near their son and their nephew, Thomas Leiter and Colin Campbell, who are entering business careers in Chicago.

30 Day Meeting to Start Today.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The Lincoln Fields Jockey club opens its annual race meeting this afternoon at its track near Crete. The session will continue for 30 racing days.

With 1,600 horses available and most of the noted performers in the country eligible to its stakes, some of the best racing of the year in Chicago should develop. There are enough successes among the horses to sustain the interest of Chicagoans in the turf sport.

Some of the largest race crowds ever to assemble around Chicago have gathered at Lincoln Fields in other years and they no doubt will be as large as ever, at least on two occasions this year—for the running of the $25,000 added Lincoln handicap on Saturday and for the Labor day program on which Racing Secretary W. H. Bailey already is working.

Sprint Race Attractive.

There isn't a stake offering on today's program, but the $1,600 Olympia Fields purse has attracted a crack field of sprinters and the contest at six furlongs no doubt will be just as lively as any stake sprinting affair.

The O. L. Davidson entry of No Son and Cheers ruled as the overnight choice, although Flimsy, from C. V. Whitney's stable, Lady Capulet, Camp Prince, and My Dandy no doubt will furnish plenty of opposition. My Dandy has always been partial to the Lincoln Fields track and some of his greatest races have been run there. The noted old sprinter ran and won his first Chicago race at Lincoln Fields four years ago.

Two year olds come together in the opening day companion feature. This is known as the Will county purse and such fast steppers as Newgro, [illegible], Porter's [illegible], Zean, [illegible] and Mary Beach are in the field.

Hygro Changes Quarters.

Hygro, the sensational Nevada bred [illegible] 2 year old and winner of the Hawthorne juvenile handicap on Saturday, was transferred from Hawthorne to Lincoln Fields yesterday. It will be pointed for the Joliet stakes, a $15,000 Lincoln Fields juvenile fixture to be run later in the season.

Hygro will remain at Lincoln Fields throughout the season. He is not eligible to the Hopeful at Saratoga or the Futurity at Belmont, but will get his crack at the star eastern 2 year olds around Maryland in the fall.

Practically all the horses that raced at Hawthorne were transferred to Lincoln Fields yesterday. There they joined with a colony of some 400 other horses that ran at Latonia during the July meeting and which have been laid up since then. The job of picking winners is to be no easy one. But it never is.

Winn, Head in Charge.

Col. Matt Winn, president of the American Turf association, and C. Bruce Head, general manager, will direct the Lincoln Fields racing. Mr. Head also serves as a member of the board of stewards, the chief of which is Charles Price of Kentucky. Harry Hanley is to do the starting and the other officials are about the same that have been engaged at all the Chicago tracks this year.

There were hundreds of visitors at Lincoln Fields yesterday and they found the track in readiness for today's opening, which may attract a crowd of some 20,000.

One of the largest bands of newcomers at the Crete course is that of C. V. Whitney and trained by Mose Goldblatt. This is the western division of the famous Whitney stable and numbers more than 30 horses. They have enjoyed nearly a month's rest and Trainer Goldblatt says they are ready to give good accounts of themselves.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

THERE is no reason to doubt further Chicago's claim that it is the racing capital of America.

Col. Matt J. Winn, executive director of the Lincoln Fields Jockey club, which opens a 30 day meeting today, admits it.

MATT WINN.

Mr. Winn has been following the ponies around the country for the last 30 years and ought to know whereof he speaks. He predicted a year ago that the time was not far distant when Chicago, with only a few years of legalized racing behind it, would draw greater crowds than New York, Louisville, Baltimore, or New Orleans.

The speed with which Chicago has come to the front has surprised even Mr. Winn.

"Business has held up better in Chicago than anywhere else in the United States," he said. "The New York tracks are dead and Saratoga's meeting was disappointing. Most of the visitors to the latter track were from nearby tourist centers. They motored over in the morning and left after the races.

"Havre de Grace had a pretty fair spring meeting due mainly to a fine break in the weather. Betting at Churchill Downs was off 40 per cent and it was down almost as bad at Lexington.

"Hawthorne has just completed a splendid meeting. I have been told business was off only about 3 per cent. We were 12 per cent below 1930 figures at Washington Park, which was a remarkable showing when you consider that we had three rainy Saturdays."

Betting at Arlington, where the richest meeting in turf history was conducted during July, was about 22 per cent below last year, according to unofficial estimate.

Joe Matel of Muskegon, Mich., writes that Dr. David Jones, owner of the Cardinals, did not adhere rigidly to facts in his recent letter defending professional football which appeared in this column a few days ago. His letter:

"I can tell by Dr. Jones' article that he never has seen an Illinois team in competition or in practice. He seems to feel that professional football needs to be defended.

"Grange, regardless of what he says, was a fine tackler and blocker and so was Walquist. I have seen Illinois teams practice and the drill in tackling and blocking was carried out in minutest detail. Illinois is noted for its hard running and blocking. Professional football can teach Illini nothing new, for they have the

MRS. MOODY WINS 7TH U. S. TENNIS SINGLES CROWN

Forest Hills, L. I., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—The tennis champion without a crown assumed the royal purple again today to restore the women's national title to the United States and reestablish her invincibility after a year's absence from the championship.

In the final round of the 44th annual tournament here, before a gallery that was held down to 4,000 spectators by unfavorable weather, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody of California, defeated Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall of England, 6-4, 6-1, to capture the championship for the seventh time and complete her fourth year of competition without the loss of a set in singles.

Ties Molla Mallory.

Miss Betty Nuthall of England, whom Mrs. Whittingstall eliminated in the semi-finals was the 1930 winner.

Technically, with her triumph today, which gave her the first leg on the new cup put up last year, Mrs. Moody equaled the record held by Mrs. Molla Mallory of New York for the number of American singles championship victories. But Mrs. Mallory stands in the records as winning eight national tournaments, and although one of them, that of 1917, is listed as a patriotic tournament and not a championship, the field was of championship class and by special disposition Mrs. Moody must win the crown again to duplicate the achievement of Mrs. Mallory.

Tenseness Is Lacking.

The championship final failed to bring out the pulsating struggle that had been anticipated and within 35 minutes after Rufus Dawes had called "Play" from the umpire's chair, the match was over. As a matter of fact, Mrs. Moody's work had been accomplished once she had fought off the stirring challenge of Mrs. Whittingstall in the first set, a challenge that saw the slender British girl, trailing at 0-3, play magnificent tennis to win the next three games with the loss of only two points and stir the gallery to almost a frenzy of enthusiasm.

The final of the doubles will be played tomorrow afternoon. The contestants will be Miss Nuthall and Mrs. Whittingstall and Miss Jacobs and Miss Dorothy Round of England. As an added attraction Mrs. Moody will appear in an exhibition match, either in singles against Manuel Alonso of Spain, or in mixed doubles.

Von Porat Knocks Out Persson in First Round

Tales of Lottery Fortunes Destined for Scrap Heap

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 23.—The three large press associations have promised the United States post office department that they will distribute no more news matter regarding sweepstake lotteries, with special reference to the British lotteries conducted in connection with such big horse races as the Grand National and the Derby.

Thereby one of the most fascinating annual news stories is ruled out of print in the United States so that the citizens will not be unduly tempted to make suckers of themselves. No more will the reader be permitted to inflame his avarice with those charming accounts of the unemployed tinker, living on the English dole in Blackpool, who saved three shillings, bought a share in a sweepstake ticket and, after the race was run, discovered himself so rich that he would have to pay an income tax of $250,000 or so.

Lottery Stories Most Enthralling.

Of all the news stories of the year, these tales of the swift elevation of obscure working or loafing people from grubby poverty and the meanest sort of life to fantastic riches are the most enthralling, because not a person reads them but envies the tinker or barmaid or what-not and secretly applies such a stroke of luck to his own case. In the last few years, as the Irish Hospital sweep and some Canadian sweeps have grown, there has been noted an increase in the interest in this form of long shot gambling in the United States, and the only reason why the interest has not become a popular mania in this country is the fact that the national government, as in the present arrangement with the press associations, does what it can to prevent the agents with tickets for sale from advertising their goods.

Naturally, with the growth of the Irish Hospital and Canadian sweeps there have sprung up within the country a number of strictly phoney sweepstakes which do not pay off at all. There is also the one at Agua Caliente, which is conducted just outside the influence of the American postoffice department by a number of nice, wholesome boys. The nice, wholesome boys who run the Agua Caliente sweep distribute their tickets to a fairly thick depth over a large portion of the United States through very reputable local agents, such as handbook-keepers and bartenders in speakeasies. And, being so nice and wholesome, they never entertain the thought that their books, if any, should be subject to an impartial audit.

Reputations Only Guarantee.

Two years ago, after a brisk sales campaign, the boys announced that the capital prize in their sweep had been won by a poor but honest miner in Montana, the amount being $80,000. The thought may have been an injustice to the boys, but it struck me that $80,000 was not a very big capital prize in a lottery which had been promoted so vigorously and, moreover, that the poor but honest miner in Butte might possibly have been a friend of the management. I had no evidence, of course, but the circumstances created a great temptation to do wrong and even the nicest and most wholesome boys invite suspicion when they conduct a lottery of national scope with no other guarantee

ARGENTINE POLO FOUR BEATEN BY HURRICANES, 18-4

Port Washington, L. I., Aug. 23.—[Special.] — The anticipated close match today between the Hurlingham polo team of South America and the Anglo-American Hurricanes failed to materialize. In the first place, the Hurlingham ten goal star, Lewis Lacey, decided not to play and his place was taken by Five Goal John Benitz, who was strange to the back position. In the second place, the Hurricanes played a brand of polo that might well have stopped any team. Consequently they won, 18 to 4.

The result left the real strength of the South Americans still a question, but there can be little question regarding the Hurricanes' strength. They played today with Raymond Guest at back, Captain Charles Roark at No. 3, Winston Guest at No. 2, and Stephen Sanford at No. 1. They totaled 31 goals on handicap and played up to this rating.

BRIEF DRIZZLE'S ENOUGH TO STOP CUBS AND GIANTS

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, N. Y., Aug. 23.—For no reason other than that they figured the attendance might not be satisfactory, the Giant officials declared a moratorium today on the double header scheduled with the Cubs.

Rain not sufficiently heavy to lay the dust on the infield descended about 1:30 p. m. and the brief shower was accepted as a just cause for turning loose the news that there would be no action.

Meanwhile there were about 10,000 fans outside the gates and other thousands kept arriving and departing for almost an hour after the home club promulgated its laughable decision. Nobody could figure why the postponement was necessary, and a good many people remained right at the park, thinking they had been kidded for the moment and that eventually the gates would be thrown open for patronage.

More Trouble for Cubs.

The act of the New York club today adds another complication to the Cubs' immediate schedule, which was bad enough without any additional scheming. There will have to be a double header at the Polo grounds tomorrow. There will be another on Tuesday and a third on Wednesday. That in itself is quite a strenuous program, but to top it off, the Cubs must ride out of here Wednesday evening and be prepared to stagger through another bargain bill at Pittsburgh on Thursday.

Hornsby, in view of the eight games in four days, now has a new scheme about pitching selections. He is going to give all his pitchers a number and tomorrow start off with No. 1 and No. 2, who probably will be Bush and Smith. By Thursday the numbers of Ed Baecht, Johnny Welch and a few of the other bullpen habitues probably will be reached. Trainer Andy Lotshaw also wants a number.

What, No Mr. Adair?

William Wrigley, Cub owner, and William Veeck, the club president, are here, but Jimmy Adair is still listed as unaccounted for. He has been more than a week now trying to make a railroad journey of a few hours.

The latest rumor is that Adair will be here tomorrow and if he shows up he will be put at short. English will move to third.

The need of Adair, or anybody else capable of infielding and hitting, can be appreciated only by those who have suffered with the Cubs in the last couple of weeks. Jurges can field with the smoothness of a watch, but his bat isn't powerful. Blair seems to have completely forgotten just what bats are made for. That is why Hornsby gets desperate occasionally and tries to play himself.

53,000 Is Quite a Gathering—Pick Out the Magnet

The record outpouring of baseball fans—more than 53,000, of whom 50,911 paid to see the third place Yankees and the last place White Sox in a double header yesterday, gave the economists something about which to scratch their heads.

BABE RUTH.

Some may think that Babe Ruth brought out the bugs, but the Babe has seen only one crowd in Comiskey park [in 1927] that came close to tying yesterday's figure. And Babe was playing when times were good and folks optimistic.

There were some whisperings that the Cub fans were out to pay respects to Joe McCarthy. But Joe has been here twice before this year and never saw a crowd within thousands of yesterday's total.

Others pointed to the fact that the Sox, in playing to 100,000 in three days, have revived interest in their efforts with their fine showing against St. Louis and Washington and in winning nine games on their last eastern trip. But since that showing they have been licked three out of four by Boston and three out of four by Philadelphia.

The weather man got the vote of many as the fellow who did the most to get the crowd out, and this theory seems pretty sound.

The big gathering gave the lie to reports of Ruth's waning popularity. He was the big shot of the day and seemed as much of an idol as ever.

In the second game small boys ran out on the playing field for autographs every time Babe went to take his place in the outfield. Encroachment on the playing field is a violation of the rules, but the friendly umpires looked the other way and let the Babe do his handwriting while the crowd cheered.

JENNINGS WINS U. S. PUBLIC PARKS NET TITLE AGAIN

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 23.—(AP)—George J. Jennings Jr., Chicago, retained his singles and doubles titles in the national public parks tennis tournament here today.

He won the singles for the fourth consecutive year by defeating Dooley L. Mitchell, Washington, 6-4, 5-7, 6-1, 3-6, 11-9, then with Gordon Braudt, Chicago, captured the doubles title from Mitchell and Thomas Markey, Washington, 6-3, 6-4, 13-11.

Base Stealing Helps to Enliven Show.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The largest crowd that ever witnessed a ball game in Chicago, more than 53,000, yesterday saw the Yankees give the White Sox two severe thrashings, 10 to 4 and 9 to 1.

While it would have been happier, perhaps, if the Comiskeys had been able to show a modicum of class to so many baseball spenders, it is not probable that all of the assemblage went with the expectation of seeing the home boys triumph. There is no 1931 precedent to indicate a Sox victory over the Yankees at Comiskey park.

The record crowd brought the total of those who watched the Sox lose Friday, Saturday and yesterday to a figure in excess of 100,000, so it may be ventured that the lust to win was not concerned in the handsome turnout.

No. 36 for the Babe.

If the majority of spectators were out to see Babe Ruth knock a homer, they were rewarded, for Babe hit his No. 36 in the second inning of the first game.

If they paid to see Benny Chapman steal a base, they were more than repaid, for Benny stole his Nos. 47, 48, and 49.

If they came out to see Joe McCarthy stick out his chin or Coach Jimmy Burke's neck get redder, they were disappointed, for the Sox never were able to stir them to fighting postures.

Those who like to see the Yankees sock baseballs must have been glad they braved the terrific jam, for the Yanks' assortment during the afternoon included homers by Ruth, Lazzeri, and Chapman, triples by Gehrig and Dickey, two doubles by Ruth, and one each by Sewell and Lazzeri.

Plenty of Base Stealing.

All this hitting would have meant a lot of running in itself, but you can multiply the activity by the fact that Sox pitchers in the first game walked ten and in the second game walked four. And there was more base stealing than you'll see in most any afternoon, there having been eight thefts by the Yanks and three by the Sox.

Faber started the first game and lasted only long enough to have the Sox run the string of consecutive innings in which they have failed to score behind Red to a rousing total of 32. Moore and Bowler tried their hands after Red went away in the seven run second inning, after which the inevitable Pat Caraway came in to pitch the last five innings and did a mighty nice job.

Sox Waste Their Hits.

An unusual numerical feature of the first game was that the Sox, though beaten 10 to 4, had the same number of hits and errors as the Yanks. There was no such basis of comparison in the second game. The Yanks had fourteen hits and the Sox had only two, one a scratch up till Wells eased up in the eighth and ninth, to allow the Sox a total of five smacks for the game.

The teams will continue their series with a single game this afternoon. Pennock and Thomas, who started the historic 14 to 13 Sox victory in which the Chicagoans scored 11 runs in the eighth inning, will seek to do better than either did in that riot in New York.

FIRST GAME

If the Sox could have thrown out the miserable second inning of the first game it would have been an in-

GRIFFITH FIGHTS O'KELLY TONIGHT AT WHITE CITY

Tuffy Gets Test Against Irish Champion.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Con O'Kelly, a stocky, rotund Irishman, who resembles nothing so much as Mique Malloy, who is promoting the bout, will meet Tuffy Griffith tonight at White City in a scheduled ten rounds. Needless to add, Griffith, barring the unexpected, should win as he pleases.

TUFFY GRIFFITH.

With all regard for the training activities of O'Kelly, who is reported, as usual with all boxers, to be in fine condition and just rarin' to get at Mr. Griffith, Tuffy probably will outbox him easily. Tuffy has not been noted for knocking out his opponents in recent years. While he spanked young Paul Pantaleo in the same ring several weeks ago with every conceivable punch, he could not keep the lad on the floor when he had him down.

Tuffy Has Advantage.

Neither is it logical to believe O'Kelly will be knocked out, but it certainly is a reasonable prediction that unless O'Kelly knocks out Griffith, he will not win. The Irishman is the kind of an opponent Griffith likes—squart, slow, and with a short reach. Tuffy has all the advantages.

White City bouts have been the most successful of the city's outdoor shows this summer. And that success is based on Malloy's belief that the fans will pay to see a show despite forehand knowledge of the probable outcome.

In O'Kelly's record, which is a matter of personal recollection, are said to be victories over Al Friedman, Jack Gagnon and Ernie Schaaf. These are remote. Nearly every fighter, including Middleweight Mickey Walker, has knocked out Gagnon. King Levinsky owns a triumph over O'Kelly if further proof of Tuffy's impending victory is needed.

Preliminaries Offer Action.

The supporting card offers action by boys of local reputations. Joe Corbett and Charley Young, of Cicero, are scheduled for the six round semiwindup. Jackie Williams and Nick Taft will box over the same route. Taft boasts of a wallop which he hopes will cut short the bout.

Chief Elkhart and Bill Baker, conqueror of Jud Judkins last week, are matched for four rounds. The other bouts are Young Stuhley versus Bobby Hynds and Irish Steve O'Malley against Jackie Davis. Stuhley and Hynds are welterweights, while O'Malley and Davis are lightweights.

A.A.U. Boxers End Training for Tourney

One hundred and sixty-five boxers have completed training for the annual Central A. A. U. outdoor championships which start tomorrow night at Northwest stadium, Irving Park boulevard and Milwaukee avenue.

Fifteen clubs will compete for team honors. The winner will receive the Charles V. Barret trophy. Howard's gymnasium, Golden Gloves winner, is the team favored.

Avery Brundage, president of the National A. A. U., and Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission, will be honorary referees. Active referees are John Behr, Tom Gilmore and Dave Barry.

Wruck Brothers First and Second in Forester Golf

George Wruck scored a 75 yesterday to win first prize in the annual golf tournament of the Catholic Order of Foresters at St. Andrews. Taking second prize was his brother, Art, who had a 79. B. Fleming and George Wallock tied for the blind bogey prize with 83.

Washbish Wins Junior A. of C. Golf Tourney

Les Washbish shot a 76 to win first low gross in the annual tournament of the Junior Association of Commerce yesterday at the Indianwood Country club. Other winners were George Sairburn, Don Evans and Les Banks.

SMITTY—ALL FOR ONE

Women Start Play Today for Western Title

The front rank of the middle western and western woman golfers, with a sprinkling from the south and east, will open the quest for the women's western title today over the Exmoor Country club course.

The field, which will go 18 holes today seeking places in the championship match play group, will be headed by Mrs. George W. Tyson of Kansas City, the defending champion, who will meet the attacks of four former title-holders.

Strong Field Gathers.

Her most serious rivals are Virginia Van Wie of Chicago, Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City, who won the title in 1929 and lost to Mrs. Tyson, who defeated Dorothy Page of Madison, Wis., in the final last year; Bernice Wall, Oshkosh, Wis.; Mrs. Leona Pressler of Los Angeles, the 1927 and 1928 champion; Mrs. Austin Pardue of Chicago, Mrs. S. L. Reinhardt of Chicago, Helen Lawson of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Charles Dennehy, the former Virginia Wilson of Chicago.

Mrs. Reinhardt, the former Elaine Rosenthal, won the championship in 1915 and 1918, and came back again in 1925 to win it for the third time. Mrs. Melvin Jones, Chicago, winner in 1926, also is expected to be a strong contender.

Low Thirty-two Qualify.

The low 32 scorers will start match play battles tomorrow. The final on Saturday will be decided over 36 holes.

The field includes more than 160 players, the first of whom will tee off at 8:30 a. m. Mrs. Tyson and Miss Lawson will be the first pair away.

Intruder Wins Women's Race to Hammond

Intruder, owned by the O'Rourke brothers and skippered by Mrs. Lavina Whalen, wife of Bill Whalen, who attends to the main sheets on the large sloop, led the fleet into Hammond beach yesterday in the Jackson Park Yacht club's annual Lady Skippers' race for the Commodore Dunlap trophy. Her corrected time was 1:38:20.

The Princess, with Mrs. Edward Jebrykowski at the helm, took second place, finishing 20 seconds behind the Intruder. Chaperone, property of former Commodore King, and skippered by Mrs. Harold Johnson, was third.

Chaperone took the lead as the boats left the Jackson park harbor, with the Princess closely behind. As the fleet neared the South Chicago lighthouse, Princess moved up ahead and the Intruder was second. Then with the last three mile leg of the approximate 10 mile course left, the Intruder went into the lead and maintained it to the finish.

Robert T. Benedict's large schooner, the Bagheera, which was sailed by his wife, Mrs. Sally Benedict, won the schooner and yawls event, covering the distance in 1:49:00. Fame, owned by Commodore Dunlap and F. W. Weston, and sailed by Eugenia Weston, was second and the Velma finished third. The finishers, together with the skippers and corrected times, follow:

SLOOPS.
Intruder, Lavina Whalen, 1:38.20.
Princess, Mrs. Edward Jebrykowski, 1:38.40.
Chaperone, Mrs. Harold Johnson, 1:41.50.
Edith Li, Mrs. Julia Williamson, 1:42.01.
Columbia, Annabelle Sweeney, 1:43.10.
Flight, Marjory Byrne, 1:59.48.
Audox, Bessie Hass, 2:04.47.

YAWLS AND SCHOONERS.
Bagheera, Sally Benedict, 1:49.00.
Fame, Eugenia Weston, 2:20.21.
Velma, Mrs. Harold Redmon, 2:21.38.
Beaver, Julia Heff, 2:21.52.

FORT SHERIDAN FOUR LOSES TO OAK BROOK, 11-8

Oak Brook's Flying Dutchmen defeated Fort Sheridan, 11 to 8, yesterday to win the Chicago 12 goal polo championship.

The Flying Dutchmen pulled an unexpected bit of strategy by converting Barney Balding, their scoring ace, into a defensive player, with the result that much of the hurried shooting by Fort Sheridan was caused by Balding's hard riding.

Capt. M. L. Stockton of the Flying Dutchmen and Major C. C. Smith, star of Fort Sheridan, divided the high scoring honors with five goals each.

Ending the first chukker with a 3 to 0 lead, the Flying Dutchmen never were headed or threatened except in the second period when Major Smith made two goals.

The second of the series of four Chicago tourneys, the Oak Brook Cup, will start tomorrow at Oak Brook.

Capt. Stockton...	No. 1...	Capt. C. B. Cole

129 Compete in District Golf Trials Today

Many Chicago amateur golfers who will compete in the national tournament starting at Beverly Aug. 31, will have an excellent opportunity to fit themselves with the opening of the Chicago District Golf association's annual amateur championship at Knollwood today.

A field of 129, one of the largest in the history of the meet, has been attracted and includes all of the better amateurs in the district. Jack Westland of Sunset Ridge, the defending champion, who won the medal in the qualifying round for the national meet, will face plenty of opposition in such stars as Ira Couch, Frank Justin, Alden Swift, Charley Becka, Art Sweet, Russell Martin, and George Dawson.

This year's event will inaugurate play for the Joseph G. Davis cup, contributed by clubs and member players as a perpetual trophy to be played for each year. The pairings for today's qualifying round follow:

8:35—Alex Peterson, Edgewater; W. W. Joyce, Exmoor; W. D. Washburn, Rolling Green.
8:50—R. C. Vilas, Glen View; Allen M. Loeb, Northmoor; A. L. Miller, Exmoor.
9:00—Ira Couch, Glen View; Burton Mudge, Knollwood; S. Lewis Reinhardt, Northmoor.
9:10—H. W. Bishop, Glen View; Alden B. Swift, Glen View; Jack Westland, Sunset Ridge.
9:20—Lee Thiltges, Calumet; H. J. McElroy, Olympia Fields; Frank A. Armstrong, Kildeer.
9:25—Earl Jager, Ridgemoor; Leslie Gordon, Indian Hill; George Henneberry, Glen View.
9:50—Russell Martin, Flossmoor; George Dawson, Glen Oak; Tom McInerney, Marquette Park.

HENNESSEY WINS RIVIERA SINGLES CHAMPIONSHIP

Charlevoix, Mich., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Two Hoosiers stood out in the sixth annual Michigan Riviera tennis championships here today, winning two titles outright and sharing in another.

The men's singles title went to John Hennessey of Indianapolis, who defeated Harris M. Coggeshall, Des Moines, Iowa, 7-5, 6-1, 6-0.

Miss Catherine Wolfe, also of Indianapolis, won the women's singles crown. She defeated Miss Lucy Haggerty, Chicago, the defending champion, 6-0, 6-4.

COOPER, SMITH TRIUMPH OVER BURKE, VON ELM

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Billy Burke and George Von Elm, finalists in the national open at Toledo last month, came to the Glen Oak Country club yesterday to engage Harry Cooper, the home club professional, and Horton Smith in an 18 hole best ball match. Harry and Horton proved too difficult for the national open champion and runner-up, however, and the latter went on their barn storming way losers by a 2 up margin.

The gallery which followed Burke and Von Elm when they played 72 extra holes for the open championship wasn't much larger than that which saw them lose yesterday. A crowd of 3,500 trekked about the Glen Oak course.

Both Burke and Von Elm drew generous applause, but most of the plaudits were for Cooper, who responded by shooting a medal score of 34—35—69, one stroke over the course record, held by George Dawson.

Burke gave the crowd a demonstration of championship caliber by sinking a 25 foot putt for a birdie on the first green, but that was the last and only time he and Von Elm enjoyed an advantage. Cooper squared the match at the fifth, where he scored a birdie from 10 feet, and gave himself and Smith the lead at the eighth.

Burke's medal score was a par 73, whi'- Von Elm had 75 and Smith, who found trouble in staying on the fairways, took 77. Burke, like Cooper, was out in 34, two under par, but took 39 coming home. The cards follow:

Favorites in U. S. Amateur Golf

DR. O. F. WILLING.

Dentists rank high among the professional men who find golf the most popular sport, but Dr. Willing is probably the only one in the country who has become a champion at it. He formerly practiced on the north side of Chicago, so that nothing would please him more than to repeat his performance at Pebble Beach in 1929, when he went to the final against Jimmy Johnston.

DR. O. F. WILLING.

Dr. Willing, who is 41 years old, hails from the Waverly Country club of Portland, Ore., and there is hardly a golf title in the Pacific northwest that he hasn't held at one time or another. He brought the American Walker cup team victory one year by a great finish. He was a member of the team in 1923, 1924, and 1930.

He was Oregon amateur champion in 1920, 1921, 1924, and 1929, won the Oregon open meet in 1928, the northwest amateur title in 1924 and 1928, and captured the northwest open in ...

In addition to going to the final match of the national battle in 1929, he reached the quarter finals of the big show in 1928.

Hines Defeats Bryan for North Carolina Net Crown

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Wilmer Hines of Columbia, S. C., won the North Carolina tennis championship here today, defeating Robert [Lefty] Bryan of Chattanooga, Tenn., 6-1, 6-4, 3-6, 6-1.

Favorites in U. S. Amateur Golf

DR. O. F. WILLING.

Dentists rank high among the professional men who find golf the most popular sport, but Dr. Willing is probably the only one in the country who has become a champion at it. He formerly practiced on the north side of Chicago, so that nothing would please him more than to repeat his performance at Pebble Beach in 1929, when he went to the final against Jimmy Johnston.

GROVE'S STRING ENDS AS MACKS, BROWNS DIVIDE

Coffman Blanks A's, 1-0; Hoyt Wins 2d, 10-0.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Robert Moses Grove will have to be content with being a joint holder of the American league record for consecutive pitching victories, for the present, at least, instead of owning the record outright.

LEFTY GROVE.

Already a joint holder of the record of 16 straight victories, established in 1912 by Smoky Joe Wood of the Boston Red Sox and tied the same year by Walter Johnson of the Washington Senators, Grove attempted to better it today at the expense of the St. Louis Browns, but ran up against a 3 hit pitching performance by Dick Coffman, who shut out the A's, 1 to 0, in the first game of a double header. The Athletics won the nightcap, 10 to 0, behind Waite Hoyt's airtight hurling.

SENATORS, 6; TIGERS, 5.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 23.—(AP)—With the score tied in the seventh Joe Cronin boosted the ball out of the park this afternoon to give the Washington Senators a 6 to 5 victory over the Tigers in the series opener. The circuit blow was one of two off Tommy Bridges in six and two-thirds innings of relief hurling.

Bridges succeeded Whitehill, who had been reached for two doubles, a triple, and four singles for five runs in two and a third innings. Bob Burke, who recently pitched a no hit game, was driven to the showers in the fifth in favor of Crowder. Score:

Cleveland, O., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Singles by Falk, Myatt, and Montague in the last of the ninth scored the winning run in Cleveland's 4 to 3 victory over Boston in the first of a three game series today.

Danny MacFayden and George Connally pitched the entire game and the former had the edge on hits until the sixth. Each was touched for nine. Webb's home run with one on in the third gave the Red Sox a lead which they held until Cleveland scored two runs in the sixth. Score: fundamentals before they arrive on the pro field.

"No wonder Mr. Yost said Grange did not block in the first Michigan game in which he participated. He was so busy running he did not have time to block.

A reader named Al, who professes to be a 100 per cent Cub fan, is willing to wager 10 to 1 that he can tell a White Sox fan with one hasty glance. His explanation:

"I have been reading all the letters in your column in regard to the White Sox and before I go any farther I want to make known that I am a 100 per cent Cub fan.

"I don't care what becomes of the Sox team. I only want to give my opinion of the fans. A lot of them come over to Wrigley field at noon on Sundays to see a real game when the Cubs are in town. They sit there until 3 p. m., talking about their great seventh place club which has been bouncing around last place for the last 11 years.

"I can pick out those Sox fans anywhere. You can tell by that strange look on their face. Another 10 to 1 shot is that you can't talk to one for five minutes that he won't tell you about his park and what a wonderful baseball palace it is. They have no team to talk about but they sure like to yelp about that wonderful park.

"Wonder if they ever sat in the bleachers where you can't see a score board, can't get a drink of water, and never catch a fly ball unless in that game Sept. 9 when the Cubs will drive some in there."

Californian Wins National Casting Title

Club Standing

Cleveland Casting club	30
San Francisco	27
Chicago Fly Casting club	18
Lincoln Park Casting club	10
Milwaukee Casting club	8

Jules P. Cuenin, representing the San Francisco, Cal., Casting club, won the all around championship as the annual tournament of the National Association of Scientific Angling clubs closed yesterday at Washington park. The title formerly was held by Otto Peters, Buffalo, N. Y.

The accuracy fly event record of 100 points, made by the late William Stanley and George Chapp, was tied by Eddie Braddon, Cleveland. Six tied with 99 for second place. However, Tony Accetta, also of Cleveland, won in the castoff.

Milwaukee Boy Beaten.

Behind Accetta were Louis Guerin and Jules P. Cuenin, San Francisco; Howard Chatt, Illinois Casting club; P. S. Ayers, St. Louis, and F. Kleinfeldt, Chicago. Frank Steele, Lincoln Park Casting club, and Judge E. E. Kavanaugh, Fort Dodge, Ia., tied for third with 98 points.

Edwin Sutter of the Chicago Fly Casting club captured the ⅝ ounce accuracy bait championship, defeating 17 year old Lloyd Crandall, Milwaukee, Wis., after two other contestants had tied them with 96 points. They were Charles Zeisler and Carl McCarthy, both of Chicago.

Edwards Heads Association.

Three scored 95 points to tie for third place. They were Eddie Braddon, J. R. McCall and C. Nordholm.

Batter, Hit Over Heart by Pitched Ball, Dies

Flanagan, Ill., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Ernest Doorn, 19 years old, died today a few minutes after he was hit over the heart by a pitched ball in a baseball game between Flanagan and El Paso, Ill. Doorn was struck while at bat by a ball pitched by George Adams, 20, of the El Paso team. He took a few steps toward first base, fell, and died soon after at a physician's office.

Slifer Post Wins State Legion's Rifle Shoot

Slifer post of Cook county won first place yesterday in the annual state rifle championship meet of the American Legion at Fort Sheridan with 1,127 points. H. A. Taylor post was second with 1,116 points and Harwood post was third with 1,104. Individual honors went to John W. Fehrmann of Elgin, C. E. Nordhus of Naval post taking second place.

Record Crowd Sees Yankees Win 2 Games

teresting contest, but somehow or other there is no provision for the deletion of sad spectacles.

There was no warning for the outbreak, for Faber had retired Combs, Sewell and Ruth easily in the opening inning. Gehrig got the massacre under way with a single to center and went to third on Chapman's single to right. Lary's grounder bobbed between Appling's heels, and Gehrig scored. Watwood's throw had Chapman caught off third, but Sullivan dropped the ball. Dickey followed with a double to right, scoring Chapman and Lary. Then Lazzeri knocked his homer into the left field stand, scoring Dickey ahead of him.

Ruffing Greets Moore.

Moore replaced Faber and Ruffing saluted him with a double. Ruffing went to third when Combs grounded out to Blue for the first out of the inning. Ruffing was caught snoozing off third, Tate to Sullivan. Then Sewell walked. The next order of production was Ruth's No. 36, a line drive into the right field stand, Sewell scoring ahead of the Babe. Moore walked Gehrig and Chapman and was yanked in favor of Bowler. Lary flied to Watwood.

The next scoring activity was in the fourth. Ruth walked and went to second while Gehrig was scratching an infield hit. Sullivan made a nice stop of Chapman's grounder to force Ruth at third. Lary singled to center, Gehrig scoring and Chapman stopping at second. Chapman and Lary staged a double steal to give Chapman his 47th of the season. Dickey sacrificed, Chapman scoring. Appling threw out Lazzeri.

Fothergill Stops For Chat.

The Sox made two runs in the fourth and would have had three except for the fact that Bob Fothergill and Manager Bush became a little fuzzy in the matter of Fothergill's base running. Kerr doubled with one down and stopped at third on Tate's single. Kerr scored when Pinch Batter Fothergill was safe on Lary's fumble. The runners advanced on Blue's out. Then Sullivan lined a single to deep center. Tate scored easily and Fothergill should have come in standing up. But he stopped at the coacher's box to discuss the location of the ball with Bush. After a while he started running again but was tagged some 15 feet from the plate.

Caraway yielded the last Yankee run in the fifth. A single, a base on balls, a sacrifice and a single produced it. The Sox had some innocent fun in the ninth. Grube batted for Caraway and doubled. He came home on Blue's third hit. Sullivan lined into a double play, but Reynolds, who had struck out three previous trips to the plate, tripled to right center, and scored on Fonseca's single. Watwood walked, and the bases were full when a fielder's choice play on Appling went awry. Jolley batted for Kerr and ended the game with a fly to Combs.

SECOND GAME

Mr. Ruth started trouble after two were out in the first inning of the second game. Babe singled to deep center. Watwood then made a heroic try for Gehrig's fly to the center field wall, but it dropped for a single, Ruth scoring. Chapman walked and stole his 48th base. Lary also walked, filling the bases. Dickey got a single back of second, scoring Gehrig, but Appling's relay to Sullivan caught Chapman off third.

The Yanks' second inning was soft for Frasier, for after Appling had thrown out Lazzeri, he fanned Rhodes and Combs. The Sox made a run in the second inning and had the bases full when the session ended. Watwood and Appling walked and moved up while Dickey was throwing out Kerr on a third strike. Watwood scored while Sewell was throwing out Grube and Appling went to third while Frasier was beating out an infield hit. Blue walked, filling the bases, and Wells relieved Rhodes. Sewell threw out Sullivan.

Yanks' Lead Grows.

The score became 4 to 1 in favor of the Yankees when the New Yorkers made two runs in the third. Sewell opened with a double and Ruth walked. Gehrig singled to center, scoring Sewell, Ruth stopping at second. Ruth worked a delayed steal. Then Chapman was hit by a pitched ball, filling the bases. Lary fanned and Dickey forced Ruth at the plate, Frasier to Grube. Lazzeri walked and Gehrig came home while Sullivan threw out Wells.

The Yanks made two runs in the fourth on Sewell's single, Ruth's double and Chapman's single. It was in this inning that Chapman executed base theft No. 49. A double by Lazzeri and a single by Combs in the fifth netted the Yanks their seventh run. In the seventh the Yanks made two more on Chapman's homer, Dickey's triple and Lazzeri's single. This was the end of Frasier.

Weight Beat Burning Blaze, Backers Say

Persons who backed Burning Blaze and Liberty Limited in the Hawthorne Juvenile handicap are not willing to admit that Hygro, which beat them both badly, is a better colt. Burning Blaze gave Hygro 17 pounds and Liberty Limited gave him 14 and both colts had some bad racing luck, while Hygro was far in front and out of trouble all the way.

Dick Carman, who trains Hygro for Jim Wingfield's Nevada Stock farm stable, says weight will not stop the big son of Epinard. He's worked under 128 pounds in time about as fast as he ran the Juvenile Saturday, Carman declares. The trainer of the western stable believes Hygro is one of the best of his age in the country, but won't say that he is a better colt than his full brother Siskin, which is also in Carman's care.

Jockey Earl Pool, who has been wired up two or three times during his career as a jockey, is at Lincoln Fields and is taking outside mounts.

Chief Johnson, the Indian jockey who rode in quarter-horse events in the west when Vice President Charles Curtis was counted as one of the best riders of the plains of Kansas and Oklahoma, is at Lincoln Fields putting the thoroughbreds through their morning trials.

Another aged horseman, H. T. Bachelor, agent for the Three D's stable, is at Lincoln Fields. Mr. Bachelor long ago passed the 80 line, but is still going strong. He raced a string of horses at old Washington Park when it opened in 1883.

Rome Respess, veteran Kentucky horseman whose great racer Dick Welles starred on the Chicago tracks 30 years ago, is at Lincoln Fields with a useful string. His 2 year olds Our Fancy and Grand Champion are right at the top of their division here.

Roscoe Goose, who has developed Eugene James and Gilbert Elston, start riders, is at Lincoln Fields with a big string. Elston, who rode his first winner at Churchill Downs last spring, is, according to Goose, going to develop into equally good a rider as James. Elston rode fifteen winners at Latonia during the recent meeting there and made it four in one day at Dade Park last week. He has a good seat and a remarkable pair of riding hands.

ROBINS WIN PAIR.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Two ninth inning rallies gave the Brooklyn Robins a double victory over the Pirates today by scores of 5 to 4 and increased Brooklyn's winning streak to six straight games.

Joe Shaute, whose Scranton friends presented him with a diamond ring between games, was the winner of the first contest. The Pirates went into the ninth with a one run lead, but Heinie Meine, who relieved French, walked Herman and Bissonette and then threw Finn's sacrifice far over Traynor's head, allowing both runners to score.

The Pirates came from far behind in the second game, drove Vance from the mound, and tied the score in the eighth. The Robins bunched two singles, which with a long fly and French's wild pitch allowed the winning run to cross the plate in the ninth. Scores:

Decatur Race Driver Killed at Lexington

The two great British sweepstakes, however, and several of the lesser British sweeps are conducted under conditions a little more reassuring, although Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, the prime minister, last spring denounced them as a vicious swindle and the boards of several London hospitals quickly rejected a proposal that they also go into the sweepstake business for revenue. When a single gambling enterprise, such as the Irish Hospital or the Calcutta sweep, grows so big that its turnover represents a serious disturbing factor in the internal commerce of a nation, it qualifies as big business of a sort and the stories of the sudden showering of wealth on poor people become the more enthralling because the prizes are so much greater.

Do Adults Need to Be Told?

It is doubtful that the U. S. post office department can entirely suppress the interest in the British lotteries by censoring the news, but the interest can be abated by this means. But if an adult people need to be told what is bad for them to read, possibly they should also be prevented from reading the race results and the track odds, as there is a much greater financial turnover in the course of a year on horse track gambling than on the few seasonal lotteries.

The clearing house figures have been turned to the uses of the promoters of a widespread gambling game, too, and then there are always the stock market reports, which have long been recognized as a gambling medium. The baseball scores have been put to the same immoral purpose and, altogether, if the post office department is determined to suppress the gambling instinct among the people for their own good by censoring their news, it will be necessary to rule out of the newspapers which use the mails much of the matter which is regarded as news harmless in itself.

Time to Forget Lotteries.

If the postoffice must censor the sweepstake, surely no harm could be done by permitting the names of the winners and the amounts of their winnings to be published. By the time these facts are available, together with the confused, amazed statements of the winners, the lottery is over until next year. The susceptible American who always resolves that, come next lottery time, he is certainly going to buy some tickets then has almost a year in which to forget all about it. And the odds are—if it is not forbidden to mention odds—they will have forgotten all about it by the time the next batch of those true fairy tales come over the cables from London.

The sucker instinct never can be permanently stifled, however, and the citizens will find new methods of making suckers of themselves as fast as a paternal postoffice department attacks the old ones. I will miss the stories of the old street sweeper who finds a ticket in the gutter and wins $500,000, actual cash; the elderly seamstress who risks a sixpence in a community ticket and wins $75,000. I wonder if the postoffice department can arrest a party for going to the files for a little secret, sinful pleasure reading over the old stories.

MILLS WIN, 10-9, OVER MONARCHS, THEN LOSE, 15-1

McCarthy's Single Wins Opener in Tenth.

John McCarthy's hit in the tenth inning gave the Mills a 10 to 9 victory over the Kansas City Monarchs of the Negro National league in the first game of a double header yesterday at Mills stadium, but two Mills pitchers failed to halt them in the second contest and the Negro champions won, 15 to 1.

McCarthy, in addition to providing the winning run in the first game, hit a home run with the bases full in the first inning. Beverly held the Mills to only six hits in the second game. Scores:

T. D. BEARD, AUTO TRADE OFFICIAL, KILLED IN CRASH

Car Turns Over at Curve in Highway.

Timothy D. Beard, 42 years old, executive secretary of the Chicago Automobile Trade association, was fatally hurt yesterday when his automobile overturned on a curve of a state highway near Holland, Mich. He died a few hours later in a hospital at Grand Haven. He was driving to Scottville, Mich., to visit his parents.

Mr. Beard was general manager of the National Used Car Reporter, Inc., with offices at 1315 South Michigan avenue, and was widely known among automobile dealers throughout the country.

Recently he had been living at the Medinah Athletic club. Michigan authorities communicated with Police Chief Richard H. Bailey of Maywood, Beard's former home, and asked him to find Mrs. Beard, who is believed to be staying with friends in Oak Park.

Highway Policeman Killed.

County Highway Policeman Robert McCarthy, 35 years old, 1922 North Washtenaw avenue, was killed almost instantly early this morning in Des Plaines when his motorcycle was run down by an automobile driven by Clarence Minnich, 22 years old, 1042 Woodlawn street, Des Plaines.

McCarthy and his partner, Philip Romano, were on their motorcycles going southeast in Rand road. At the intersection of Graceland street, Minnich, driving in the opposite direction, according to the police, made a quick left turn across Rand road to go into a filling station. His car struck McCarthy's motorcycle, hurling the policeman to the pavement. McCarthy died within a few minutes. Romano, who barely escaped being struck by Minnich's machine, took Minnich into custody.

Driver of Team Killed

Albert Mann, 63 years old, 1411 South Wabash avenue, was killed early yesterday when the horse drawn van he was driving was struck at 16?d street and Cicero avenue by an automobile driven by the Rev. T. E. Fitzpatrick, pastor of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church in Kankakee, who was directed to attend the inquest.

County highway police said that the lanterns on the rear of the van, owned by the John Gill company, 1411 South Wabash avenue, teaming contractors, were not lighted.

William Klippert, 25 years old, 829 Lee street, Des Plaines, died yesterday in the Des Plaines hospital of injuries suffered a few hours before when the automobile in which he was riding struck a parked car, which was unoccupied, at White and Oakton streets in the suburb. George Loeding, driver of the car in which Klippert was riding, was notified to appear at the inquest today.

Child Killed in Truck Crash.

Nick Nekolson, 5 years old, was killed and six other persons were injured in a collision last night between a truck and a passenger car in Larrabee street at Garfield avenue. Those hurt were his father, George Nekolson; his sister Bessie, 4 years old, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Carmaran, all of 913 Leland avenue; Andrea Malanus, 707 East 113th street, and Gust Weigman, 1303 Nelson street. They were taken to St. Joseph's hospital.

The Nekolsons, Caramans, and Malanus were riding in the truck when it collided with the car driven by Weigman. The truck overturned, pinning Nick beneath.

Matthew McDevitt, 40 years old, 5050 Sheridan road, an assistant manager of the Stevens hotel, was killed Saturday near Wausau, Wis., when the automobile in which he was riding left the road, rolled over three times, and burned, the hotel was informed yesterday. Philip Stoll, pastry chef at the hotel and a roommate of McDevitt, sustained internal injuries and a fractured skull.

The four Cook county deaths and 3 others increased the Cook county motor toll for the year to 730. The other victims:

Jeff Wade, 35 years old, 556 East 50th street. Died yesterday in the Provident hospital of injuries received on Saturday night when he was struck at 49th street and St. Lawrence avenue by an automobile driven by Mary Sheldon, 4347 Champlain avenue, also colored. She was held.

Unidentified man, about 55 years old. Fatally injured by an automobile driven by Albert Buchnell, 311 South Honore street, at Jackson boulevard and Throop street. West park police held Buchnell for the inquest today.

Unidentified man, about 58 years old. Died in the County hospital of injuries received on Saturday when he was struck at Ohio street and Ashland avenue by the automobile of Stanley Kenar, 710 Bickerdike street, who was held by the Racine avenue police.

Robert Stearns, 2 years old, was the only occupant of two automobiles to escape injury in a head-on crash yesterday on Higgins road south of Arlington Heights. Those injured were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stearns, 3315 Cuyler avenue; Edward J. Rothl, 4738 North Monticello avenue, and his wife, Josephine; C. Kardapee of Bensenville and Miss Anna Rosenberger and Miss Eunice Speltzer of Elgin.

FRENCH CHILDREN URGED TO DRINK WINE, END SLUMP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 23.—The French government has made the appreciation of wine a subject on the public school curriculum, Le Temps discloses tonight in a humorous but slightly indignant editorial.

A week or so ago Mario Roustan, minister of education, sent a circular letter to all school teachers, recalling the propaganda campaign being waged by the government to alleviate the wine crisis—like our wheat crisis, caused by overproduction—and suggesting that they lecture their pupils of all ages on the healthful qualities of French wines and at the same time warn them of the evils of drunkenness which, according to the circular, could best be avoided by developing an early taste for good wine, on the theory that any one who really appreciates good wine could not help abhorring whisky and other strong drink.

Besides direct exhortations, the teachers were advised to reorganize the whole classroom technique with the idea of making the pupils "wine conscious," and it was suggested that when giving writing exercises the teachers have the pupils write such verse as "Long live wine, that juice divine."

SAM ABRAMS, 60, DEPUTY PROBATE CLERK, IS DEAD

Sam Abrams, chief deputy clerk of the Probate court, a former member of the board of local improvements, died late Saturday night in his residence at 1316 South Albany avenue. He was 60 years old.

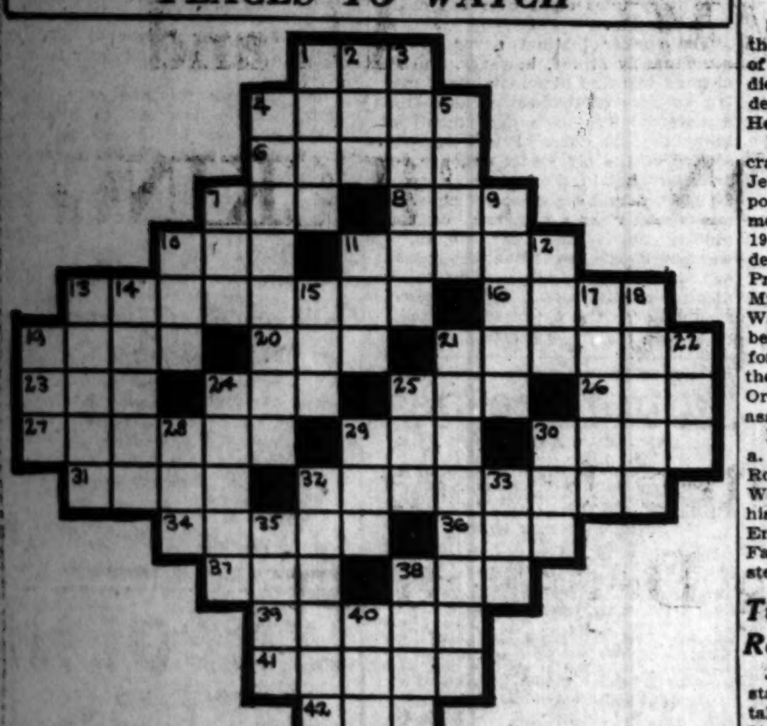

Mr. Abrams was active in Democratic politics and an official in many Jewish organizations. He was appointed to the board of local improvements by the late Mayor Dever in 1927. Later he was chosen as chief deputy clerk in the Probate court by Probate Court Clerk Mitchel C. Robin. Mr. Abrams was secretary of the 24th Ward Democratic organization; a member of the state senatorial committee for the 19th district, and president of the local group of the Independent Order of B'rith Abraham Cemetery association.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 3125 Roosevelt road. Burial will be in Waldheim. Surviving Mr. Abrams are his widow, Mary, and four children, Emanuel and Harry Abrams, and Mrs. Fannie Stone and Mrs. Sarah Sattenstein.

Two Youths Stabbed in Row Over Father's Business

John Prajda, 22 years old, was stabbed three times and probably fatally wounded, and his brother, Joseph, 21, both of 5339 South Lincoln street, was slashed on the arm in a fight early this morning with two men in front of 5153 South Lincoln street. They were taken to the German Deaconess hospital. The brothers told police that their assailants were the sons of a former business associate of their father in Milwaukee. The stabbing resulted from a quarrel over the dissolution of their father's partnership three years ago, they said.

SATURDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED

2 M'ERLANE AIDS ARE PARADED AT POLICE SHOWUP

Howard Nash, 6655 Lowe avenue, brother-in-law of Frank McErlane, gangster, and Edward Nealon, 7704 South Morgan street, another McErlane henchman, were paraded yesterday before spectators at the detective bureau showup.

Two companions, arrested with them Friday, escaped the showup. They were Milford Bradley, 6438 South Honore street, and Edward Rigg, 980 Cullerton street, members of Terry Druggan's beer gang. The four were arrested in front of the saloon at 74th and Peoria streets where Edward Fitzgerald, another McErlane gangster, was killed some months ago. Police found two revolvers in their automobile.

Shortly after their arrest Cy Murray, a handyman for Druggan, appeared at the detective bureau and began inquiries on behalf of Bradley and Rigg. They were booked and released on bonds Saturday, charged with carrying concealed weapons.

Nash and Nealon were booked on the same charge following the showup. All four will appear today in the South State street court.

BISHOP TELLS OF METHODIST WORK AMONG RUSSIANS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, Aug. 23.—Despite increased difficulties, several Methodist preachers are continuing their missionary work in Russia, according to Bishop Raymond Wade, who is in charge of Methodist missionary work in northern Europe, with headquarters in Stockholm.

Bishop Wade said that the Soviets had arrested a number of Methodist pastors who are being held "on suspicion," and that the remaining inmates of the old peoples' home at the Methodist headquarters in Leningrad had been deprived of their bread cards, thus making the question of supplying them with food very complicated. He said taxes on preachers had been increased.

The Bishop, who presided at the annual Baltic conference of the Methodist church at Tallin, Estonia, reported a 22 per cent increase in membership during the past year. He also told of successful efforts to save the property of the Methodist Church of Finland.

"HUMAN ROPE" BREAKS IN RIVER; 3 ARE DROWNED

Louisiana, Mo., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Three persons were drowned in the Mississippi river five miles about Louisiana today when a "human rope" which they had formed with others in an effort to save the 16 year old daughter of one of the victims broke.

The victims:

ROY MEYERS, 42, Hoopeston, Ill.

ELMER MEYERS, his 12 year old son.

The girl, Mr. Theobald's daughter, Marianna, was saved.

The victims and other members of a picnic party at the head of Boyd's island formed the "human rope" by holding hands when the girl went into deep water and called for aid. The minister, Meyers, and the Meyers boy were at the end of the "rope." They hurtled into deep water when the link was broken.

The bodies of the men were recovered. The river was being dragged tonight for the boy's body.

GIRL'S SCREAMS ROUT THIEF.

WAITER SOUGHT AS SUSPECT IN STRANGLING CASE

Lester Faust, waiter in a north side café, was revealed yesterday as the man being sought as a suspect in the murder of Mrs. Ann Patterson, 32 year old wife of an ex-convict, who was found strangled to death near Silver Lake, Wis., Thursday. Faust, who had been known to the police only as "Blackie," was named by his sister, Miss Rose Crafell, who is being held as a witness.

Mrs. Alma Leadbetter, 24 years old, 2009 West Jackson boulevard, and N. B. Nelson, 53 years old, 2323 Fulton street, companions of Mrs. Patterson and Faust the night of the murder, named him as the killer on their arrest Saturday through information supplied by Frank Patterson, husband of the slain woman. They were taken to Kenosha yesterday by District Attorney Morris Barnett charged with being accessories before and after the murder.

Detective squads made rounds of north side restaurants seeking Faust. The search proved fruitless. He is believed to have fled the city.

GRAIN SUPPLIES AT PEAK WHILE PRICES DECLINE

Speculative Marts Seen Deflated.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Speculative markets are considered in a deflated condition with prices the lowest in years, and supplies of grain, particularly wheat, are so much in excess of world's requirements that even the most sensational news fails to give traders more than a temporary lift.

This was demonstrated in Chicago's wheat market on Saturday when announcement of the exchange of 25,000,000 bu of wheat by the federal farm board for 1,050,000 bags of coffee with the Brazilian government was confirmed. A small rally in prices met increased selling pressure which carried prices lower.

Traders believe that ultimately the farm board will dispose of its wheat. It may sell China 15,000,000 to 25,000,000 bu or more, having instructions from President Hoover to sell all the wheat China will buy on credit. Traders have the impression that selling wheat on credit is better than holding it for an indefinite period, as carrying charges for 200,000,000 to 250,000,000 bu will eventually exceed the market value of the wheat.

Larger Export Demand.

With wheat around the 50c level, a moderate investment accumulation is under way, particularly in May delivery, and markets show a hardening tendency. The primary movement has fallen off and cash premiums are holding fairly. There is more export demand, but there is plenty of room for improvement, and the impression prevails that there is little to be made in selling wheat short at present price levels, also that there must be a greatly improved volume of buying to lift grain markets out of the rut.

Supplies are the largest known. Commercial stocks in the United States are 240,000,000 bu, as compared with 184,000,000 bu last year, an excess of [illegible] bu. World supplies are greatly in excess of last year. On the other hand, the foreign situation has improved. Latest reports from Russia are that crops have not turned out as large as expected, but that country is estimated to ship 100,000,000 to 125,000,000 bu this season, which is equal to, if not in excess of, last year.

Reduce Crop Estimates.

Canada's crop estimates are being steadily reduced and are estimated at [illegible] to 225,000,000 bu, compared with 374,000,000 bu last year, but Canada will have sufficient for domestic and export requirements. United States has the shortest spring wheat crop in years, although probably enough to supply all requirements.

One feature of speculative trade was the liberal selling of futures on every bulge, which is credited to the farm board. Hedging pressure has fallen off, indicating a reduced marketing movement from the southwest and middle west, although there are a few sections in western Kansas where farmers' offerings have increased.

Prices were highest on the opening and lowest at the finish, with the range less than 2c, and the close was at net losses of ⅝@1⅜c. September was under pressure at the last, dropping to 48⅝c and closed 48⅝@[illegible]. December finished at 52⅛@[illegible], March 55½c, and May 57½@57⅝c.

Spreading operations between the nearby and distant deliveries in Chicago and also between Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg furnished a large part of the business. Prices for the week follow:

Bank Urges Depositors to Spend Wisely

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 23.—Asserting that the "millions of savings and thrift depositors in this country have it in their power to change the whole aspect of industrial and trade conditions," the Emigrant Industrial Savings bank advocates, in a letter being sent to its 249,000 depositors, the employment of surplus savings in a "wise program of buying."

The Emigrant is one of the largest mutual savings institutions in the country with total deposits of $397,877,082 as of July 1. It in effect advises its depositors to withdraw for "judicious spending" whatever surplus they may have above a reserve for "all likely needs." This is the first suggestion of the kind to be made by any large savings bank.

Deluged with Money.

The action of the Emigrant is partly a reflection of uncommonly easy money conditions. Savings banks generally have been deluged with money, so much so in many cases that they are unable to employ the funds profitably. Interest rates have been lowered recently by a number of large savings institutions and the tendency is to discourage the piling up of funds in savings accounts.

In pointedly advising its depositors to take advantage of the low prices at which goods can be bought at present, the Emigrant has set an example which may be followed by other institutions. For some time bankers have felt that one of the most effective means of restoring prosperity would be to eliminate hoarding and the encouragement of normal expenditures, particularly of surplus money.

Cite Purchasing Power.

In a booklet which accompanies the statement being sent to Emigrant depositors the bank emphasizes the increased purchasing power of the dollar.

"It is most important," the bank says, "to save dollars when they will buy the least, so that when prices come down again your savings will show large profits in what they will buy for you. The woman, for example, who put $500 in this bank in September, 1928, when prices were high and everyone was spending freely, finds that these same $500 are actually worth to her today about $580—in addition to all the interest she has received on her deposits. In other words, she has a clear profit in buying power of 16 per cent in a little over two years."

SEES PROSPECTS AS BRIGHT FOR RADIO INDUSTRY

New York, Aug. 23. — Confidence that the radio industry will pick up and fulfill the prediction that the business would double its operations during the next five years is expressed by G. Clayton Irwin Jr., general manager of the eighth annual radio-electrical world's fair, to be held in New York the week of Sept. 21. Careful merchandising, newspaper advertising and judicious sales tactics are the weapons the manufacturers are going to use, a symposium of views given to Mr. Irwin indicated. Althought it was shown that in some states more than 50 per cent of families own radio sets, in others the percentage is still as low as 5 to 10 per cent.

Tobacco Sales in Georgia Recede in Volume, Price

Georgia tobacco growers sold 15,730,108 pounds of leaf on markets in the state last week for an average of 6.86 cents a pound and a total of $1,079,606, Marcus McWhorter, chief statistician of the state department of agriculture, announces.

These figures compared with a total of $1,405,929 pounds at an average of 9.68 cents for the third week of the season last year and 11,622,807 at an average of 7.56 cents for the previous week this year. Sales brought in $3,039,844.68 for the same period last year and $878,113.48 the previous week this year.

COMMON STOCK HOLDERS IN U. S. FIRMS GROWING

Number 35 Per Cent Higher Than in '29.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 23.—Thirty-five per cent more people now own stocks in leading American corporations than on Dec. 31, 1929, two months after the great market break of that year, it is revealed in an analysis made public here today.

An even greater increase appears for the holders of common shares, which have advanced 37.66 per cent, and in the number of holders of leading New York stock exchange common shares, which have risen 42.52 per cent.

These facts are derived from computations affecting the forty-three principal corporations listed on the New York stock exchange and fifteen principal New York curb exchange companies, a total of fifty-eight leading American corporations, including two Canadian companies.

Increase During Depression.

It is further indicated that the mounting number of stockholders has gone on throughout the depression inasmuch as there are now about 7 per cent more stockholders than at the end of 1930. Last year witnessed the bulk of the gains, however, stockholders of the companies review being 26.5 per cent greater at Dec. 31, 1930, than on Dec. 31, 1929.

An analysis of the data discloses the following principal facts:

In general, the gains have applied to common stocks, while the number of preferred stockholders has declined in many cases.

The increases have been due principally to the purchases of small investors, probably from savings, according to officials of many companies. Hence, the shrinkage in preferred stockholders may indicate additional purchases by institutions and wealthy individuals.

Although in several cases accompanied by increases in the number of shares outstanding, for instance, in the case of American Telephone and Telegraph company, it may be said that, as a rule, stocks have been removed from the market through round or odd lot purchases by investors of moderate means.

Decreases Market Menace.

This indicates also that common stocks have gone from temporary into permanent hands, indicating that distribution has been accomplished despite the depression. From the standpoint of the companies, this is considered desirable as creating a steady body of stockholders. From the market standpoint, it indicates a decreasing danger of large blocks being offered for sale at one time, thereby seriously affecting the technical position of stocks.

The data may be considered as conclusive evidence of an unimpaired morale in this country, inasmuch as most of the gains in stockholders represent additions to the number of American stockholders.

Give Comparisons.

The comparative figures in the stockholders of some of the outstanding companies figuring in the compilation follow.

URGES CONTROL OF OUTPUT OF BRITISH COTTON INDUSTRY

MANCHESTER, England, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The sugar and tin industries have pointed a moral for Great Britain's unhealthy cotton industry, in the opinion of the Federation of Master Cotton Spinners' association.

In a plan for reorganizing the industry the federation proposes to ration out the actual production, as the demand occurs among the 57,000,000 spindles according to definitely allotted quotas. These quotas would be fixed by a governing council.

Registered mill owners spinning more than their allotted amount would be required to pay fines of a shilling [24 cents] per 1,000 spindle hours run in excess. Owners spinning less than quota would be paid 7 pence [14 cents] per 1,000 spindle hours under quota.

The committee which proposed the plan found that "there is abundant evidence all over the world that producers are being compelled by economic considerations, if for no other reasons, to adopt measures, whether by means of legislation or otherwise, for the control of production and competition."

They cited the coal industry, the sugar pact, and the tin agreement, among others.

Expect $5,000,000 Issue by Interstate Power Co.

An issue of $5,000,000 Interstate Power company of Delaware first mortgage five per cent gold bonds, due 1957, is expected to be offered this week by a syndicate headed by the Chase-Harris-Forbes corporation. It is understood that of this offering only $1,000,000 represents new financing by the company, the proceeds of which will be used to reimburse the company in part for extensions and additions made to the properties of the system and for other corporate purposes.

WILLIAMS MADE ALTON GENERAL FREIGHT HEAD

The promotion of S. A. Williams, general freight agent of the Chicago and Alton railroad, to be freight traffic manager at Chicago was announced yesterday. He succeeds S. G. Lutz, who is retiring from his post of chief traffic officer.

Mr. Williams has been in the service of the railroad for seventeen years, having started out as commercial agent at Indianapolis in 1915. He was stationed at Peoria and St. Louis before coming to Chicago in 1924.

He will have charge of all freight traffic in his new position.

UNION TANK CAR SIX MONTHS' NET TOTALS $984,705

Net income of the Union Tank Car company for the first half of 1931 was $984,705, equivalent to 70 cents a share on 1,254,048 capital shares outstanding. Dividends totaling 80 cents a share, or $1,003,238, were paid and adjustments of surplus took $10,494, which resulted in surplus declining to $7,970,637, compared with $7,999,664 on Jan. 1, 1931. The balance sheet as of June 30 shows current assets of $13,946,821 and current liabilities of $432,823.

State and Municipal Offerings at Low Point

New York, Aug. 23.—New state and municipal financing scheduled this week comprises the offerings of 50 communities and will aggregate only $2,452,296, a new weekly low figure for the year to date, the bond buyer reports. The total brings the weekly average for the year to date down to $38,810,971. Delaware county, Pa., has called for bids Tuesday for $1,000,000; Milwaukee county, Wis., has asked for tenders on $1,220,000 hospital and court house obligations Wednesday, and the state of Maine will consider bids on the same day for $2,000,000 highway and bridge bonds.

U. S. to Sell $80,000,000 91 Day Treasury Bills

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Acting Secretary Ballantine announced today that the treasury would sell $80,000,000 in 91 day treasury bills to the highest bidder on Aug. 27. The bills will be dated Aug. 31 and will mature on Nov. 30, when they will be redeemed at face value. The money received from the sale of the bills will be used to retire $80,000,000 in 90 day bills which fall due on Aug. 31.

Railroad Issues Again Lead Bond Mart Decline

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The persistent decline in railway issues was the most significant development of the bond market last week.

The average price of ten leading issues declined successively to new low levels for the year or longer, and a large number of rail bonds closed the week at the lowest prices in years. The underlying causes of this movement are not hard to find. The unsatisfactory earnings of the railroads have been recognized for months.

The threat of this factor extends to the standing of rail issues as legal investments for savings banks, a consideration which tends to keep rail bonds steady or firm in prosperous times.

Lose Legal Standing.

As the margin of earnings over fixed charges decreases the time approaches when the bonds lose their legal investment standing and no longer are eligible for institutional buying. Consequently there is the prospect of an important market for these issues being lost.

Some of the current weakness may be ascribed to anticipation of this condition on the part of other holders, while some of the losses are ascribed to liquidation on the part of commercial banks. It is impossible to measure the exact influence of such factors but is easy to understand how they operate on the market trend.

Await Rate Decision.

Another consideration is the outcome of the carriers' petition for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates. The approval of the petition would at least encourage the hope of early increases in revenues, but recent hearings before the interstate commerce commission have indicated that powerful groups of shippers of the country are strongly opposed to increased rates.

Corporate bonds generally were lower, although the decline in the rest of the list was not so marked as in the rails. The average price of thirty leading bonds, composed of ten each of rail, public utility and industrial issues, reached a record low level for the movement, nevertheless. Poor corporate earnings have exerted and are still exerting their influence. In a word, they have made a selective bond market more selective. Ultra high grade loans are selling at or very near their record high prices.

Stocks of New York City Banks Decline Slightly

New York City bank stocks during the last week declined slightly, according to the dollar index figures compiled by Hoit, Rose & Troster. Based upon Aug. 21 prices, sixteen leading bank and trust company shares were quoted at 17.2 times known earnings, compared with 18.1 per cent Aug. 15. The yield now stands at 4.96 per cent, against 4.74 per cent a week ago.

PHILLIPS OIL SELLS INTEREST IN BIG PIPE LINE

Bartlesville, Okla., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Frank Phillips, president of the Phillips Petroleum corporation, has confirmed sale of that corporation's interest in the $100,000,000 natural gas pipe line from the Texas Panhandle to other joint owners of the project.

He did not reveal the stipulation, but said the sale was "to other members of the group on a very satisfactory basis, together with gas rights on a substantial amount of gas acreage in the Panhandle."

First gas reached Chicago Thursday and the pipe line was expected to be in regular operation early next week. Other owners are Cities Service, the Insull interests, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Texas company, Skelly Oil, Southwestern Development, and Columbia Carbon.

Perfect Circle Sales for July Reported in Gain

Sales of Perfect Circle piston rings for replacement purposes are reported to have registered a gain of 80 per cent in July over the like month of 1930, the largest gain made during any one month this year over a corresponding month of the previous year.

Pillsbury Flour Mills Earnings $3.60 a Share

Minneapolis, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Net earnings of $1,979,398 for the year ending June 30 were reported by Pillsbury Flour Mills, Inc., today. This equals $3.60 per share, compared with $4.05 for the previous year.

THREE CAUSES CONTRIBUTE TO FINANCE UNREST

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 23.—The obscurities in the existing financial situation, which account for the prevalent spirit of financial despondency, originate chiefly from three outstanding phenomena of the day—absence of any recovery in staple prices, excessive timidity on the part of home and international capital, and the still decreasing movement of goods from producer to consumer.

These developments interact constantly on one another; it is not easy to determine which is cause and which effect. That prices, with virtually all the stimulating influences of the war and immediate post-war influences removed, would probably before many years revert to the prewar average, was widely recognized two or three years ago; they are still no lower than in the autumn of 1915.

The suddenness and violence of the readjustment, however, since the panic of October, 1929, have imposed a strain which was certainly not mitigated by the extravagances in which, prior to that year's breakdown, users of credit had indulged.

A Trying Period.

In due course finance and industry will adjust themselves to the lower prices, as they have always done on similar previous occasions. But the immediate influence on private profits and public budgets has been trying; it has been the provoking cause for the nervousness and susceptibility to sudden fits of alarm which international capital has displayed. This is a factor still to be reckoned with; yet the situation has in that regard changed vastly for the better as compared with the state of things which seemed to exist in July and June. With all its remaining uncertainties, the German situation has visibly cleared up. The attitude of the world's great bankers and, in particular, our own people's unexpectedly unanimous approval of President Hoover's bold action of relief, give at least a cheerful prospect that the problems underlying the critical situation of two months ago, and some of which still remain will be taken courageously in hand.

The whole world now recognizes that the requisitions of the Young plan however, they might have been adapted to the industrial conditions

Announcing The New Remington

NOISELESS

Portable Typewriter!

LATEST PRODUCT OF REMINGTON RAND

TODAY, for the fourteenth time in typewriter history, Remington pioneers another radical improvement in typewriters . . . and now, it's the NOISELESS Portable Typewriter.

This new Remington NOISELESS Portable is a signal contribution to the individual's ease and convenience in writing. By eliminating the time and place limitations, that have always hampered the use of a personal typewriter in the home or traveling, it doubles the usefulness of a typewriter for everyone who has occasion to do much writing.

The astonishing success of Remington engineers in compressing the famous PRESSURE-PRINTING type-action of the big Remington Noiseless into this personal-size machine, not only makes it NOISELESS, but gives it a touch so natural, so inviting that you hate to stop writing. And built with a PRECISION rivaling a fine watch, it gives you a beauty of writing, a perfection of finish never before approached in a portable typewriter.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, Aug. 23.—Electrification of railways has required 500,000,000 pounds of copper, of which about 120,-000,000 pounds have been consumed by American railways, it is said in the August bulletin of the Copper and Brass Research association. The issue contains illustrated descriptions of railway electrifications throughout the world.

"Already there are roads in about forty countries, with a total track mileage of more than 21,000 electri-cally operated," says the bulletin, "and various new undertakings either are contemplated, authorized, or under way.

"In track mileage over which elec-tric operation has supplanted steam the United States leads all other coun-tries with 4,320 track miles electrified. However, less than 1 per cent of the total track mileage of American rail-roads has been electrified, whereas Switzerland, with 2,900 track miles op-erated electrically, is 62 per cent elec-trified.

"Trend towards additional electrifi-cation is practically worldwide. The world's most ambitious program, one which would triple the present elec-trified mileage of railroads, has been formulated in Great Britain by a com-mittee headed by Lord Weir of East-wood. The Weir scheme contemplates the electrification of 26,000 miles of British main track and 15,500 miles of minor size, at an estimated cost of $2,500,000,000.

"Even in the orient electrification is spreading rapidly. Japan now has 1,145 track miles of its railroads elec-trically operated. Definitely announced are plans for the next seven years will add 1,550 miles. Privately owned Japanese roads have additional plans for 400 track miles, to be completed within five years. The gov-ernment's program proposes the eventual electrification of 9,000 track miles of road."

BUSINESS LOOKS TOWARD AUTUMN WITH A WARY EYE

Curb on Oil Production Seen Encouraging.

New York, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Business has drifted close to the end of the vacation season with preparations for the autumn trade season going forward with a considerable degree of caution.

The lack of more tangible signs of the seasonal upswing has been deplored by some observers, although sudden changes infrequently appear at this season, and were not apparent a year ago at this time.

No such sanguine hopes of a sudden revival of prosperity as were held a year ago now stands in the way of dealing with the serious problems of the depression, such as unemployment and international debts. A considerable fog has, therefore, been lifted, and the dangers of blind, false starts largely removed.

Proves Encouraging.

The most encouraging development of the past week has been the spectacular stemming of the frenzied and immeasurably wasteful production of crude oil from the east Texas field. There has been a swift appreciation in crude oil values, inspiring both envy and hope in the hearts of other raw material producers who are letting their products go at prices well below costs.

It should be pointed out that a sudden recovery in commodity prices generally at the bottom of a period of depression would be contrary to historical precedent. The upturn in commodity prices has usually lagged several months behind revival in industry and trade. However, the fact that so many materials are now quoted below the costs of producing them makes the present situation unusual. The prospects of remedying the petroleum situation were enhanced by the fact that consumption has been maintained at around record levels, unlike copper, for instance.

Wheat Market Steady.

The wheat market has been steadied by reports of deterioration of the Canadian crop and unfavorable weather in Europe. News that the farm board had arranged to trade 25,000,000 bushels of its holdings, or roughly 10 per cent, for Brazilian coffee was received with mixed feelings. It appears that almost any disposition of farm board wheat will be regarded as filling a potential market and is therefore opposed in some quarters.

Cotton was under considerable pressure and again recorded new low levels for several years. The drastic decline in this commodity has had an unsettling influence on cotton textiles, but the wool market remained active, and woolen mills continue to operate at the best levels in some time. The shoemakers are also maintaining their high rate of activity, but the leather market has been adversely affected by price uncertainties arising from a decline in prices in Argentina.

Buyers Are Cautious.

Retail trade, as the summer wears to its close, is still dominated by clearance sales. Such fall showings of merchandise as have been made are reported as having attracted a fair degree of interest. Wholesalers still complain of spotty business and buyers' caution in laying in stocks.

The steel industry continues, as it has in recent weeks, to fluctuate between 30 and 32 per cent of capacity, coming back to the higher level this week. A little better inquiry from the automobile makers has appeared during the week, and heavy construction projects remain a sustaining factor. Rumors of discussions of wage reductions, however, have been interpreted in some quarters as indicating that only limited recovery is still held in check by seasonal influences.

The weekly freight car loadings figures disclosed the substantial decline of more than 20,000 cars, in contrast to a tendency to turn upward at this period in previous years. Electric power consumption still fails to make the encouraging showing of July. Output is now running about 6 per cent under last year.

BUSINESS PERSONALS

Frank E. Kistler, organizer of Producers and Refiners' corporation, and who subsequently sold control of Prairie Oil and Gas company, has been elected chairman of the Reiter Foster Oil corporation.

Investors' syndicate, with 51 branch offices throughout the United States and Canada, will open a Chicago office in the Board of Trade building tomorrow, in charge of Allen B. Planer. Max Lasser will be associated with Mr. Planer in the office here.

Announcement is made of the association of John W. Torrance and R. Douglas Roberts with the investment organization of the Chicago Stock exchange house of Haskell, Scott & Byrne. Mr. Torrance was formerly with John Burnham & Co., and Mr. Roberts with Mitchell, Hutchins & Co.

Richard W. C. Smale has been appointed middle western divisional sales manager of Independence Shares corporation, with headquarters in Chicago.

Edward P. Renier has become associated with George H. Burr & Co. in the trading department. He was connected with Babcock, Rushton & Co. for several years.

Otis & Co. have filed an application for a charter as an investment banking firm with the secretary of state of Delaware. Last April the company disposed of its commission brokerage business to E. A. Pierce & Co. The company is to have a capitalization of 6,000 shares. The partners are Cyrus S. Eaton, Selden E. Kline, and John N. Darrow.

James A. White and Emil Stake have acquired memberships on the Chicago mercantile exchange. Mr. White is a partner in Lamson Bros. and Mr. Stake is a vice president of the First National bank of Chicago.

Joel E. Ferris, president of Ferris & Hardgrove, Spokane investment bankers, has been elected president of Spokane and Eastern Trust company, Northwest Bancorporation affiliate. He succeeds R. L. Rutter, who becomes chairman of the board.

National Power and Light.

I would like to know about National Power and Light stock. Will you please give me some idea as to how this stock ranks?—W. D. B.

National Power and Light company is under the supervision of Electric Bond and Share company which is reported to hold 45.72 per cent of the common stock. The company supplies varied utility services to 1,000 communities in Pennsylvania, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Alabama and Texas. In 1929 74 per cent of gross was from the electrical division, 17 per cent from transportation, 7 per cent from gas and 2 per cent from miscellaneous sources.

Gross earnings for 1930 were $80,375,509, against $80,979,244 for 1929 and $79,259,372 for 1928. Results of operations of Lehigh Power Securities corporation, acquired in February, 1928, are included for the full 1928 year for comparative purposes.

For 1930 net income was $12,630,032, which was 7.53 times preferred dividend requirements and equal to $1.99 per common share. For 1929 net income was $13,557,090, which was 7.70 times preferred dividend requirements and equal to $2.17 per common share. For 1928 net income was $12,245,904 and for 1927 $10,250,411.

Net income for the twelve months ended March 31, 1931, was $11,623,323, or $1.81 per common share, against $13,906,946 or $2.23 per common share for the preceding twelve months. A press dispatch dated July 31, [illegible] stated that earning figures for the twelve months to June 30, 1931, will show a decrease from earnings reported for the twelve months to March 31, 1931.

Sales of electricity in 1931 to [illegible] 14, were 3 per cent ahead of sales for the like period of 1930. That this is not reflected in net earnings is attributed to the fact that the company had contracted to purchase additional electricity for the period in expectation of a normal increase in demand which failed to materialize. The surplus was handled as "dump" power.

At the close of 1930 there were outstanding 279,693 shares of no par [illegible] cumulative preferred and [illegible] shares of no par common. The common is on an annual $1 dividend basis.

The preferred is rather high grade. The common deserves a fairly good rating.

Associated Telephone Utilities.

Will you please furnish me with the investment rating of Associated Telephone Utilities company 6 per cent notes, due 1933?—Mrs. H. H.

Associated Telephone Utilities company 6 per cent secured notes, dated April 1, 1931, and due April 1, 1933, are a business man's investment.

Apples Are Chief Product of 30 Co-operative Groups

Apples were shown by the farm board to have formed 47 per cent of the 1929 business of $3,425,782 of 30 co-operative associations in 13 north-eastern states. Sales of the fruit accounted for $1,613,476 for 1,321 growers. Peach sales totaled $[illegible]; currants, $31,962; grapes, $[illegible]; cherries, $43,590; pears, $42,752, and strawberries, $3,336. Other farm products totaled $437,504, and equipment supplied to farmers amounted to $[illegible].

DAYS OF TRAMP STEAMERS SEEN AS ABOUT OVER

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The tramp steamer which used to nose its way into the strange ports of the world in the hope of finding cargo probably will soon join the sailing vessel in near extinction.

A calculation made in London shows that liners, both passenger and cargo, running on scheduled routes and times as contrasted with the tramp comprise about 70 per cent of the world's tonnage. Liners totaled but 36 per cent of the world's tonnage in 1913.

The change has been particularly noticeable in the port of London, where, outside the timber trade, there are now very few tramps as compared with pre-war days. Nearly everybody prefers to send goods in "parcels" of up to 10,000 tons or more on one of the regular line ships.

Canadian grain, for instance, used to cross the Atlantic and Pacific in tramp steamers. Now a large part comes across the oceans in fast cargo liners or in the holds of passenger ships. There are half a dozen regular lines on the north Pacific, formerly a tramp area, and even the River La Plata ports are now on the schedules of the liners.

Sea life in general has been changed considerably by the shift from tramp steamer to liner. The seaman no longer signs on for a voyage "not exceeding two years," but can tell his wife almost to the day when he will return. Jobs are steadier, for cargo liners stick to their schedule.

But with the passing of the tramp steamer passes some of the last vestiges of the pioneer spirit of the seamen of another day.

FORMER HEAD OF OIL FIRM FILES $2,057,000 SUIT

Manhattan, Kas., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Attorneys for A. W. Long, former president of the Long Oil company of Manhattan, Kas., late yesterday filed suit in the District court here asking $2,057,000 damages of the Prairie Oil and Gas company and L. R. Crawford, president of the Producers and Refiners Oil company and trustee for Prairie.

In his suit Long asks $57,000 actual damage and $2,000,000 exemplary damage of the defendants, charging they were parties in a conspiracy to obtain control of the Long Oil company, which was organized in 1917 and operates 68 gasoline filling stations between Clay Center, Kas., and Kansas City, Kas.

Long's petition alleged that Z. M. Brown, engineer for the Prairie company, T. C. Spencer, Prairie attorney, and W. D. Womer, president of the First National bank of Manhattan, Kas., acted in conspiracy with the defendants to fraudulently deprive Long of control of his company.

Long, the petition stated, upon the advice and insistence of Womer, last February turned over to the Prairie Oil and Gas company 1,300 shares of his company's common stock, in return receiving a contract from the latter firm retaining him as manager of the properties for two years at a salary of $500 per month. Long declared he was discharged last June and later discovered the contract they had made with him was not binding.

July Oil Production in California Shows Decline

Daily average oil production in California in July was 519,139 barrels, compared with 521,381 barrels in June, the American Petroleum institute reports. Stock figures covering all products held by the principal marketing companies at all points in the Pacific territory, including British Columbia, Alaska and Hawaii, at the end of July totaled 172,298,503 barrels, a decrease of 1,117,811 barrels during the month.

General Foods Corp. Finds Sales Gaining in Canada

Case sales of General Foods corporation package goods in Canada for the first half this year showed an increase of 8 per cent over the corresponding period of 1930, R. H. McIntosh, vice president of the company's subsidiary, said. He added that bulk sales of the company's products are 6 per cent ahead in the dominion.

MEN

is offered to 12 good men who possess a real willingness to work in a business for themselves where they can use their own initiative and be their own boss. The type of men we will employ for this work must be steady, reliable men of good appearance and character; be able to read and write the English language fluently; be between the age of 25 and 55 years.

We are a Branch of a large Middle Western Corp., rated in the millions, and we are enjoying a prosperous business at this time, which is a lot to boast of in these times—a great number of our men are making more money than they were ever able to make before in other lines of work; we have a great many men who came to us without any previous sales experience who are now making very fine wages, buying their own homes and giving their children college educations and putting money in the bank.

We will put you 12 men through a very expensive sales training course at our expense preparing you for this work—we also supply you with stock and equipment, and you don't have to make any investment or put up any money; we also send you out with an experienced man to help you get started earning money if you are really serious—willing to work hard, and will follow instructions. We will undertake to teach you this business so you, too, can enjoy a good job and real prosperity, as a great many of our men are now doing. You must have enough money to carry yourself for the first week while in training and learning the business. If you feel you can fill the above qualifications come in, see what we have and the men who are doing the job who have come here from all kinds of trades and professions and are making good. I will tell you frankly after our talk if I feel you can succeed or otherwise.

Can use only one or two men from each of the following towns: Gary, Michigan City, East Chicago, Whiting, Hammond, Valparaiso, Crown Point, La Porte, Kankakee, Lockport, Joliet, Blue Island, Harvey, St. Charles, Elgin, Aurora, Wheaton, Glen Ellyn, La Grange, Hinsdale, Woodstock, Oak Park, Evanston, Lake Forest, Highland Park, Glencoe, Winnetka, Wilmette, Des Plaines, Zion, and Waukegan, in addition to the 12 from Metropolitan Chicago.

Call from 9 to 12—1 to 5, 75 E. Wacker Drive, 10th Floor. ASK FOR MR. PLAMBECK.

An Attractive Opportunity. Three men of average intelligence, Good personality and neat appearance, who would appreciate an opportunity to learn the stock brokerage business. Household's rates are the lowest in Chicago

The nationally known Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $50 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.
